DONALD SOBS STORY OF MOONEY TRIAL "LIES"

...rciless Questioning by Court Keeps Witness in Tears as He Tangles Old Testimony

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. (Exclusive)—Picking his way falteringly through a hazy memory and a fusillade of disconcerting questions by Associate Justice Preston, John MacDonald, the waiter who spent fourteen years for his conscience to goad him into the confession of the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing outrage, wrestled desperately with words, thoughts and tears in his avowedly voluntary effort to show the Supreme Court and the Governor of California that Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were convicted on their own perjured testimony.

As the day MacDonald gathered up his tear-sodden handkerchief and sought rest for a renewal [illegible] He is scheduled to [illegible] his story tomorrow.

Hoover Appoints Study Group

Commission Will Develop New System of Compiling Unemployment Data

President Defends Custom of Selecting Boards, Citing Precedents

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—President Hoover today appointed a commission of labor, industrial and government representatives to revise the system of gathering statistics on unemployment.

The commission will be composed of representatives of the American Federation of Labor, United States Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers' Association, Industrial Conference Board, railway employees and other local organizations, National Bureau of Economic Research, Committee of Economic Changes, Director Steuart of the Bureau of Census and Commissioner Stewart of the Labor Department's statistics division. The latter two will be ex-officio members.

POLICY DEFENDED

The President paused in announcing the creation of the commission to defend the practice and promised he will name other such groups. The President presented statistics to show that the seventeen he had set up in as many months fell below the average named by the various Chief Executives since President Roosevelt took over the post.

President Harding with forty-four commissions for his twenty-nine months in the White House and President Taft with sixty-three for his forty-eight months ranked next in the number of commissions appointed. President Roosevelt created 107 commissions; President Coolidge, 118 and President Wilson, 160.

"As we need the best brains of the country to assist in government and in the co-ordination of public efforts," Mr. Hoover said, "I shall appoint others (commissions.) The willingness of our people of specialized knowledge to give such volun-

R-100 FLIES SERENELY

Huge Dirigible Over Atlantic

Engines Run Smoothly at Sixty Miles Per Hour on Hop to Canada

Good Visibility Reported to Britain, but Wind Shift Deviates Course

LONDON, July 29. (AP)—Great Britain's R-100, the largest dirigible, tonight was well out over the Atlantic Ocean on her way to Montreal, Can.

With her six Rolls-Royce engines smoothly turning out a speed of sixty miles per hour, she reported her position at midnight as 473 miles from the Irish coast.

Since leaving her mooring mast at Cardington at 3:45 a.m. the pride of Britain's dirigibles had described an arc over Northern Ireland. Quitting the English coast at Liverpool, she passed over the Isle of Man and through the Mull of Kintyre, the narrow channel separating Ulster and Scotland.

ALONG SHIP LANE

Thence flying over Rathlin Island, she circled above Malin Head, Ulster, and headed southwesterly along the general line of the ship lane from Glasgow to Quebec.

On board the airship, her messages said, passengers and crew had settled down to the normal routine of airship life, which they will pursue, barring accidents, until they arrive late Thursday or early Friday at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal.

"Nothing of interest to report," a late message said. "Everyone now settled down to normal routine, nebulous clouds 1800 feet and good visibility. Flying at 2100 feet."

BRITAIN INFORMED

Periodic broadcasts from her well-equipped wireless sets to the Air Ministry kept Great Britain informed of the first day's progress. She was constantly in communication with ships and picked up frequent weather reports.

As she headed toward the open sea, the winds facing her unexpectedly shifted and from having been favorable when she started became adverse. This change produced a deviation in her intended course. Instead of heading north from the Irish Sea to the Hebrides, the airship cut much closer to Northern Ulster.

ON GREAT CIRCLE

Meteorological data picked up from passing ships proved to be of great value in determining her course. In general, her route remains that of the great circle across the Atlantic. Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, her commander, probably will keep to his preferred course, heading to a point south of Cape Farewe, Greenland, then crossing Labrador and following the St. Lawrence River to Montreal.

However, the choice has been left entirely to his discretion and will depend on weather conditions.

Vivian Duncan Denies She Has Married Asther

LODI, July 29. (Exclusive)—Persistent reports of a secret marriage, with Vivian Duncan and Nils Asther as principals followed them into "seclusion" at the home of a cousin of Miss Duncan here today and prompted the "black-eyed" entertainer and actress to make a few statements through a screen door. One of them was that there had been no marriage.

There will be—in the future—but they have been engaged three years and there certainly is no hurry about rushing into nuptial clinches.

And another thing: It's positively a canard she will give up her career for the kitchen.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Ain't that too bad about Gertrude Ederle losing her hearing. She is a remarkable girl, and she can always rest assured that she was mainly responsible for this era of athletic wonders. Our women went in for athletics and our men for bridge. We can always depend on a Gertrude or a Helen Wills bringing home the first prize, but when our men compete it's got to be miniature golf or tree sitting, or we do nothing. Well Gertrude, bless your stout heart, you couldn't lose your hearing at a better time for, outside of Amos and Andy, there is certainly nothing to listen to. There hasn't been a new thing said since you swam the channel.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

GORE LEADS OKLAHOMA PRIMARIES

Blind ex-Senator and Oil Millionaire Near Tie; Pine Republican Choice

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30. (Wednesday) (AP)—Thomas P. Gore, sightless former Senator, who served his State in that capacity for thirteen years, and Charles J. Wrightsman, millionaire oil man from Tulsa, were separated by a small margin in the contest for the Democratic Senatorial nomination on returns compiled early today from Tuesday's Statewide primary.

When 1007 precincts out of 3338 in the State reported Gore had a lead of slightly more than 1100 votes. The vote was: Gore, 20,549; Wrightsman, 19,294. Henry S. Johnston, removed from office last year on grounds of incompetency, who made his race for Senator on an "exoneration" platform, was third with 16,639.

Lee Cruce, former Governor, had polled 10,762 and J. B. A. Robertson, another former Governor, 3683. There were four other candidates.

Returns from 1369 precincts for the Democratic nomination for Governor gave: Jess Pullen, 1072; M. E. Trapp, 16,457; W. H. Murray, 50,567; A. S. J. Shaw, 11,036; F. M. Bailey, 5688; E. B. Howard, 16,112; Frank Buttram, 27,587.

United States Senator Pine, as forecast, had a wide lead over all opponents for the Republican nomination.

LORDS GIVE SANCTION TO NAVAL PACT

Only Royal Signature Now Needed to Finish English Acceptance of Treaty

LONDON, July 29. (AP)—The London naval treaty passed through all its stages in the House of Lords this afternoon and tonight needs only the royal assent before becoming effective.

The bill has passed the House of Commons. It gives legal support to the pact entered into at the recent London naval conference. The royal signature will be affixed, it is said by officials, before Parliament adjourns this week.

Temblor Shakes Nicaragua Area

MANAGUA (Nicaragua) July 29. (AP)—A clearly perceptible earthquake lasting several seconds shook Nicaragua at 2 a.m. today. The shock was reported felt along the entire western slope.

Government reports said there was no loss of life or property damage.

Agua Caliente Spill Fatal

SAN DIEGO, July 29. (AP)—Jockey Robert Bertschy, 17-year-old rider from Twin Falls, Idaho, died tonight of injuries received in a spill at Agua Caliente race track this afternoon.

Florida's Fruit Fly Restriction to be Modified

ORLANDO (Fla.) July 29. (AP)—Florida today was promised a further modification of Mediterranean fruit fly regulations that will permit shipment of citrus fruits and vegetables from the peninsula to Northeastern and Middle Western States without sterilization.

Announcement of the proposed modification was made by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde following a conference at St. Augustine with Gov. Carlton and other officials.

Removal of the quarantine lines within the peninsula would place all of Florida lying east of the Ocklockonee River on the same basis. The quarantine line will continue to be maintained, however, along the northern boundary of the State.

Five Killed in Battle During Religious Fete

MADRID, July 29. (AP)—Five persons are reported to have been killed and twenty wounded today at Santiago De Castanedo in a free-for-all fight that broke out during celebration of a religious holiday.

Dispatches from the town, located in an isolated region, said the fighting began between groups of young men from rival towns.

A band of visitors made disparaging remarks to the residents. Hot words were exchanged. This led to fighting with revolvers, clubs and stones. About 100 shots were fired.

Hoover's Visit to Mexico Not Dated as Yet

MEXICO CITY, July 29. (AP)—Referring to reports that President Hoover is coming to Mexico on a visit, President Ortiz Rubio said today the American President had accepted an invitation which he himself had extended while visiting the United States, but that no date has been set for the trip.

"Safe and Sane" Flyer Killed

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) July 29. (AP) M. D. Smith, known through thirteen years of flying as "Safe and Sane" Smith, was killed here last night when an airplane in which he was a passenger, with a student at the controls, stalled and dived from a height of thirty feet.

The student flyer, Robert Shugart, 35 years of age, is in a serious condition with fractured legs.

Tiny Plane Sets Altitude Mark

OAKLAND, July 29. (Exclusive) Flying the smallest licensed airplane in the world, F. M. Johnston of Cincinnati set a new world's record of 14,600 feet for a plane of that type at Oakland Airport this afternoon provided the National Aeronautic Association approves the readings of his instruments.

The previous record was 13,253 feet.

FIFTEEN DIE WHEN BOAT TURNS OVER

Only Six of Lake Erie Dredge Crew Saved by Vessel Making Rescue

ERIE (Pa.) July 29. (AP)—Fifteen members of the crew of twenty-one of the George J. Whalen, a boat engaged in drawing sand from Lake Erie, were drowned today when the vessel turned over off Dunkirk, N. Y.

The other six members of the crew were rescued and brought here aboard the steamer Amasa Stone, bound here from Buffalo. They said their craft turned over in about 190 feet of water without warning and floated for half an hour. Some of the men clung to the wreck before it sank.

Capt. W. H. McNeil of the Amasa Stone said he heard the cries of several men in the water but was able to find and save only six.

Those believed to have perished with the vessel included Capt. T. J. Waage, Cleveland; Matt Enline, Cleveland; Carl Beechele, Sandusky, O.; Ralph Weiss, Sandusky; Ned De Mar, Bay City, Mich.; A. P. Longnecker, Huron, O.; Arthur Zeck, Sandusky; Thomas Pierce, Sandusky; Joseph Sialley, Sandusky; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Godfrey, Cleveland, cooks; Harry Brooks, Sandusky; Arthur Walters, Sandusky; William Muenelle, Sandusky.

The surviving crew members said the high waves were tossed up after the wind suddenly shifted and limestone on board absorbed water, causing the vessel to list. They testified there was ample time to get the lifeboats away after it became apparent the boat would tip over, but the captain did not issue the orders.

Endurance Air Teams Pass 200 Hours in Skies

ST. LOUIS, July 29. (AP)—Passing the 200-hour mark today, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine drove on in their monoplane Greater St. Louis in their projected thirty-day flight to regain the refueling flight record. At 6:11 p.m. they had been up 203 hours, near the end of their ninth day.

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) July 29. (AP)—The "Red" endurance plane, manned by Louis Reichers and Robert Black, ticked off its 217th hour in the air at 8:34 tonight and roared into its tenth day after riding out a severe electrical storm late in the afternoon.

Mexican Bond Funds Tied Up

TRENTON (N. J.) July 29. (AP)—An order restraining the international committee of bankers in Mexico, handling a $43,000,000 fund set aside by the Mexican government for the protection of its bondholders, from dispensing any of the money was filed in Federal Court today.

The order was followed by another requiring the committee to show cause on August 18, next, why it should not give an accounting of the fund's management. Both were signed by Judge William Runyon.

AMERICA WARNS CHINESE AS REDS SACK LARGE CITY

Communist Hordes Seize Changsha and Burn Foreign Property; Gunboat Fired On

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—The State Department announced tonight the Nanking government had been cautioned against the loss of American life or property in China, and that should such loss occur "the American government reserves all rights in the matter."

At the same time it was reported by official sources the U.S.S. Palos, which had been dispatched to remove Americans from Changsha, had departed from that place because it could not protect property in view of the "overwhelming number of Communists."

Two American male missionaries were left behind, it was said officially.

It was reported further that Father Braiman of the Italian mission was captured by bandits today when he made a last-minute effort to leave the city after previously refusing to depart.

The U.S.S. Palos was reported struck once by rifle fire. Women and children and others were transferred to the British ship Aphis for the sake of greater comfort.

REDS EASILY OVERCOME WEAKENED GARRISON

SHANGHAI, July 29. (AP)—Overrun by a Communist horde, the rich city of Changsha, capital of Hunan Province, was systematically sacked and burned today by the invaders while foreign warships removed their nationals to safety.

Striking the Nationalist garrison weakened by transfer of troops to the civil war fronts, the Communists easily overcame all opposition and poured into the walled city. An orgy of killing and pillaging followed, said foreign wireless reports from the stricken city, but not before foreigners sought refuge on warships lying in the Siang River on which Changsha is located.

MISSIONS BURNED

Dispatches said it was impossible to survey the city. A large portion lay in ruins, however, including many beautiful and valuable foreign mission properties. They were reduced to ashes after systematic looting.

Foreign properties on an island opposite Changsha in the Siang River, including the offices of the Standard Oil Company of New York, the Texas Company, the British Consulate, all were apparently destined to join the fate of the missions.

Standard Oil Company and Shell Company installations and tremendous stocks on the outskirts of the city had not yet been destroyed but they, too, apparently were doomed unless military opposition should interrupt the Reds' apparently prearranged program to obliterate all traces of foreign occupation.

REDS MAKE DEMAND

The Communists have demanded from city merchants and banks $1,000,000 Mexican (about $500,000) as the price to forbear complete destruction of the city, although large sections already have been burned to the ground.

The Reds announced they will burn all foreign properties first, then will proceed with destruction of Chinese properties unless their demand is satisfied before their present undertaking is completed.

Before foreign buildings are fired their contents are carried into the streets, where coolies and general street rabble are allowed to help themselves. The Communists are not molesting this class of people and information from general Chinese sources indicates there is no particular objection or resentment against the Reds except from the well-to-do classes. People of this class are being roughly handled and many executed in addition to being robbed.

INFORMATION LACKING

No information was available in Shanghai concerning movements of provincial forces which first were reported approaching Changsha from the north in an attempt to drive the Reds from the city.

Such action was considered unlike-

DRY CHIEFS POISE MOP

Hoover to Back Action Today

Enforcement Heads Confer with President on Eve of "Co-operation" Regime

Riot Act will be Read to All Enforcers on Observing Rights of Citizenry

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 29. (Exclusive)—Preparatory to launching their new prohibition enforcement program at tomorrow's gathering of regional administrators from all parts of the country, Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Youngquist and Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, the new prohibition director, had a long conference with President Hoover today.

They are ready to read the riot act to the administrators on the necessity for respecting all constitutional rights of citizens in their enforcement activities. Under no circumstances will overzealousness of dry agents be tolerated when it oversteps the bounds of constitutional guarantees. Unwarranted search and seizure and unjustified use of firearms by agents will be punished severely by disciplinary measures regardless of the court action in the case.

The administration, in reorganizing the prohibition service, is striving to bring about better co-operation on the part of the public in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act. It is felt that ultimate success of prohibition depends in large measure upon the extent to which the public responds to the government's plea for co-operation. In order to promote the "public co-operation" idea, the administration is going to make every effort to build up respect for the enforcement service. Much of the present unpopularity of the prohibition law and its enforcement, it is feared, is due to resentment against tactics of dry enforcing officers. Prompt suspension or dismissal of officers who exceed their authority will follow in the future.

Col. Woodcock, in fact, already has given evidence of his determination to act swiftly on complaints against the enforcing methods of his subordinates. He announced the suspension of Charles R. McCartney and John T. Weigle, prohibition agents, for stopping without probable cause the automobile of E. G. Duncan, Maryland road commission engineer.

Col. Woodcock's policy on this score won for him the commendation of the American Automobile Association, which has repeatedly criticised the action of prohibition agents for stopping or firing on private automobiles.

While no disclosure of the conversation with the President was made, the fact that the conference took

MIDDLE WEST COOLS OFF

Below Ninety Temperatures Bring Area Relief; Country Still Suffers Effects of Drought

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 29. (Exclusive)—Most of the Middle West, which has been sizzling hot for the last four days, began to cool off today. St. Louis, where the thermometer Monday boiled up to an official 107.1, relaxed to a cool 76. Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, parts of Illinois and Ohio also reported declining temperatures which brought comfort to the cities. The rural sections, however, as well as some towns are still suffering from a long drought with no rain in sight. Despite the relief one death was reported in Chicago due to Tuesday's heat and one was reported in Baltimore, which brought the total deaths in that city to forty in twelve days.

Throughout Southern Illinois the heat declined from a high of 114 Monday to the middle eighties. Similar conditions prevailed in Southern Indiana. The Hoosier State officials today were giving all their time to drought conditions in the cities. Lewis S. Finch, chief sanitary engineer for the Indiana State Board of Health, tonight sent out letters to 700 city and town health officials and water-plant superintendents outlining means of avoiding a crisis in water supplies which is now threatening.

The letters read in part: "The present drought and continued hot weather which is affecting all parts of Indiana have resulted in a water shortage in many Indiana cities and towns. In that connection, it should be borne in mind that it is within the range of possibility that the drought may continue until the fall rains set in and water arrangements should be made accordingly."

In the East the State of Maryland was still suffering from a protracted drought. Rural residents are awaiting the predicted rain far more eagerly than the residents of the cities because of the great damage done to crops and pastures and particularly because many wells and streams have become dry. Temperatures throughout that State today were below 90 deg.

SUSTAINED HEAT KILLS THREE IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—The death of three persons here today was attributed to the heat of the past few days.

Victims were former Representative Charles R. Davis of Minnesota, Willard Dumphrey of Scotland, Md., and Richard James, a Negro.

The temperature today reached a maximum of 93 deg. at 3 p.m.

Die and Learn

A patient in an insane asylum imagined himself dead, and nothing could drive this delusion out of his brain. One day his physician had a happy thought, and said to him:

"Did you ever see a dead man bleed?"

"No," he replied.

"Do you believe that a dead man can bleed?"

"No."

"Well, if you will permit me, I will try an experiment with you and see if you bleed or not."

The patient gave his consent, the doctor whipped out his scalpel, and drew a little blood. "There," he said, "you see that you bleed; that proves that you are not dead."

"Not at all," the patient instantly replied, "that only proves that dead men can bleed."—[Montreal Star.

AMERICA GIVES CHINA WARNING

State Department Acts as Reds Sack City

Foreign Property Burned in Systematic Raids

Weakened Garrison Easily Overcome by Foes

ly as the Communists have a better organized army than the military.

Neither was information available concerning the movements of Hochien, provincial Governor of Hunan. It was considered likely that he would return to Shanghai soon. Communists announced they would behead Ho immediately should they capture him.

MOST SERIOUS RAID

The raid was described as the most serious Red incursion yet executed within China. Influential Chinese reiterated their belief it was instigated in the Third International at Moscow. They said unless the Nanking government is able to halt the civil war that has been ravaging the country for months and turn attention to Communist activity the Red threat is destined to become more grave shortly.

The wildest rumors resulted from the raid. One of these was that establishment of a Communist form of government south of the Yangtse River is imminent. Nationalist government bonds declined sharply as another result of the Red activity.

After taking aboard missionaries and foreigners desiring to leave, the warships were forced by the rapidly receding river to withdraw. Millions of dollars' worth of foreign property thus was left at the mercy of the Reds.

FOUR REMAIN

Whether there had been loss of life among the foreign inhabitants was not known, but late advices said four missionaries remained in the city. They were Rev. W. H. Lingle, who has been in China since 1890 for the Presbyterian board of foreign missions; Dr. Allen N. Cameron, in China since 18[illegible] as a representative of a branch of the Galilee Baptist Church of Denver, Colo.; Miss Gertrude Rugg, a British woman of the China inland mission, and an Italian Catholic priest.

About fifty foreigners were rescued before sacking of the city commenced. The American warship Palos, two British and three Japanese gunboats effected the rescue. In addition to taking refugees aboard, the gunboats escorted foreign commercial vessels to safety and towed away floating equipment of various concerns.

SAILORS RISK LIVES

Relief work of the naval men, who risked their lives in penetrating isolated portions of the city, was warmly praised.

Advices said the Reds executed numerous Nationalist and provincial officials. A brother of the Ho-Chien provincial governor was beheaded.

Changsha, largest city to fall to the Chinese Reds, is considered one of the wealthiest and most modern of the cities of interior China. Its population now is almost 1,000,000. It is a silk manufacturing center, while in the surrounding territory are many metal mines.

The city proper, located on the right bank of the Siang, is surrounded by a twelve-mile wall. The foreign consulates and additional property are located on an island in the river opposite the town.

Known among the foreign properties is the Yale in China College, erected as Yale's contribution to the education of Chinese unable to go to America.

CHANGSHA HAS BEEN FOCAL POINT OF STRIFE

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—Changsha, reported captured by Communists, has been a focal point in China's internal politics since the republic was established. It was a center for fighting between the northern and southern forces in 1922.

Until 1910 it had the placidness of a prosperous Chinese city of 500,000 people. In that year the sight of Halley's comet in the skies caused the inhabitants to feel it was a sign sent by heaven that it was time for "the foreign devils" to go. Resentment had been growing against the increasing commercial power of foreign concerns. There were serious riots before the disturbances were quelled.

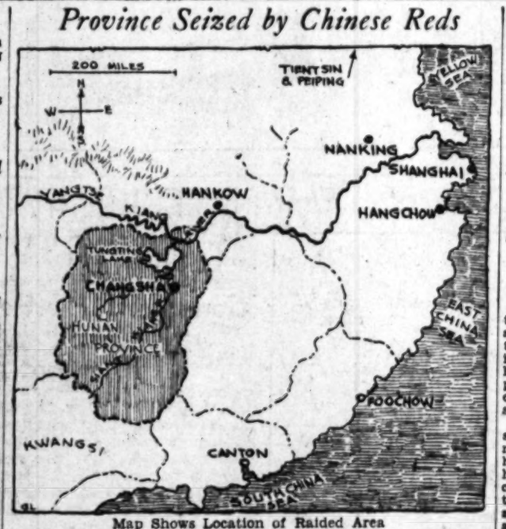
The western world broke down some of the resentment against foreigners with the establishment by Yale University of the "Yale in China" college at Changsha. The school is Yale's contribution to the education of Chinese who cannot come to America.

MISSIONARY PARTY STARTS TRIP TO CHINA

OSSINING (N. Y.) July 29. (AP)—Nine missionaries of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America and a physician set out today for posts in China and Korea, undaunted by reports of civil war, banditry and bloodshed in the countries to which they go.

The ten include Rev. Leo W. Hewitt, Cumberland, Md.; Rev. Thomas Rae Donovan, Hazelwood, Pa., and Rev. Walter Coleman, Minneapolis.

Province Seized by Chinese Reds



Map Shows Location of Raided Area

The shaded portion of the map shows the Province overrun by Communists who sacked the important city of Changsha, forcing American and British gunboats to steam up the shallow Siang River to rescue foreign residents. A Bolshevik government to rule all the territory south of the Yangtse River may be attempted by the Communists, it is said.

tary service as this requires, is one of the most gratifying qualities of citizenship."

Mr. Hoover said the new commission will "advise the government departments on methods for revision of the statistical services for the determination of unemployment and to establish methods of co-operation between government departments and business.

The President pointed out that Congress at the last session "added somewhat to the requirements of this service, the purpose of such information being not only a barometer of business but the necessary information as to measures which need to be taken by local agencies as well as the government in any constructive relief of unemployment."

INFORMATION NEEDED

The need for more systematic information on unemployment, Mr. Hoover said, has been generally indorsed by business and labor organizations for some years.

"The question is not as simple as it appears on the surface," he said. "The inclusion of a determination of the amount of unemployment in the census taken April 1, gives us for the first time an accurate base on which to formulate plans and a knowledge of the whole problem which we have never hitherto possessed.

"But if we were to attempt such an absolutely accurate determination of employment once every three months it would require a house-to-house canvass of the entire nation and would be practically the equivalent of the census and might cost us $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 per annum.

"On the other hand it has been long recognized that the present Department of Labor statistics are inadequate, the cost of which is about $150,000 per annum. In order to obtain the information we need at reasonable cost, we must find a new basis for recruiting it. Such a basis can only be formulated by the co-operation of industry, labor and other agencies."

BRITAIN'S JOBLESS NEARING 2,000,000

LONDON, July 29. (AP)—Great Britain's unemployment total is nearing the 2,000,000 mark, it was announced today by the Ministry of Labor.

The official statement said the number of persons out of work on the 21st inst. was 1,972,700, an increase of 32,834 in a week and 850,057 in a year.

place on the eve of the gathering at which Col. Woodcock will formally launch his program of steady and lawful pressure is interpreted to mean that his policies have received the Presidential sanction.

That such approval should be sought and given is regarded as natural in view of the fact that the transfer of the prohibition bureau to the Department of Justice and the consequent reorganization of its field forces under Col. Woodcock's direction are the first of the Hoover administration's prohibition reforms to go into effect.

Because of the importance of this reorganization to an administration committed to vigorous enforcement, the program which Col. Woodcock plans to enunciate tomorrow has been prepared with unusual care and it represents the best thought not only of the new director but also his superiors in office.

The interest of the administration in the gathering here tomorrow was further emphasized by the announcement that the district administrators and the special agents will be received by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell at the Department of Justice at noon immediately following the address in which Col. Woodcock will outline his plans.

ten and injured forty or more persons, was vivid enough, however, to take issue with assertions he made in a statement to police a few hours later regarding the men he saw who planted the deadly bomb in a suit case. At that time he provided descriptions of the two men he saw.

He was positive today the descriptions then given were erroneous as to height, weight and headgear. He was equally positive he had not been able to describe complexions in the statement. When the letter was produced, however, and he identified it, as well as his appended signature, it developed he had given the complexions of the two men he said he saw.

The police statement containing the descriptions, incidentally, is one of the documents which supposedly had become lost in police files. It developed the statement had been among other records in storage. Produced at the proper time, without any inkling of its content, it had the effect of confounding MacDonald, as it contained information he admitted having forgotten.

MEMORY GONE

In amplification in the same line of thought, brought out by Edwin V. McKenzie, representing Billings, MacDonald said he had gone to Steuart and Market streets to witness the Preparedness Day parade, but admitted he has never been able to describe any single individual or exhibit in that parade.

McKenzie made an obvious attempt at impeachment of MacDonald's present testimony in the form of indirect questions accusing MacDonald of never having been at the intersection at all while the parade was passing. MacDonald resented the implication, insisting he was there.

McKenzie then produced a photograph of the corner, taken at 1:32 p.m. of July 22, 1916, just as the head of the parade passed, his intention being to show MacDonald, by previous testimony, had precluded his own possibility of being there at that time. The picture also gave indication of the crowded condition of the thoroughfare, the purpose of this being to minimise MacDonald's ability to identify Mooney and Billings, or any two men, from the distance at which he placed himself and in the milling crowd present.

This presentation was received with close attention by the justices, including Justice Preston, who, a short time previously, had engaged in such a serious interchange of comment with McKenzie that the justice, plainly exasperated, had turned to the attorney and said:

"You keep your snoot out of this."

McKenzie had interrupted the justice in the course of his questioning of MacDonald. Words flew quickly between the two. They ended with a final admonition from Justice Preston to "keep your mouth shut."

WITNESS GIVEN NO QUARTER

Later the two exchanged pleasantries and McKenzie gracefully expressed sorrow for his interruption.

On behalf of the court, Justice Preston gave the witness no quarter. It was not his desire, he explained, to embarrass him unduly, but to get at the facts—facts in a matter of such grave import the entire lives of two men hang on the issue.

To Justice Preston's questions, MacDonald testified he had never had any hope of reward out of his testimony except in the beginning. But he said he had received $500 or $600 in 1921, five years after the convictions, from Edward Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor. Nockels was present at today's hearing. The witness testified he had been assured by attorneys that Gov. Young had consented to have the State of California pay his expenses out here to present his testimony, but he said he had received no funds of any kind except from Attorney Ruzicka, who accompanied him here from Baltimore.

BLAMES INFLUENCE

Reminded he was 44 years of age when he swore to his assertedly false identifications, was familiar with the ways of the world, knew right and wrong and its consequences, MacDonald resorted to the handkerchief again when Justice Preston asked him why he did not have the nerve to resist the avowed "pressure" from public officials and tell the truth.

MacDonald, between dabs of the handkerchief, said he was too much under the influence of Fickert and Goff. This repeated assertion won him caustic comment and gave birth to more tears later.

"You swore away the lives of these men, knowing you lied, and yet your own conscience held you blameless?" prodded Justice Preston.

MacDonald's head drooped.

SPECTATORS SQUIRM

Justice Preston pecked away. Even spectators squirmed as his merciless soul-shredding bolts shot home. He wound up with ruthless irony:

"And now you feel ashamed of youself, do you?"

It was almost a wail that answered:

"I am, your honor, I am."

"You called upon God as your witness to lies just to be 'putting something over,' is that it?"

"Yes, your honor."

"It makes quite a mess, doesn't it?"

At another time, with the witness well tangled in new discrepancies, the justice demanded:

"Don't you think you'll want to repudiate the statements you are making here now before you quit this vale of existence?"

"I hope not," MacDonald mumbled.

RELATIVES ON HAND

"When did your conscience begin working on this injustice, anyway?"

"Immediately after the Weinberg trial."

"Why didn't it work itself to the surface before this?"

"I don't know."

Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of one of the two prisoners, sat inside the press rail during the afternoon session, on the verge of weeping several times, but fighting back the tears. Mooney's mother sat against the wall, outside the rail, hanging on to every word. The prisoner's sister Anna also made her appearance for the first time.

The courtroom was filled to capacity and scores stood in the streets outside the State Building gazing rapidly at the facade most of the time, but rewarded at lunch time and at the end of the day with a fleeting glimpse of the principals as they arrived or departed.

ARRESTS HALT PARADE OF SKELETON

Two arrests checked an attempt yesterday to parade a hearse containing a skeleton through downtown streets as a protest against Gov. Young's recent refusal to pardon Tom Mooney, now serving a life sentence as one of the perpetrators of the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco.

William Busick, 26 years of age, of 608 Soto street, and Joe Gwatkins, 24, of 227 West Third street, in charge of the "hearse parade," were arrested.

Judge Miller in Municipal Night Court, held them for trial at 9:30 a.m. next Friday in Division Eight of Municipal Court. The two defendants were released on $100 bail each, furnished by Upton Sinclair, the novelist.

GOV. YOUNG WILL QUESTION MacDONALD

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. (AP)—Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Thomas J. Mooney, announced tonight he had received a telegram from Gov. Young stating the Governor with the Advisory Pardon Board will question John MacDonald, recanting witness in the Preparedness Day bombing case, with reference to Mooney's pardon application when the Supreme Court completes its examination of MacDonald.

The telegram was sent by the Governor from Los Angeles in response to Walsh's request that he personally hear MacDonald.

BANKRUPT LAW REFORMS DUE

President Hoover Orders Abuses Surveyed

New York Inquiry Reveals Widespread Evils

Recommendation to Congress to Provide Curb

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—An investigation which may result in thoroughgoing and fundamental changes in bankruptcy law and practice is being conducted by the Department of Justice. It is a direct outgrowth of the recent inquiry into the administration of the bankruptcy laws in New York, which was followed by a wholesale disbarment of attorneys and institution of a major reform by the courts.

In charge of the present investigation is Solicitor-General Thatcher, who played a prominent part in the New York inquiry. If conditions similar to those disclosed in New York are shown to be prevalent throughout the country, he said today, drastic changes in the present statutes may be expected.

HOOVER INITIATIVE

The investigation was announced by President Hoover in a statement saying present losses through bankruptcies have amounted to $3,000,000,000 in the last five years and at present are aggregating $750,000,000 annually. Its general purpose, he added, will be the formulation and recommendation to Congress of legislation to amend the present code in such fashion as to eliminate the evils which now prevail.

Regular Department of Justice investigators who are experienced in bankruptcy cases will carry on the investigation. Several cities of varying sizes which are considered representative financial centers will be chosen as the scene of their activities.

The text of the President's announcement follows:

INQUIRY ORDERED

"I have authorized the Attorney-General to undertake an exhaustive investigation into the whole question of bankruptcy law and practice. It will be a most extensive and vigorous investigation. The work will be under the direction of the Solicitor-General and he will be assisted by the Department of Commerce.

"The losses through bankruptcy in the past five years exceed $3,000,000,000 and now are averaging $750,000,000 per annum. The purpose of the investigation is, of course, to propose to Congress some essential reforms in bankruptcy law and practice."

SCRUBWOMEN BRUSHING UP ON THREE R's NOW

CHICAGO, July 29. (AP)—The ancient and honorable profession of scrubwomen is getting uppity.

Heretofore the main requisite of a charwoman has been a strong arm and a ditto back, together with a pair of calloused knees. The city of Chicago, however, has decided there is more to scrubbing a floor than merely scrubbing a floor. One should also be able to read and write and answer questions.

Out of 1776 women who took a special examination—which consisted of five questions—only were all that passed.

Many women whose speed and skill with a scrub brush has never before been questioned "flunked" the mental examination, a number being unable to read the questions or write the answers.

Gehlbach Has Three-Hours Air Derby Advantage

Direct Flight from Here Wins $1000 Prize

OGDEN (Utah) July 29. (AP)—Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark., held a three-hour lead over Lowell Bayless, Cleveland, in the Detroit-Los Angeles All-American Air Derby tonight when nine of the eleven contestants had arrived at the Ogden Airport from Los Angeles.

Gehlbach's total elapsed time was 31h. 18m. 17s., compared with Bayless's total of 34h. 17m. 41s. The two leaders were second and third, respectively into tonight's control point. Herman Hamer, Chicago, led the baby airplanes here from Los Angeles where they took off this morning and won the lap prize of $1000 offered by the Ogden Chamber of Commerce for the best time between the two cities.

Hamer in a little biplane took the direct course over the San Bernardino Mountains, climbing to a height of 8000 feet and not pausing for gasoline or oil.

Hamer's time for the 598 miles from Los Angeles was 4h. 45m. 37s., compared with Gehlbach's 5h. 52s., and Bayless's 5h. 15m. 42s. Bayless refueled at Las Vegas.

Charles Meyers, Cleveland, 8h. 55m. 2s., and 35h. 10m. 21s.

Henry Ogden, Inglewood, Cal., 5h. 27m. 54s., and 37h. 14m. 53s.

William Cahill, Cleveland, 5h. 58m. 33s., and 40h. 43m. 1s.

Larry Brown, Los Angeles, 7h. 21m. 15s., and 42h. 10m. 30s.

Cecil Coffrin, Brooklyn, 7h. 27m. 41s., total time unavailable.

H. W. Holladay, Los Angeles, elapsed time unavailable.

Stanley Stanton of Blackwell, Okla., 10h. 29m. 28s. and 43h. 30m. 34s.

SECOND PLACE HOLDER WRECKS AIRPLANE HERE

Contestants in the All-American Air Derby started their flight eastward on the home stretch at 8:01 a.m. yesterday from the Metropolitan Airport when Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock pointed the nose of his tiny 100-horsepower plane toward Ogden, Utah, the next stopping-place. Second to leave was Herman Hamer of La Salle Ill., who left the field at 8:02 a.m.

Lowell Bayless of Cleveland; Charles Meyers, also of Cleveland, and Henry Ogden of Inglewood, Cal., followed at one-minute intervals.

J. B. Weddell of New Orleans, holder of second place in the race, was forced out by the cracking up of his plane just before the scheduled start of yesterday's lap. He had flown to the Lockheed Aircraft plant at Burbank to get new metal hoods on the plane's landing-wheels. His motor stalled soon after leaving the company's air field, dropping his plane into telegraph wires. The ship was completely wrecked but Weddell escaped unhurt.

DISABLED BOAT BACK IN HARBOR

Yacht Talayha Returns to Honolulu With Everyone on Board Exhausted

HONOLULU, July 2. (AP)—The yacht Talayha, which sprang a bad leak Saturday when 345 miles northeast of this city, returned here today with all hands near exhaustion from constant bailing. Her pumps failed.

The Talayha, third to finish in the recent Los Angeles Harbor-to-Honolulu yacht race, began her return to the Coast Friday. When she began leaking her skipper reported he was returning to Honolulu and declined offers of naval assistance.

Thirteen crewmen and three passengers were aboard the Talayha. The passengers—Tom and Joe Dunnigan, real estate men of Los Angeles, and L. J. F. Brenner, oil man of Los Angeles—will return home Wednesday on the steamship City of Los Angeles.

None of the passengers or crew had sleep or a cooked meal since 11 a.m. Saturday when water appeared in the cabin.

Heavy seas began at midnight Friday. Soon afterward the main engine broke. Electric and hand pumps were used until the hand pumps failed Saturday at 11 a.m. The electric pump quit at 2 p.m. and all hands began to bail at 7 o'clock Saturday night with buckets.

PLAN URGED FOR MEXICO TO BUY LAND

Official Said to Favor Colonies of Natives on Property Near Border

MEXICO CITY, July 29. (AP)—El Universal Grafico today printed a summary of what it declares will be the report of Secretary of Communications Almazan on his recent trip to the northern border States of Mexico.

The secretary is represented as urging reacquirement by the government of land owned by foreigners in Lower California, with the object of colonizing it with Mexicans. He urges this will offer a means of livelihood to Mexicans now living in the United States and out of employment.

The recommendations also are in favor of legislation to prevent foreigners from obtaining rural property hereafter in Lower California. The changing of such Americanized names as "Shoreacres" and "Tahiti Beach" back to their original Spanish names is suggested.

The newspaper adds that Secretary Almazan also will recommend the construction of new public buildings at Mexicali and Tia Juana. At Punta Penasco, he wants to have a port built, with roads connecting it to Mexicali and Central Sonora, in order to prevent Arizona interests from doing this.

Italian Council Supplies 100,000,000 Lire to Help Ruined Communities

ROME, July 29. (AP)—The Italian Council of Ministers, directed by Il Duce, today came to the rescue of the earthquake-stricken zone of the Apennines with an appropriation of 100,000,000 lire (about $5,230,000) for rebuilding its ruined cities and towns.

Premier Mussolini instructed Minister of Public Works Crollalanza to return immediately to supervise the reconstruction of thousands of shattered homes and other buildings.

The houses will be rebuilt with materials better able to resist seismic shocks, and in many cases the historic sites of towns and villages will be changed to localities where in the past earthquake shocks have been less violent.

Hardships Cited in Embargo on Russian Product

Secretary Points Out Law in Effect Since 1890

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—Efforts to have the Treasury set aside its order prohibiting importation of pulpwood from Russia or delay its enforcement for ninety days were made by representatives of ship owners, ship charterers, paper manufacturers and a labor organization in a hearing conducted today by Assistant Secretary Lowman.

At the conclusion Lowman said he would consider the protests carefully and make his decision within two days.

Shipping representatives told the Treasury official unless the order was at east temporarily set aside they would face huge losses and said they had accepted the pulpwood freight in good faith without any thought its importation was barred by law.

Lowman replied importation of any product produced in whole or in part by convict labor had been prohibited since 1890 and ship owners and charterers were presumed to have been acquainted with the law.

Other representatives argued convict labor had not entered into the production of the pulpwood and it was a duty of the government to prove it had if the product were to be barred. Lowman replied he believed it was incumbent upon those interested in the shipments to prove that convict labor had not entered into its production if that were a fact.

The assistant Secretary said under the law he had no recourse except to refuse entrance to goods produced by convict labor, but told the delegation they could take the matter to the courts if they wished. He said the action of the Treasury was not against Russia, but would be applied to similarly produced merchandise from any nation.

NARCOTIC RING CHIEFS SEIZED

New Drug Squads Round-up Eastern Gangs

Leaders of Five Bands Taken in Series of Raids

Large Stores of Morphine and Heroin Found

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—Descending on narcotic rings in three widely separated cities, agents of the newly reorganized narcotics division of the Treasury made twenty arrests over the week-end and captured persons whom they said were the leaders of five narcotic smuggling gangs.

At the same time the raiders seized large quantities of morphine and heroin and believed they had broken up smuggling operations that brought millions of dollars' worth of narcotics into this country each year from Turkey. The leader of one gang, it was announced, was arrested in his office in the Woolworth Building in New York as he was preparing a quantity of morphine for shipment to San Francisco.

FIVE LEADERS TAKEN

Announcement of the raids, which started Saturday and ended last night, was made today by Harry J. Anslinger, acting director of the narcotic division. He said agents had arrested the ring leaders of five gangs and had captured all the principals in the narcotic smuggling schemes along the Atlantic Coast.

The arrests were brought about by the undercover work of three agents who worked their way into the confidence of the narcotic dealers and were taken in as members of the gang.

It required two months for the agents under the direction of J. A. Manning, narcotic agent in charge in New York; J. B. Greeson, narcotic agent in charge in Washington and R. A. Sanders, detective of the metropolitan force of Washington, to trace the narcotics from their source in Turkey to the gangs' headquarters in this country.

MORPHINE SEIZED

They found the narcotics were sent camouflaged as other merchandise to this country. Their work resulted in the seizure of 4000 ounces of morphine on the Black Diamond liner Inoko, last Saturday. It had been shipped as electrical machinery.

The outstanding smuggler, Anslinger said, was Tony Lapinto, son of an Italian marquis, who was arrested at his home on Long Island. While being taken to the District Attorney's office in New York, members of his gang sought to rescue him, but guns in the hands of the agents held off his aides.

With Lapinto, known as Black Tony, Frank Deseo, described as his lieutenant, also was captured and the agents seized quantities of drugs.

Next in importance were the arrests of two Italians in Norfolk, Va. One, "Boe" Versasce, Anslinger said, was president of a national Italian organization and a political leader in his home town. With him was arrested Joe Reportella, another leading Italian of Norfolk and the third member of this gang, a Mrs. Esposito, who Anslinger said sold the narcotics from her home on Long Island was arrested there.

ARRESTS IN NEW YORK

Sam Ferera, described as the leader of another ring of narcotic smugglers, was arrested in New York, while two others named as his lieutenant were detained in Washington where they had come with sixty ounces of heroin. They were Joe Anzellone and Pete de 'Agostina.

Shifting the scene of their activities to New York, J. A. Swinford, alias J. A. Kincaid, known as "Reno Red," was arrested in his office in the Woolworth Building while preparing a shipment of morphine for San Francisco. L. J. Williams, who lived on Long Island, also was arrested in New York.

Frankie Fields, who Anslinger said, was a wholesale narcotic dealer "who supplies Wilmington, Del.," was arrested in New York. Fields was an independent dealer not affiliated with any of the other gangs, the Narcotic Bureau official said.

All of the smugglers were arraigned before United States Commissioners and held under heavy bond for trial on charges of violating the narcotic laws.

FROCKS FOR MILADY TO BE SUBTLE

New Paris Styles Will Be Difficult to Copy by Home Dressmakers

PARIS, July 29. (AP) — Milady's frocks this winter must be both elegant and subtle if she wishes them to bear the 1931 style stamp.

Mysterious peplumsll tiers and tunics mark the silhouettes displayed this week by half a hundred style establishments which consider themselves "high style" before buyers searching for the new and beautiful with which to clothe Eve's posterity.

The lines, interrupting but not distorting the outlines of the now completely feminized figure, promise complications for the home dressmaker's art.

The consensus is that skirts are to be only slightly longer for day wear, while waistlines hug the curve nature designed for them. Colors to date emphasize a rich brown called "Van Dyke," after the painter; greens in many dark shades, rich reds, some purple, and black and white for morning, noon and night.

MIDDLE-AGED WIFE SUES YOUNG ARTIST

OAKLAND, July 29. (AP)—Mrs. A. H. Allen Vogle, 53 years of age, today filed suit for divorce from John Vogle, 28, artist and writer, charging desertion. The wedding of the couple June 14, 1926, caused a sensation in East Bay society circles when Vogle and his wife returned from a Reno elopement.

President Hoover Announces Recess Appointment

New Yorker Gets Philippine Vice-Governorship

Action Taken After Senate Fails in Confirming

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—Nicholas Roosevelt of New York today was given a recess appointment as Vice-Governor of the Philippine Islands.

In announcing the appointment after the Senate failed to confirm Mr. Roosevelt at the special session, the President expressed his conviction the "misunderstanding" which has arisen on the islands as to the appointee's attitude will be quickly cleared up.

He asserted Mr. Roosevelt has been staunch in his support of the interests of the Philippine people, sympathetic with them, and enthusiastic over their progress.

The New York man is a second cousin of Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico.

After his nomination was sent to the Senate, leaders in the Philippine movement attacked his views and urged his rejection.

NORTHERN EUROPEAN NATIONS JOIN HANDS

COPENHAGEN, July 29. (AP)—Denmark, Holland, Sweden and Norway have formed a sort of an United States of Europe of their own. Foreign Office delegates of these countries met in Copenhagen today to discuss the common interests of these small nations, the chief point being the recent German alterations of customs duties—increases materially affecting the welfare of the four.

WOMAN GIVEN SHORT TERM

San Diego Judge Sentences Anne Guernsey to Ten Minutes in Jail

SAN DIEGO, July 29.—Anne Guernsey today was sentenced to ten minutes in the County Jail by Superior Judge C. N. Andrews. The woman, arrested by D. C. Whipple, State narcotic agent, testified that the four tablets of part-morphine content found in the attic of her home, had been there so long she had forgotten about them until the agent discovered them. She denied she was a narcotic addict. Her counsel, Attorney Edgar Hervey, prevailed on the court to allow her to withdraw her petition for probation and stand for sentence, suggesting a short term. The court's sentence was even shorter than anticipated.

Valuation Put on Beach for State Park Use

SANTA ANA, July 29. — A price of $618,000 as against approximately $1,472,000, which the owners are understood to have been seeking, is a just valuation for property on the front south of Huntington Beach sought for State park purposes, Henry W. O'Melveny, chairman of the State Park Commission, and the Board of Supervisors, decided at a luncheon held at noon today. The offer of $618,000 will be made to the land owners at a meeting to be held Thursday, at a place not yet decided.

In announcing that O'Melveny would be here, President W. R. Osborn of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce told a meeting of that body that the campaign for adoption of the beach site would be "no bed of roses," but that prospects for success appear favorable.

The site, proposed, he said, would include 12,000 feet of beach front which, flanked by beach frontage in both Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, would provide nine miles of beach open to the public. The site is held at a figure of $1,482,270. Both the county and the State are making appraisals of the property from which to determine the price that would be paid.

Los Angeles to Help Fight Fires at San Fernando

SAN FERNANDO, July 29.—Fire Chief Scott of Los Angeles today notified officials of the small fire department here that whenever large fires occur and it is necessary he will order fire apparatus and firemen from Van Nuys and North Hollywood to assist the local fire fighters.

San Fernando is a separate municipality and is no part of the so-called Los Angeles area, Scott told local officials that whenever there is a need for help the central office in Los Angeles must be notified. Either Van Nuys or North Hollywood firemen or others, if needed, will be ordered to San Fernando. He made it clear that San Fernando cannot call direct upon the nearest branch departments.

Much of the territory adjacent to San Fernando townsite is in Los Angeles proper. Whenever there has been dwelling or grass fires in this territory the local department has handled them, although out of jurisdiction. In return for such service the local department now has the offered help of the Los Angeles department in case of extreme need.

EDUCATOR IN NEW POST

HUNTINGTON PARK, July 29.—After filling the position of supervising principal of the Huntington Park Union High School, for five years, K. L. Stockton now becomes district superintendent of the Huntington Park and South Gate high schools, the latter school now nearing completion. He has just closed a four-year contract for this position tendered him by the Huntington Park High School board of trustees.

RANCHERS FEAR LABOR TROUBLE

Three Armed Deputy Sheriffs Sent to Guadalupe

Wage Cut Results in Several Hundred Men Quitting

Serious Threats Reported; Sheriff Denies Them

SANTA BARBARA, July 29.—A trio of armed deputy sheriffs were placed in Guadalupe, in the center of the vegetable industry in this county, by Sheriff James Ross today at the request of ranchers fearing labor trouble and violence from the recently announced wage cut of from 40 cents to 30 cents an hour.

Several hundred men, mostly whites, are understood to have left the packing-sheds and fields during the past few days since the wage reduction was announced but Sheriff Ross has had no serious difficulty with the workers there as yet.

Some 1500 Filipino laborers are involved in the wage cut and there is considerable discontent among them too, it is said here.

Reports of serious threats and open revolt against the vegetable packers and growers of the community have been reported here but these were denied by Sheriff Ross. The Sheriff paid a personal visit to the community to investigate the reported threats. He conferred with both ranchers and laborers. Threats of physical harm also have been reported against the laborers who are remaining in the field and in the sheds. Several meetings attended largely by white workers have been held in the community in attempt to get united action for a strike, according to reports reaching here. It is to guard against any possible violence growing out of the discontent that the deputy sheriffs have been assigned to the community.

Judge Enjoins Enforcement of City Ordinance

LONG BEACH, July 29.—This city was restrained from enforcing its ordinance against transportation of passengers to gambling barges offshore and soliciting for business on the docks by an injunction granted today by Judge Percy Hight in the case of George Garvin and others against the municipality.

The court overruled the demurrers of the defendants, granted the restraining order and ordered judgment on the pleadings.

Garvin and others were arrested on test cases and found guilty shortly after the ordinance went into effect.

The court did not file a written opinion but indicated that his findings were similar to those in cases brought against the enforcement of the State law, which has similar provisions directed against the operation of the gambling barges in which the courts have held the law invalid.

VALENCIA SHIPMENTS STILL BEING MADE

POMONA, July 29. — Valencia shipments by the local San Antonio Fruit Exchange totaled forty-two carloads during the past week, bringing the season's total for this district to 354 cars. Thirteen cars of lemons were shipped for a total of 297 cars since the first of the year.

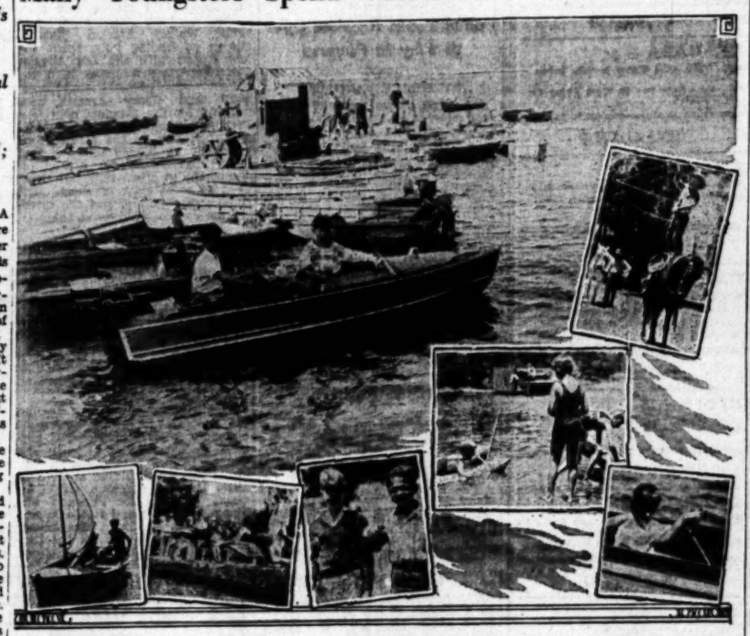
Shipments have been averaging more than forty cars of oranges per week, while lemons have been going out at the rate of fourteen cars per week.

QUARRYMAN INJURED BY FALLING BOULDER

VENTURA, July 29.—Suffering from internal injuries and fractured ribs incurred when a 200-pound mass of rock toppled upon him as he was getting ready to blast yesterday afternoon in the Fillmore quarries, William Chessani, 45 years of age, of Piru, was being treated at Big Sisters' Hospital today. Although Chessani was seriously hurt, he is expected to recover, hospital attaches said.

CHILDREN'S "DISAPPEARANCE" SOLVED

Many Youngsters Spend Vacation at Lake Arrowhead



Youngsters Enjoy Life at Mile-High Lake

Vacation days at Lake Arrowhead provide a variety of sports for children. Bathing, boating, horseback riding, fishing, hiking and athletic and aquatic contests, outboard motor racing and other diversions are enjoyed by them.

LAKE ARROWHEAD, July 29.—The question as to where all the "kids" of Southern California disappear to after the closing of schools in June is partly answered in a census just completed here by Cecil Hoff, manager of athletic events for this mountain resort.

According to Hoff's figures, just disclosed, there are 216 young boys and girls spending the summer months here, and while, as may be expected, the majority of them are from Los Angeles, a goodly number also come from San Bernardino; next on the list, comes Long Beach, then San Diego, Pomona, Riverside, Redlands, Santa Ana, Anaheim, San Francisco and other cities on the Pacific Coast.

While this is the first year that the census of children has been taken, it is believed that the number at Lake Arrowhead this year has established a new record. Virtually all of them are living at homes and cabins either owned or leased by their parents. The large number here this year can be attributed partly to the fact that more than $1,000,000 in road improvements leading to the resort have been completed in recent months, these improvements eliminating almost all of the steep grades and switchbacks which made motoring up the mountain difficult.

Evidently the "kids" do not care whether they ever return to school, according to Hoff, since they are participating every day in programs of sports and entertainment that keep them busy every minute. Horseback riding, swimming, fishing, outboard motor boating, miniature golf and hiking are some of the sports that are keeping the youngsters busy.

The "kids" sprung a surprise on seasoned pilots ten days ago when Billy and Jack Blackburn, 14 and 11 years of age, respectively, hopped into their outboard motor boat, shot into the lead on the second lap and held that position for the remainder of a ten-mile race. Seventeen other craft of nine to twelve horsepower, were entered in the event at the annual race.

GROWERS TURN ALCHEMISTS

Redlands Citrus Men Busied in Turning Alfalfa Into Golden Valencias; Hay Disced Into Groves

REDLANDS, July 29.—Although most of the Valencia orange crop of the Redlands district has been shipped, the orange growers here are as busy as they can be, irrigating, fumigating and spreading alfalfa hay. Thousands of tons of good hay are being placed on the soil of the orchards at this time.

Spraying and fumigating has been under way for about two weeks, but those in charge of the pest-control work are not at all delighted over the progress made, for the nights have been cold and damp and much of the time the crews have not been able to work more than three or four hours. For instance, there was one ten-acre grove which, under ordinary conditions would be covered easily in three nights by a crew, and one crew worked on it six nights without getting over the entire field. The last two nights have been better and the fumigators are hopeful they will be able to hit a good pace and keep it up.

Spraying has been delayed some, but not so much. Spray rigs have been in the field for two weeks although some of them have just begun work this week. There will be an almost average amount of spraying done this year, but not so much fumigating.

Thousands of tons of alfalfa hay, of the finest quality has been purchased by orange growers to be placed on the soil of the local groves this year. Hay is cheap and there is a big crop so the growers have taken advantage of it. Alfalfa hay has been selling for $15 a ton this year and that the finest quality. The most of that in use here has been brought in from the Imperial Valley. Great trucks and trailers loaded with the hay have come here in the past week and in hundreds of the groves throughout the district piles of hay, to be placed on the ground and disced in, can be seen. Most of the growers have bought close to two tons for each acre, which is a big dosage.

It is estimated that in the past ten days 2000 tons of hay have been delivered here, for which the growers have paid nearly $30,000. One grower bought 300 tons as he has a total of about 150 acres.

CANNING OF PEACHES TO BEGIN TODAY

Two Ontario Plants Will Start Runs on Season's Crop; Apricots Finished

ONTARIO, July 29.—Unless unforeseen changes are ordered at the last minute, the two local peach canneries will become beehives of industry tomorrow. Cutler-Lobinger and California Co-operative Canneries, Inc., are both ready to start runs on the 1930 peach crop. The former company has just completed an extensive run on apricots, while the co-operative plant dried its apricot harvest, and announces a highly successful campaign.

A few days have been devoted to overhauling machinery and installing peach-pitting machines which were taken out at the close of the 1929 season for repairs. The Benton-Ballou Company of this city, makers of the automatic peach-pitting machine, has made 700 of them during the summer for the fall run on peaches. A shipment of the machines left the plant during the summer for installation in northern canneries. Officials of both companies estimate the Southern California peach crop at 12,000 tons.

Several local growers have not signed over their crops to the canneries yet, hoping to get a higher price. Decision is expected to be made by officials of the Ontario-Chino peach pool this week as to disposition of the tonnage held by the grower members of the organization. The price of $30 per ton offered in the cannery companies' bid was rejected by the pool and other markets are sought.

It is believed that the canners and pool members will strike a medium price that will be satisfactory to both parties. Following a meeting last week of the peach pool members announcement was made that unless a $30-per-ton price is received the growers will let their crops rot on the ground.

THIEVES STEAL GRAIN FROM RANCH STORES

CHINO, July 29.—One of the boldest farm robberies in recent years in Chino Valley was reported to police today. The Louis Richenberger ranch was raided and forty-eight sacks of grain were taken from the warehouse. A truck was used in the robbery, it having been driven to the warehouse and carefully loaded with the loot. A reward is offered by Richenberger for the arrest of the thieves.

He Has Church; No Congregation

PASADENA, July 29.—To be the sole owner of a large church and to be unable to sell it—even to Aimee Semple McPherson, is the situation in which G. A. Gertmenian of this city, finds himself today.

The building is the old First Congregational Church, located on Green street at South Marengo avenue. Until recently, the building was used by Mrs. McPherson's followers, but internal dissension arose and regular meetings were discontinued for a time.

Today, Gertmenian asked the local board of equalization to reduce the assessment on his church from $105,890 to $76,000. The request was denied.

"The property isn't even fit for a miniature golf course," the owner told the board.

"If the building were torn down, the real estate would bring me only $300 a month, and that isn't much of an income from $105,890."

Junior College Demand Heard

EAST LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Appeals for a junior college and for two additional elementary schools in the east side of Los Angeles were heard last week by the Board of Education.

Delegates from the East Side District Improvement Association stress only the need of the district for a junior college. The delegation declared that graduates from the two major high schools, in most cases, are prevented from entering college because of financial limitations. They would be able to go to junior college if there was one within a reasonable distance.

Various organizations of East Los Angeles, the unincorporated section east of Indiana avenue, made an effort last year to promote a campaign to have a junior college established in this district.

STARLIGHT ARRIVES AT HUENEME

Fishing Craft Believed in Sinking Condition Makes Port Under Own Power

VENTURA, July 29. — Safe and well after forty hours of terrifying experiences, the twenty-seven passengers and crew of the Starlight of Point Mugu, sailed into Hueneme Harbor late yesterday afternoon.

Marooned on Anacapa Island Sunday night after they had been towed to land by the Ventura yacht Mary Ann, and nine of the original group of thirty-six brought to the mainland, the remaining twenty-seven bailed out their half-sunken smack, got the motor started and came to Hueneme under their own power. They reached shore just before the Mary Ann started a return trip to the island to bring them in.

The Starlight became disabled Sunday afternoon and drifted helplessly in midchannel for nearly six hours, vainly trying to summon aid by flying distress signals.

Slipping into troughs of the waves, which were running fast and high, the fifty-foot craft shipped water and was threatening to capsize at any moment when the Mary Ann sighted it and towed it to the lee of Anacapa Island, despite the high wind and rough water.

The nine passengers which the rescuing ship transported to this city, told a thrilling tale of their despair when, as they were almost sinking, a large ship passed them by without coming to the rescue.

Among the nine was Miss Thelma Paup, of Hollywood. On the Mary Ann during the rescue were a group of fifteen Ventura county printers. The ship is owned by D. W. Miller.

Paralysis Cases on Increase

PASADENA, July 29.—With ten new cases of infantile paralysis reported here in the last eight days, Dr. J. D. Dunshee, city health officer, today broadcast an urgent appeal for all persons who have been victims of the disease in the last ten years to give their blood for convalescent serum.

"This is the first time since the recent wave of the disease started that we have been unable to provide even enough serum for one treatment," Dr. Dunshee asserted. "The serum is the best cure we know of, and marvels have been worked with it."

Persons who can show they have had the disease within ten years are paid for their blood at the rate of $10 for three ounces. The health department laboratories are located on the third floor of the south wing of the City Hall.

Funds Provided for Sea Wall

SANTA BARBARA, July 29.—Formal order for the appropriation of $74,000 for financing of a sea wall to protect east Cabrillo Boulevard in the city was made by the County Board of Supervisors today. After promising to aid the city in the project of protecting the Coast Highway along the ocean front, the board immediately began to make adjustments for its place in the new fiscal budget.

The $74,000 to be given by the county will come from the county's share of State gas-tax money, which is apportioned on automobile registrations. This will be the first large amount to be spent within the city, which in itself provides more than half the automobile registrations from which the money is derived, officials said.

SCHOOL EXPENDITURE SLIGHTLY LARGER

HUNTINGTON PARK, July 29.—While the enrollment in the Huntington Park city school district during the coming 1930-31 school year will undoubtedly be considerably larger than the past year, the expenditures for the new year will be only slightly increased, according to Charles John, superintendent of the district. The total expenditures for the school year reached $624,558, while the expenditures for the coming year have been placed at $636,420.

During the 1929-30 school year, teachers' salaries totaled $338,180.15, while the kindergarten teachers received $20,686.75. With other expenses in maintaining and operating the schools the total reached $624,558. For the coming school year the teachers in the elementary grades are to receive $369,230, of which $48,000 will also be for supervisors and principals, while the kindergarten teachers will receive $26,000. The total cost of operating, including the salaries, will reach $636,420. There are eight elementary schools in the district, these schools including the kindergarten classes.

JUDGE WOULD ABOLISH RECALL

Suggests Glendale Charter Amendment for Purpose

Frank H. Lowe Denounces Attack on Councilmen

Provision Declared "Vicious Piece of Legislation"

GLENDALE, July 29.—Recommending that the proposed charter revisions for Glendale be expanded to include the abolition of the power of recall, Police Judge Frank H. Lowe, speaking today in the Council meeting, bitterly assailed the proposed recall movement directed against Mayor C. E. Kimlin and Councilmen C. J. Hatz and Sam Davis.

"The recall proposition," Judge Lowe declared, "is nothing but a club that may be used by persons with ulterior motives, as it enables them to come before the Council and force the city administration to accede to their desires."

Adding that the recall provision is a "vicious piece of legislation," Judge Lowe asserted that the continued use of this method threatens to usurp the powers of the grand juries, whose members are capable of indicting any officials against whom conclusive evidence of wrongdoing may be presented.

In answer to a suggestion that he was "talking for his job," Judge Lowe declared that he is ready to stand on his record of fourteen years on the bench of this city.

Neither Mayor Kimlin or Councilman Hatz was prepared to make any statement today regarding the proposed recall, and Davis is absent from the city.

One More Suit Brought Against Edison Company

VENTURA, July 29.—Another fire-damage suit against the Southern California Edison Company was filed in the Superior Court today as the trial of five other consolidated actions entered its sixteenth day in the same courtroom before a jury.

The new complaint asks that the $4910.50 it asserts the burned-over lands of W. D. Blair, the plaintiff, were worth before the blaze be trebled in event the case is won.

Damages to the Blair holdings, which are on the creek road in the upper Ojai, were to trees and farm implements, the action asserts.

The complaint charges the Edison Company with negligence on three causes of action, asserting that its wires over the Doheny ranch, near Santa Paula, where the conflagration is asserted to have started, were in a high and inaccessible place, and that trees around the wires were not removed for safety.

The power firm is charged with negligence in not shutting off its power immediately after its line broke, and thus started the fire, the complaint sets forth.

Flyer Entangled in Falling Ship Almost to Earth

SAN DIEGO, July 29. (AP)—Leaping from a navy bombing plane over Camp Kearny late this morning, following a midair collision between his ship and a scouting plane at an elevation of 3000 feet, Lieut. Apollo Soucek, noted navy pilot, caught his shirt on a projection from the crippled plane and was whirled to within 200 feet of the ground, entangled in the falling wreckage. At that elevation Soucek was finally successful in extricating himself and a last-minute opening of his parachute enabled him to escape almost certain death. Soucek's only injury was a sprained back.

Ensign C. H. DuBorg, pilot of the scouting plane, was able to proceed to the North Island air station and landed safely with his ship. Soucek's plane was completely destroyed.

Soucek holds altitude records for seaplanes of various weights and horsepower.

NATIONAL FLAG WILL BE GIVEN TO CAMP

REDONDO BEACH, July 29.—Presentation of a large United States flag for use on the steel pole in the grounds of the Salvation Army rest camp here and a luncheon as guests of Salvation Army officials will mark the meeting of the local Lions Club next Friday. The club has arranged the event as a means of understanding more fully the work of the army in maintaining the rest camp and to ascertain how the club can be of more help to the army. A flag ceremony will follow the luncheon and presentation.

WOMAN FAINTS IN COURT

Kenneth Sennes Screams When Her Husband Gets Sentence to Jail, Then Keels Over

RIVERSIDE, July 29.—Leaping to her feet as her husband was ordered to serve three months at the county prison camp, Mrs. Kenneth Sennes of Los Angeles rushed screaming to her husband's side in Superior Judge Freeman's bench and fell to the floor in a faint. Bailiff hurriedly picked her up from the floor and carried her into the judge's chambers, where she was cared for by her mother and others until she was revived. She presented a pathetic figure as she left the court, head bowed by grief and leaning on her mother's arm. Meanwhile Sennes was led to the County Jail and booked to begin his term at the prison camp.

Sennes pleaded guilty two weeks ago to obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with a "calendar racket" perpetrated on local merchants half a year ago. His accomplice, J. B. Yellen, was released from custody on probation and a charge against Mrs. Sennes was dismissed.

Sennes, his wife, small child and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sennes appeared in Judge Freeman's courtroom for sentencing. He had been out of jail on bail and as his name was called, walked inside the railing separating the counsel space and the bench from the spectators' section. He stood near the bench while Judge Freeman read a probation report filed by County Probation Officer Mathews.

When Sennes husband's name was called, Mrs. Sennes leaned forward, her eyes following him to the bench. Her hands tore a handkerchief to shreds and tears soon were rolling down her face. It was evident she was in a highly nervous state of mind.

Judge Freeman finished the reading of the probation report, asked Sennes, who appeared without an attorney, if there was any legal reason why sentence should not be pronounced, and, told there was none, said:

"It is ordered probation be denied and the defendant required to serve three months in the County Jail."

Mrs. Sennes's shrill, hysterical scream from the spectators' gallery was heard from one end of the Courthouse to the other.

"No, no," she shouted, running to her husband, with outstretched arms.

HIS "VENGEANCE" STILL IN DOUBT

Prisoner Swears He'll Get Even With Cops; Tries to Sell Them Stock

ONTARIO, July 29.—W. J. Davis, 43 years of age, 425 South Fremont avenue, Los Angeles, believes in passing a good thing along, but his kindness fell on deaf ears at local police headquarters.

It may have been his method of seeking the revenge he promised, according to members of the department.

Davis was arrested for being drunk, and at that time vowed he would "get even" with the cops. After he paid his fine to Judge George R. Holbrook he went back to the police station.

There he beamed upon the patrolmen and desk sergeant and said that he had been treated so kindly he would let them buy some of the oil stock he had for sale. Whether it was vengeance or kind-heartedness wasn't decided, but no cash sales were registered.

FAMILY TREE UPHOLDS SITTERS

Mothers Rally to Support of Their Branches and Give Them Leave to Remain Out on Limb, No Matter if Child Labor Law Officer Objects

SANTA BARBARA, July 29.—With child-labor-law officials here crying that "tree-sitting" is injurious to youthful health, and the mothers of two local boys trying for the city in-the-tree-remaining endurance championship hostile to any effort to remove their offspring from the branches, a lively battle of wits and the law and may-be physical struggle looms.

"They are not going to take my son out of the tree," said Mrs. Tom Decker, mother of Neal, the 10-year-old holder of the municipal record to date as the 100th hour of sitting was concluded at 8 o'clock tonight.

"Nor mine, either," asserted Mrs. E. J. Travis, fond parent of Jean, 13 years old, who is two hours behind. The boys are supplied with food, sandy, playthings and nick-nacks by the two mothers during the day and night, with an occasional brother or sister or friend helping out.

Deputy C. B. Sullivan of the labor-law enforcement department warned both of the mothers that they would have to get their sons out of the trees or be subject to arrest. Both parents defied the officer and told him he would have to climb the tree himself to get the boys out.

Both of the youths have said they would not come down for days yet.

"If that officer comes up after me I'll sock him," said Neal.

"If he starts after me I'll throw walnuts at him," declared Jean.

The labor-law deputy asserts the tree-sitting is injurious to the health of the boy. "My boy never looked better," said Mrs. Decker. "The tree-sitting is better for him than any of those fancy recreation camps and vacation schools. He is getting fat, and he likes to live out in the open. The doctors will have to examine him before I'll let them take him from the tree, because the stunt is not hurting his health."

DOG'S HEROISM RECOGNIZED

Duke, Scotch Collie that Saved Child's Life from Rattlesnake, Gets Ribbon for Bravery

REDLANDS, July 29. Duke, Scotch collie, owned by William Hudson, secretary of the Fitts campaign here, has a new ribbon presented him by a Pasadena newspaper for outstanding bravery. Two years ago the Hudsons lived on a homestead in Pipes Valley on the desert side of Mt. San Gorgonio. They had obtained Duke from his former Redlands owner, H. S. Holley.

Camilla, a small daughter of the Hudsons, accompanied by Duke and several children were strolling in the desert region one morning, when the child, unmindful of impending disaster, approached a ledge on which a rattlesnake was poised ready to strike. The dog, sensing the danger, grapped the child's dress in his teeth and dragged her away. Later the children killed the snake. C. Bradley Ward of Pasadena, who was visiting the Hudsons at the time of the incident, entered Duke in the newspaper's recent heroic animals contest. Duke won one of the ten honor ribbons given as prizes. It was received here today.

Clarence Muse in Musical at Vine Street

Clarence Muse, Negro songster and comedian, is appearing in "Oh, Judge," new musical farce, at the Vine-street Theater.

Muse scored in "Hearts in Dixie," Fox feature, and next achieved note in "Mississippi Gambler," produced by Universal. His latest cinema roles have been in "Swing High," Pathe's circus special, and in "Rain or Shine," Columbia's new feature starring Joe Cook.

In "Oh, Judge," he plays the part of a chicken vendor who is sentenced by a night court judge to fourteen days on a health farm. His song numbers are "Pickin' Chicken" and "Keep on Smiling."

SEVEN TALKIE FILMS BEGUN

In support of Jesse L. Lasky's recent announcement to the effect the nation is on the threshold of an era of genuine prosperity in all lines of business, seven all-talking pictures went into production simultaneously yesterday at the Paramount studio.

The launching of these films follows Lasky's statement that during the months of July, August and September a total of thirty-one features would be in production at the Southern California plant. At the present time, eleven pictures are being filmed; five others are in the cutting rooms and two are in the final stages of preparation and awaiting camera calls.

PATHE PLANS TO FILM "REBOUND"

E. B. Derr, Studio President, Announces Purchase

Noted Mexican Player Signs With Paramount

Vivian Tobin Receives Offer to Play in Pictures

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Following up its policy of buying good story and stage material for talking pictures, Pathe yesterday anneunced it had bought the talking screen rights to "Rebound," Donald Ogden Stewart's brilliant comedy success, and one of the outstanding hits of the current season on Broadway.

E. B. DERR.

"Rebound" has been one of the most sought after theatrical properties in some time, particularly following its immediate success at the Belasco Theater here, where it is now current.

No star or director has been selected as yet, but it is known that nothing will be spared to make the play one of the most important of this year's Pathe pictures.

The announcement of the purchase was made yesterday by E. B. Derr, president in charge of production at Pathe.

MEXICAN PLAYER WITH PARAMOUNT

The foreign actor is once more to be a menace to the regular Hollywood actor, after all, it seems, though he was supposed to be vanquished by the talkers.

Now it is Robert Rey, a handsome young Mexican who has been singing in Paris, who has been signed by Paramount on a long-term contract. This signing followed his meeting in Europe with officials of the concern and after they had seen the Spanish pictures in which he had appeared for Paramount in Paris.

Robert Rey will start for Hollywood from Europe almost immediately, and that organization is already looking up stories for him. He is said to have been a success in Mexican drama before going to Europe. There is, it is said, something of a likeness to Valentino about the youth.

Caryl Lincoln Signed

Caryl Lincoln, who of late has been lending her talents and charms to Paramount, has just been signed by Trem Carr.

CARYL LINCOLN

She will play the leading feminine role in "The Land of Missing Men," which title does sound like another prison story, if you ask me. Bob Steele is starred in the picture, which is to be produced by Tiffany.

Miss Lincoln, will be remembered, was chosen as a Wampas Baby Star in 1929. She was the only one of the group that year from California.

Vivian Tobin For Pictures

Now that Genevieve Tobin is daily intrenching herself more firmly in the talking pictures, it is on the cards, we learn, that sister Vivian Tobin is likely also to cast her lot with the talkers in Hollywood.

Genevieve is now busy playing the lead in a Universal picture, and Vivian is in the East. If the former continues to like the films as much as she does now, her sister will accept a film offer already made to her.

Blanche Sweet In It

Blanche Sweet, we learn, is scheduled to play a featured role in "The Silver Horde," which R.-K.-O. is producing. The part, it is said, calls for an accomplished actress, and Miss Sweet has been selected after screen and talking tests of many players had been made.

Blanche Sweet

The actress, as everybody knows, has an amazing array of successes to her credit, her last big role being that of Anna Christie in the silent version. Her acting in that part remains after four or five years as one of the memorable characterizations of the screen.

Stars May Quit Producing

Though nothing definite could be learned yesterday regarding the matter, it is reported on excellent authority that Mary Pickford may produce one more picture, and then will sign with Joe Schenck, he to act as producer and she merely as United Artists' star. It is quite definitely settled, however, that she will not leave pictures.

Douglas Fairbanks, however, is very likely, according to our information, to quit both playing and producing. He will appear in "Reaching for the Moon," for which he is under contract, but his plans after that are indefinite. It is known that he does not care to appear in talking pictures.

Pat Harmon's Narrow Escape

An entirely unpremeditated and very thrilling ending to a scene was furnished yesterday when Pat Harmon, well-known character actor became overbalanced and fell into the sea from a steamer being used in an R.-K.-O. picture.

The company, headed by Nick Basil and Henry Armata, were working on the steamer near San Pedro, in rough water, when Harmon, standing on the railing, took a tumble. He landed amidst a flock of tug boats which threatened for a moment to crush him, but managed to swim clear of them. The cameraman ground, and the director decided to let it go at that.

MUNI TO TRY OUT PLAY

Pasadena is previewing for Broadway.

Paul Muni appears tomorrow night at the Pasadena Community Playhouse in a modern drama, "The Man Saul." He plans to open this play by Sidney Robert Buchman in New York early in October.

Muni was for sixteen years with the Yiddish Art Players and then starred in "We Americans" and "Four Walls." Marion Clayton, chosen as leading lady, spent the last season with the Los Angeles Civic Repertory company in a variety of characterizations and then was chosen for the sister in the picture, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

James Eagles, stage and screen juvenile; Mike Donlin, former baseball player, Alexander Lockwood, Ben Hall and Jacques Vanaire are included in the cast assembled by Muni for the play.

Samuel S. Hinds, Pasadena attorney and actor, heads the local talent secured by Gilmor Brown. Another local player is Robert Griffin. Fred Moore, Thomas Henry, Onslow Stevenson, Louis Hall and Murray Yeats complete the cast.

COMICS CLAIM NEW RECORD ON STAGE

Saturday marks the 500th performance in Los Angeles and Hollywood on the stage for Frank Mitchell and Jack Durant, headliners in the Grauman prologue, now playing at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

This establishes a record for appearances in Los Angeles by a comedy duo, it is reported. The personal appearances of Mitchell and Durant include a long run in "Hit the Deck," which played at the Majestic Theater; a season with West Coast Theaters for Panchon and Marco, Orpheum and R.-K.-O., and now, their present assignment, which will continue until the current picture, "Hell's Angels," closes.

Newspaper Job Provides Start for Luther Reed

Luther Reed, who directed "Dixiana," is another important film executive whose first professional duties were as a sub newspaper reporter.

Advanced to the desk of the drama and music editor, Reed's work led to a contract to direct silent motion pictures, and it was not long before he had gained a reputation for his showmanship.

However, it was not until the advent of talking synchronization and Technicolor, which made possible the production of elaborate musical operettas, that Reed had the opportunity to demonstrate his full abilities, it is said.

"BIG POND" TO CLOSE

Maurice Chevalier's first modern American romance, "The Big Pond," has final showings at the Uptown Theater tomorrow night. Friday "In Old Madrid" opens a three-day engagement.

SYMPHONY OF MOZART APPLAUDED

Bowl Audience Responds Enthusiastically to Other Notable Works

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Mozart Symphony in G minor as conducted by Bernardino Molinari at the Hollywood Bowl last night drew sighs and bravos of appreciation from the large crowd. The second movement was noteworthy for calm, beauty and smooth utterance, the finale for its fiendish tempo. It was excellent Mozart, outstanding for its clarity and charm, not the Mozart of the suave salon, sophisticated and adroit.

The symphony was preceded by an emotional rendition of Beethoven's third "Lenore" overture. There were outbursts of sudden climaxes —too many of them.

"La Procession Nocturne," a light French work too long for its slender inspiration, proved to be a small conception of the idea contained in Lenau's "Faust." Rabaud's principal justification for this hazy atmospheric writing, seemed to be in the skillful orchestration of some banal ideas and one wonders why a conductor who declines to read or play American orchestral scores on the ground that they are not up to standard, wastes time on this sort of European triviality.

Tschaikowsky's delicate scherzo from the Fourth Symphony drew applause which was certainly deserved by the orchestra, for Molinari ran away with the tempo and keeping up with him was a feat. The overture to Rossini's "Semiramide," in authentic opera style, completed the program.

Former Stage Players Cast in New Film

A cast of players with qualified experience on the stage supports Claudette Colbert and Fredric March in "Manslaughter," the screen version of Alice Duer Miller's novel, opening tomorrow at the Paramount Theater.

Emma Dunn, who plays Miss Colbert's aunt, was Gary Cooper's white-haired mother in "The Texan." She has played mother roles on the stage for more than two decades. Natalie Moorhead, seen as Miss Colbert's friend, and Richard Tucker, cast as her attorney, were both in "The Benson Murder Case" and "Shadow of the Law."

Hilda Vaughn, the featured player's maid, is a Broadway actress who for thirty-two weeks on the road played the Jeanne Eagels role in "Rain." She was also seen as the comedy cockney girl in "Three Live Ghosts." G. Pat Collins was the young officer of the law in "The Racket."

"Queen High" will be seen for the last times today.

Cast of Film Farce Chosen by Director

"The Matrimonial Bed," the sophisticated farce which comes to Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater Friday, has a cast personally selected by Michael Curtiz, the director. Only players who have previously appeared in stories and plays of this type were chosen, it is said.

Frank Fay has the role of a French hairdresser. Lilyan Tashman enacts another sophisticated character, while Florence Eldridge, who recently appeared on the stage in "Her Cardboard Lover," essays an important part. James Gleason also appears.

The new Ceballos revue brings the California Collegians direct from their New York appearance in "Fifty Million Frenchmen."

New Plays and Players Noted

NEW YORK, July 29. (Exclusive) Irene Swor, the Wallace Sisters, Rita Raquel and Jean Geddes have been engaged for "Fine and Dandy," the forthcoming Joe Cook musical show.

Donald Novis, known in pictures and on the radio, has been engaged by Arthur Hammerstein for "Launa" now in process of production.

The New York opening of the Martin Mooney-Thomson Burtis play, "Sister of the Chorus," is now scheduled for the middle of October. The play is now running in Chicago and will open in Detroit on August 10. The play called "Seventy-second street," now being cast, is the work of Tom Johnstone, who has written a number of musical comedies. "The Broadway Parade," a revue, with book and lyrics by Clinton Lewis and music by Dixie Brand, is announced for fall production at the Cherry Lane Theater, where Paul Gilmore continues as director.

Carthay Plans Gift Corsages at Premiere

Carthay Circle Theater will present a corsage to each feminine patron when the double occasion of the opening of "Holiday" and the celebration of Ann Harding's birthday takes place August 7, next.

Pathe studio technical officials have been making a survey of the grounds and forecourt of the Carthay Circle, with the thought of furnishing a brilliant electrical display, it is announced.

Edward Griffith directed the new film for Pathe. The cast seen in support of Ann Harding includes Mary Astor, Robert Ames, Edward Everett Horton, Hedda Hopper, William Holden and Creighton Hale.

Will Rogers in "So This is London" closes at the Carthay one week from tonight.

GRAPEWIN IN CAST

Charles Grapewin, former Christy comedy player, has been signed by Paramount for a featured role in "Social Errors."

Vivacious Actress Plays Heroine

Marian Nixon

Will help to unfold the dramatic story in "Scarlet Pages" on Warners' Downtown Theater screen starting Friday. Others in the cast are Elsie Ferguson, John Halliday and Grant Withers.

TOM MOORE RETURNING TO STAGE

Popular Footlight and Film Player Given Role in "Tea for Three"

Tom Moore, who enjoys a large following among stage as among film fans, will be seen behind the footlights starting Sunday matinee when "Tea for Three," a comedy drama, will be presented by Henry Duffy at El Capitan Theater, co-starring Moore with Ernest Glendinning and Gladys George.

Until his recent appearance in two Duffy productions, "This Thing Called Love" and "The Boomerang," the theater-going public had come to look upon Moore as a picture star only, because of his long absence from the stage. However, it was on the stage that Moore first gained prominence in such plays as "The Cup," "Thieves in Clover," "Cock of the Roost" and "King Pin."

"To the Ladies," starring Glenn Hunter, is now in its last week at El Capitan.

'Big House' on Boulevard Bill

Tonight's performances will close the run of "On the Level" at the Boulevard Theater. Victor McLaglen plays a role somewhat reminiscent of his portrayals in "The Cock-eyed World" and "Hot for Paris."

Tomorrow "The Big House" will occupy the screen, with a change of program. Wallace Beery, Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery share honors in the principal leading roles of the heart-stirring prison drama. Leila Hyams is the heroine.

Actress Plans Pleasure Tour

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. (Exclusive)—Fay Bainter, who is appearing here in "Caprice," has announced her intention of sailing for Norway and Sweden on August 16. Miss Bainter is planning the trip as a pleasure tour, she said. Any contracts for motion-picture work which the actress has contemplated or actually signed for will, according to her plans, be postponed until her return.

NEW PICTURE HAS WESTERN LOCALE

William Haines

"Way Out West," described as a "wild and woolly film," will be the feature screen attraction at Loew's State Theater starting tomorrow. William Haines heads the cast of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer players in this picture. Others are Leila Hyams in the leading feminine role, Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards.

On the stage the Meglin Kiddies will present new dancing tricks individually and in ensemble. Fanchon and Marco will also present something called a cameo fashion parade.

NEW SEASON TO OPEN AT CRITERION

"Our Blushing Brides," Starring Joan Crawford, Feature on Screen

Greater Talkie Season of 1930-31 will start at the Criterion Theater Friday with the premiere of "Our Blushing Brides," starring Joan Crawford. Gov. Young and Mayor Porter have both sent letters, according to the theater management, which will be made public at the Criterion on that day.

One of the features of the opening day of the picture will be the presentation of two shamrocks to Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery, symbolizing that "Our Blushing Brides" is the third talkie in which Miss Crawford has appeared, and also that the film is the third M.-G.-M. production to play at the Criterion in recent weeks.

A fashion show on the screen will be included on the new program, in which Gwen Lee, Mary Doran, Norma Drew, Wilda Mansfield, Catherine Moylan, Claire Dodd and others will take part.

ORGANISTS HEAR FINE PROGRAM

Association Convenes at First Baptist Church; Many in Attendance

The twenty-third annual convention of the National Association of Organists gathered at Francis Chapel of First Baptist Church yesterday morning for its opening session, presided over by Harold V. Milligan of New York, president. About 130 representative organists from all over the United States were assembled when Dr. Roland Diggle, the Los Angeles host, welcomed them to the city.

Dr. Diggle introduced Rev. Herbert Booth Smith, who gave an address of welcome; Rt. Rev. Robert B. Gooden, who spoke of his early association with organists, and Harold V. Milligan, national president.

Mr. Milligan, who is organist of Dr. Raymond Fosdick's church in New York City, and also at the head of the National Music League, elicited a warm response from his audience as he spoke of the friendliness and helpfulness of the aims of the national association, the need for dignified publicity for organists and the advisability of united organists' organizations.

Miss Jane Whittemore of New Jersey, acting secretary, gave reports of the last annual meeting which was held in Toronto, and read the financial report, which showed substantial gain. Nominating and resolution committees were appointed and the session adjourned to hear the prize-winning composition by Edward St. Breck, played by Arthur W. Poister of Redlands.

After a luncheon meeting at the Chapman Park Hotel the delegates heard a recital at B'nai B'rith Temple by Mrs. Lily Wadhams Moline-Hallam of Chicago of her own compositions. The "Osannare" on this program attracted most favorable comment. John Doane of New York City gave a program of classics among which was a little known but beautiful fantasia by Mozart. As an encore he added a Lemaire transcription of Liszt.

James Shearer of Pasadena read a paper on choir repertoire which was illustrated by the First Presbyterian Choir of that city and in the evening Clarence Mader and the Smallman church choir gave a program.

Universal Will Release 'Storm'

As a compliment to S. M. Lazarus, managing director of the Lazarus-Vinnicof Theater circuit, the Universal studios have arranged the release of "The Storm" for August, allowing the local chain the opportunity of having a dual world premiere of the production.

The Strand Theater in Long Beach recently acquired by the Lazarus-Vinnicof theater chain will show "The Storm" day and date with the Million Dollar here.

The opening at Long Beach will be more of a formal occasion, while the Million Dollar will open its doors at the regular morning hour.

CONSERVATIVES IN FULL POWER

Victory of Canadian Party Decisive and General

Premier-elect Bennett Sees "National Development"

Return to Two-Party Plan Indicated by Result

OTTAWA, July 29. (AP)—A smashing, Dominion-wide victory at yesterday's polls has returned the Conservative party to power in Canada for the first time since the World War, and has placed R. B. Bennett, 60-year-old Calgary bachelor and political veteran, at the helm of state as Premier-elect.

Tonight, with three House of Commons seats still in doubt out of 245, the Conservatives had won 137 seats, the Liberals eighty-five, the United Farmers ten, the Liberal Progressives and the Laborites three apiece and the Progressives and the Independents two each.

CONTROL ASSURED

Even if the opposition wins all the contests still undetermined, the Conservative government, replacing the nine-year regime of the Liberals and Prime Minister King, is sure of out-and-out control of the Dominion Parliament.

The Conservative majority is large enough to match the combined strength of all opposing parties and to leave a margin of twenty-eight votes.

VICTORY GENERAL

The Conservative victory was as general as it was decisive, and it is hailed as marking a return to a two-party system in which no minority group will hold a balance of power. The Liberal government has depended for its majorities, many times since 1921, on the support of scattered blocs outside its ranks. A coalition government made up of Liberals and Conservatives preceded the King administration.

Prime Minister-elect Bennett, in a statement today, declared Conservative policies have been accepted by Canada "as the instrument of national development" and expressed gratification that "every Province of the Dominion has contributed to the result."

NEW PREMIER HAS MEANS

The new Premier is a man of means with a background of experience which ranges from New Brunswick in Eastern Canada where he was born and admitted to the bar, to Alberta in Western Canada, where he has made his home since 1897 and where he has become known as a lawyer and a man of affairs.

Results by provinces of yesterday's vote showed that only in the provinces of Quebec and Saskatchewan did the Liberals return a majority over the Conservatives. In Quebec thirty-nine Liberals were elected to the House, and only twenty-five Conservatives. Saskatchewan elected eleven Liberals and seven Conservatives.

Ontario elected sixty Conservatives and twenty-one Liberals; Manitoba eleven Conservatives and one Liberal; Nova Scotia ten Conservatives and four Liberals; New Brunswick ten Conservatives and one Liberal; Alberta four Conservatives and three Liberals; British Columbia six Conservatives and one Liberal; Prince Edward Island three Conservatives and a Liberal, and Yukon a Conservative.

RETRIBUTIVE TARIFF EXPECTED AT EARLY DATE

TORONTO, July 29. (NANA)—The establishment of the protective tariff policies of the new Conservative government, which will be formed as a result of yesterday's Canadian election, will probably effect considerable reduction in the volume of the United States' export trade to Canada. Any estimate of the loss of this business to American manufacturers is impossible until the tariff changes proposed by R. B. Bennett, who becomes Canadian Prime Minister, are revealed at the autumn special session of Parliament, which the Conservative chieftain pledged himself to summon.

There is, however, little doubt that early tariff readjustments promised by Mr. Bennett will include retributive provisions against the products of the United States. During the last session of Parliament and throughout his campaign, the Conservative leader urged the necessity of a rejoinder to the recently increased United States tariff and Conservatives in Canada feel that they owe their success to the desire of the Canadian people for protection to home industry and products against foreign competition.

Even in trade with other parts of the British Empire, Mr. Bennett has indicated Canada will be his first consideration and while he will put forward every effort toward the development of empire trade, all preferences and agreements granted by Canada to the Motherland or to her sister dominions will have to be mutually advantageous to both parties.

Grape Campaign Chief Now Head of Raisin Pool

FRESNO, July 29. (AP)—Wylie M. Giffen, former president of Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association, and more recently in charge of the State-wide campaign committee for the California Grape Control Board, today was named as president of the California raisin pool. The pool is a newly organized co-operative participating in the control board set-up.

Following the meeting Giffen announced that steps are being taken to delay the announcing of opening prices by the pool until September 1.

California Plant Goes Under Ban

SALEM (Or.) July 29. (AP)—Gov. Norblad today gave his approval to the order of the State Board of Horticulture declaring a quarantine against strawberry plants.

The board charges the California plants have a disease known as "strawberry yellows."

TWO DIE IN BLAZING PLANE

Charles E. Anderson, Jr., Los Angeles Broker, and Companion Trapped as Machine Crashes

MADISON (Wis.) July 29. (Exclusive)—Charles E. Anderson, Jr., 29 years of age, Los Angeles broker, temporarily living in Chicago, and George A. Morgan, 22, of St. Paul, were killed today when an airplane Anderson was flying fell 150 feet into a marsh near the Madison airport. Neither was injured severely by the crash, but were unable to extricate themselves from the safety belts before the plane caught fire and burned.

The men were flying a new Great Lakes trainer powered with a Cirrus motor which they kept at the Curtiss Airport in Chicago, whence the flyers started on a journey to St. Paul early today.

Anderson recently obtained a private pilot's license and Morgan was a transport pilot.

The pilot did not take advantage of the full length of the field in taking off, airport pilots said, putting the plane into the air after only a short run and, contrary to custom, the flyers took off cross-wind instead of directly into the wind. Without sufficient altitude the plane approached a grove of trees which obstructs one side of the airport and the pilot swerved down wind to avoid them.

The plane wobbled and fell and at once caught fire.

Anderson maintained a temporary residence in Chicago. He is said to have had a wife and child in Deauville, France.

Anderson and Morgan jointly owned two airplanes which they were testing in Chicago preparatory to flying to Los Angeles, where they planned to start a flying school.

HUGE RAIL CONTRACT AWARDED

Work to Start at Once on $10,000,000 Project of Western Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. (AP)—Contracts for construction of a 112-mile extension of the Western Pacific Railroad from Keddie to Bieber, Cal., were awarded today to the W. A. Bechtel Company of San Francisco and the Utah Construction Company of Ogden, Utah.

The construction when linked with an eighty-eight-mile extension to be built by the Great Northern from Klamath Falls, Or., to Bieber, will connect the trunk systems and permit entry of the Great Northern into the San Francisco Bay region from the north.

The project will cost approximately $10,000,000, officials of the Western Pacific announced as they awarded the joint contract. The railroad estimated $4,500,000 will be spent for labor and $4,800,000 for material, the balance being for rights of way and engineering.

Timber and agricultural regions of Northern California and Southern Oregon will be served. The Western Pacific link will swing northward through Plumas and Lassen counties midway between the Sacramento Valley and the Nevada boundary.

Work will be started immediately.

CENSUS OF TWO STATES GIVEN OUT

New Jersey and Florida Figures Released With New York City Recheck

ASBURY PARK (N. J.) July 29. (AP)—Preliminary official census figures give New Jersey a population of 4,002,568, Albert Heinroth, census supervisor for the Eleventh District, announced today. This is an increase of 846,868, or 20.7 per cent.

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—A new State total for Florida slightly smaller than that given out in that State was made public today by the United States Census Bureau. The State's population is set at 1,465,969, an increase of 497,499, or 51.4 per cent. Previously it had been estimated as 1,486,635.

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—New York City's population was announced by the Census Bureau as 6,959,195, an increase of 1,339,147, or 23.8 per cent.

This figure, based on a careful recheck of returns, was larger than the 6,958,792 announced by the New York supervisor.

Gambling Curb Plans Explained by Ortiz Rubio

MEXICO CITY, July 29. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio, in an interview with newspaper men today said reports that all gaming houses in Lower California would be closed, which gained circulation several months ago, were due to "confusion."

He said there are certain concessions in Lower California which the government is bound by law to respect and the orders which were issued were for the closing of those gaming establishments which did not have concessions.

It is the government's desire not to allow the creation of new gambling houses, the President said, and recently orders were sent out to close a number of such establishments at various border points. He reiterated, however, that concessions already granted will be respected.

Chicago Jails Meanest Man

CHICAGO, July 29. (AP)—Charged with refusing to give blood to his anemic baby, Leo Bloteaux was sent to jail today after Judge Hardy had termed him "the meanest man in the world."

Bloteaux also was charged with cruelty and failure to support his wife, who works in a factory.

SENATOR SIMMONS ENTERS HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 29. (AP)—Senator Purnifold M. Simmons, North Carolina, 76-year-old dean of the Senate, has entered a Washington hospital to regain strength after his labors in the tariff debate. His condition is reported as not serious.

TURCO-PERSIAN CLASH IMPENDS

Troops Massed on Border and Sharp Note Sent

ISTANBUL (Turkey) July 29. (AP) With at least 70,000 Turkish soldiers ranked along the Turco-Persian and Turco-Irak frontiers, the Turkish government today meant serious business with a note to Persia complaining against Kurdish incursions into Turkish territory.

Well-informed circles say the note calls on Persia to cede to Turkey the Aydagh district. This lies between the Turco-Persian and Russo-Persian frontiers, and by it the Kurdish rebels are enabled to escape from the besieging Turks.

It is forecast here Persia will refuse to cede Aydagh and Turkey will take it by force.

Studebaker's epochal contribution to motoring—the sensation of 1930!

WHAT is Free Wheeling?

This is the question thousands of motorists are asking.

Free Wheeling is the second milestone in automobile development.

The first was the electric starter in 1912.

The second is Free Wheeling with positive control, pioneered by Studebaker in 1930—an exclusive Studebaker feature, manufactured under Studebaker patents, and available only in the new President and Commander Eights.

Due to Free Wheeling with positive control, you can shift from high to second, back and forth, at 40—50 miles an hour, and never touch the clutch. You need use the clutch only to start or back up.

For the first time in a motor car you get the full benefit of momentum automatically. When your car has traveled 10,000 miles, your engine has "worked" only 8,000 miles.

The braking power of your engine is available as readily as in conventional cars. Yet your car glides along, in gear and fully controlled, but free and silent as though there were no gears. When you are Free Wheeling your car only seems to be coasting—actually your clutch is engaged and the gears are in mesh.

You save 12 per cent on gasoline, 20 per cent on oil—even more in heavy traffic. Strains on engine, transmission and rear axle are lessened; tire life is lengthened.

There is nothing new to learn—for driving the new President and Commander Eights is simplicity itself. Your steering gear rights itself after a turn—the car swings to "straight ahead"—holds its course true without your tugging at the wheel.

Words and phrases cannot adequately describe the sensation of Free Wheeling with positive control, but a demonstration will make it clear to you.

The new President and Commander Eights are larger, more beautiful, with many refinements, but above all, they give you Free Wheeling with positive control, which cannot be obtained in any other cars in America.

Come, experience for yourself the first really new development in motoring in years—an achievement of Studebaker's 28 years of manufacturing progress.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At the bottom of the gorge, von Harben found the meadowland was treacherous and impassable, but he and Gabula finally discovered firm footing in the bed of the river. As the water reached only to their waists, they were able to walk, for a great distance, feeling their way cautiously.

Presently they came to a clump of papyrus and von Harben started to clamber to the solid footing of the roots. But just then a canoe shot from behind a mass of floating plants and von Harben and Gabula found themselves covered by the weapons of a boatload of ebon warriors.

The spears the savages carried were unlike any von Harben had seen in modern Africa and their swords were exactly like the swords of the Imperial Legionaries of ancient Rome that the young student had seen in museums. "You are prisoners!" the leader said.

Surprise and incredulity were reflected on von Harben's face, for the black spoke in Latin. Further conversation revealed that it was Latin corrupted by a Bantu dialect. The prisoners were ordered into the dugout, where they were seized by the savages and hurled to the bottom of the craft.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—An early decline in cotton which carried the market back to within a few points of the July levels touched last week was followed today by rallies on covering and some scattered buying which appeared to be promoted by the failure of weather advices to show any decided improvement in the Southwest. Advances met a renewal of realizing or liquidation, however, and after selling up from 13.46 to 13.60 for the new October contract, prices lost part of the gain with the midafternoon market about net unchanged to 4 points higher.

STANDARD WIDENS OIL HUNT

California Company Seeks Permission to Exploit Borneo, Royal Dutch Territory

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Right into the backyard of the Royal Dutch-Shell group the Standard Oil Company of California is pushing its search for additional reserves of crude oil. Yesterday's news dispatches told of an application by the California Standard Company for a concession from the Netherlands government in Borneo, in the Dutch East Indies, where the Royal Dutch made its start.

Royal Dutch-Shell's American subsidiary, the Shell Union Oil Corporation, is an active competitor of the Standard Oil Company in the California fields. This rivalry might explain the American company's decision to enter into Far Eastern drilling, but it is more likely that a far more important reason is uppermost.

SEARCH PERSISTS

Standard of California, like any other of the world's largest oil companies, is intent on acquiring acreage and building up reserves wherever there is a possibility of oil development. This company and the New Jersey Standard are perhaps the two most active American companies in this respect, and their prospecting activities extend into virtually every corner of the globe.

California Standard, as well as the Jersey company, is particularly well fortified with domestic oil lands. Its Kettleman Hills holdings are rated without parallel as a reserve, and its West Texas acreage is not far behind. But these possessions evidently are not sufficient to protect the company against the petroleum demand envisaged in the years to come.

For the last ten years Standard of California has been pushing its foreign exploratory work. Millions of dollars have been spent in geologizing and testing foreign lands. Some of this work has undoubtedly produced satisfactory results, although the company has commented only casually, and some has been worthless.

RESULTS REPORTED

In Venezuela the Standard controls 577,000 acres on which, in the State of Falcon, a 1500-barrel well of 37-deg. gravity oil was brought in last year. This well is now shut in while further development work proceeds. Two test wells are drilling on 170,000 acres in Colombia, and geologizing is still under way on 446,000 acres in Mexico.

Standard's geologists, its drillers and its hard money have gone in the last several years into Argentina, Ecuador, Panama, Philippine Islands and Alaska. These efforts were fruitless, and activities abandoned. The Philippine campaign was the most extensive and cost several million dollars before the hunt was called off.

Most recent of the foreign ventures prior to the proposed entry into Borneo was the organization of a subsidiary to exploit a concession on the Bahrein Islands in the Persian Gulf. Nothing further has been heard from this expedition.

KOLSTER REVAMPING PENDS

Court Asked for Writ Ordering Acceptance of Reorganization Plan of Underwriter

NEWARK (N. J.) July 29. (AP)—E. P. Woodward & Co., Inc., has asked the Chancery Court to order acceptance of its reorganization plan for the Kolster Radio Corporation, of Newark, N. J., and San Francisco, now in the hands of receivers.

The petitioners propose to underwrite the plan under which the corporation would be reorganized with a capital of 5,000,000 shares of no-par common stock and an authorized issuance of $4,500,000 convertible debenture bonds. Holders of Kolster common would receive one share of the new for three of the old, with the additional right to buy one share of new stock at $10.50 for each new share issued in exchange.

The offer is contingent upon willingness of Rudolph Spreckels, Frederick Diedrich and National City Bank of New York to settlement of their claims, which aggregate $2,518,076. Spreckels and Diedrich would be paid in stock.

Vice-Chancellor Alonzo Church has set September 16 for a hearing on the petition.

A report to the court by Special Master John A. Bernhard did not sustain the allegations of "market rigging" laid against Spreckels, Maurice C. Rypinsku and Frederick Diedrich, directors of the company, but Bernhard made no recommendation for dismissal of the charges.

Mr. Bernhard said the men had participated in a syndicate operated by George F. Breen. "They supplied the stock, and Breen doled it out to the public," he said.

He also charged that a circular letter sent out by Spreckels misled many investors as to the true condition of the company. "It is obvious that the inference could be drawn," Bernhard said, "that the investment was sound. The fact is that the company was experiencing financial losses."

"While I realize that those who invested in Kolster stock have sustained tremendous losses, the result cannot be charged to the acts or conduct of any officer of the company."

Rate Per Share $3.66 Lower Than Record Mark

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP) — The United States Steel Corporation today reported total second-quarter earnings of $47,061,304, compared with $49,615,397 in the March quarter, and $71,995,461, the peace-time record, in the second three months of 1929.

Profit for the second quarter was equal to $3.02 per share of common. This compared with $3.44 in the previous quarter, and $6.68 in the three months ending June 30, 1929.

A statement by the finance committee said plants of the corporation were operating at about 63 per cent of capacity, and indications in the industry pointed to an increase in this rate during the remainder of this quarter, with an improvement in volume during the last three months of the year.

Net income for the last quarter was $32,126,717, against $35,777,807 in the first three months of 1930, and $53,825,843 in the second quarter last year.

Unfilled orders on hand June 30 totaled 3,968,064 tons, in contrast with 4,570,653 on March 31, and 4,256,910 a year ago.

Directors declared the usual quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on common and preferred stock.

NEW TRADE SLUMP VERSION

Investment House Economist Attributes Present Depression to Lack of Leadership

(This is the third of a series of articles appearing at intervals on the trend of commodity prices and its influence on the purchasing power of money.)

BY FERDINAND LUNDBERG

The international trade and industrial depression can be blamed on lack of economic leadership, in the opinion of Max Winkler, author and editor of several books on financial subjects and economist and vice-president of Bertron, Griscom & Co., New York investment house.

Mr. Winkler, who entertains pronounced differences of opinion with orthodox economists, believes that the present trade depression has its roots in the cessation of lending abroad by American bankers. Resumption of such lending, he believes, would stimulate buying in the American markets through credits set up for foreign account in New York.

Concerning predictions as to the future Mr. Winkler is dubious. He stated that he believes commodity prices will probably go lower, with some increase in the purchasing power of the dollar. Unless some method is used to bring foreign buyers into our markets, however, he has no idea what the trend will be.

CYCLE IDEA HIT

"We will undoubtedly recover from the present trade depression, but when, or how, I do not know. I have no faith in the charting of business cycles and the pseudo-science of economics. What we need is common sense. That alone can solve our difficulties and give us a clew as to where we are going. I don't say that if foreign lending is not resumed business will collapse entirely. I don't believe that. But if the American public is educated to see the advantages of lending abroad I believe business conditions can become much better."

The fact that about $1,000,000,000 of foreign obligations are now lying unsold in the vaults of American bankers Mr. Winkler attributes to a false sense of caution on the part of the American public.

"Of money lent abroad since the war," Mr. Winkler said, "not one dollar left this country permanently. The investor bought bonds and the money stayed here, being paid to various industries for goods needed abroad. If this country, as a creditor nation, wishes to sell goods abroad it must lend money to people who need it, raise their standard of living, and create a need for our vacuum cleaners, radios, washing machines, lawn mowers, and other equipment.

DEMURRER ENTERED

"Economists say we are suffering from overproduction and that is why commodity prices have come down. I don't know. It may be underconsumption we are suffering from. There are millions of people in the world who would be glad to use our goods if we could arrange some method of getting this surplus into their hands. The depression now under way is world-wide, which shows the pronounced interdependence of one country on the others. If Brazil has trouble with her coffee situation, as she is now having, she buys less goods from us, and from England, and from Germany. If the price of tin drops, as it has, Bolivia suffers, because about 90 per cent of her industry is concentrated in the mining of tin. When the tin industry is depressed Bolivia naturally orders less from our country. The recent trade figures illustrate all these various points of interdependence perfectly.

"The position of the United States is unique in history. We are not only an enormous producer of goods but we are a big dispenser of credit. The two have never before gone hand in hand, not in the case of England and Germany and France surely and not in the case of any

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—Trading in railroad bonds assumed large proportions today, and a mixed trend in this group was characteristic of the whole listed market.

While best grade rails and utilities were steady, sharp changes occurred among secondary issues, with the movement in several measured in points instead of fractions. There was heavy trading in convertible obligations of several carriers.

French 7½s climbed to a record high price to set the pace for the foreign dollar bonds which displayed group strength. Expanded dealings in United States governments, however, were at moderate fractional recessions.

The best grade rails showed marked resistance to the pressure against carriers, which apparently was partially influenced by the continued reports of decreases in earnings. Market leaders remained practically stationary. Wide fluctuations in less active bonds included Chicago and Alton issues, up about 6 points, and Northern Pacific 4s, up 2½.

American Telephone 4½s and Atchison 4½s dropped a point or more and St. Paul adjustment 5s sold off 2 points. Rock Island 4½s and International Telephone 4½s lost about ½ point each. American I. G. Chemical 5½s were up more than 1 point.

In the quiet trading in utilities, American Telephone debenture 5s advanced ½ point to a new top.

French 7½s were the most active issue of the foreign group, and rose ¾ to reach 125¾, the best figure of the year. Mexican issues sagged.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Bolsa Chica Encounters Selling Pressure; Other Stocks Hold Close to Previous Levels

With price movements in all but two issues limited to fractional net changes, the active stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday held close to their recent prevailing levels. While the trading gave evidence of expanding into stocks that have been quiet recently, there was no definite trend to be detected.

The volume was lower than on the preceding day, largely due to a decrease in Transamerica trading from 24,000 shares on Monday to 10,400 shares yesterday. The selling of Transamerica was well absorbed. Its opening sale was 100 shares at 21 3-4, the same as the previous close. Shortly after the opening the stock advanced to 22, dipped fractionally and then made 22 5-8, the day's high. After reacting to 21 7-8, it regained 22 before noon and in the afternoon was never below 22, closing strong at 22 3-8, a net gain of 5-8.

Bolsa Chica Oil "A," which has had a steady advance recently, encountered selling pressure which forced the price down to 12 from the day's high of 14 1-4 and after a turnover of 2300 shares the closing price of 12 1-4 was off 2 1-8. Gilmore Oil on two blocks of 500 shares each at 17 was up 1-8. Macmillan Petroleum and Pacific Western Oil both held at 16 and Republic Petroleum closed unchanged at 2.75.

Signal Gas and Oil on a sale of 100 shares, moved up 1 to 29. Union Associates gained 1-8 to 40 3-8, while Union Oil remained inactive. Standard of California at 62 3-8 was off 3-8, Richfield was down 1-8 at 17 5-8, and Rio Grande lost 1-4 to 17 1-4.

Pacific Finance was strong at 24 1-2, remaining unchanged from the previous close on sales of 800 shares. Security-First National moved up 1-4 to 102 3-4 on a turnover of 500 shares, whereas California Bank on 100 shares lost 1-4 to 104 3-4, a new low for the year. Claude Neon gained 5-8 to 34 7-8, and Southern California Edison eased 1-4 to 58 1-2.

Sales totaled 19,347 shares, valued at $533,997; previous day, 32,386 shares, valued at $817,975.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—Bullish demonstrations in some of the utility stocks lifted the curb market list irregularly higher during most of today's trading, but reactionary tendencies gained ground late and gains and losses about balanced at the close. Sales totaled 452,100 shares.

American Gas and Electric was a strong feature, rising 6 points to 140. The year's high is 157. The upturn was accompanied by unconfirmable rumors of a merger with Commonwealth and Southern. United Light A rose more than 2 but lost about half its rise. Standard Power and Light gained about 2, influenced by revival of the old rumors of a merger with American Water Works. Utility and Industrial, another Eyrlesby issue, was firm.

Electric Bond and Share closed about a point lower. Duke Power dropped 9½, Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line gained about a point.

International Cigar Machinery jumped 9 points, and Aluminum Company 4. In the aviation group, Aviation Corporation lost about 4 and Western Air 2. Columbia Pictures sagged more than a point. Deere and National Title recorded new lows, the former losing 4. Except for Coaden, which rose 2, oils were largely irregular. Coaden preferred pumped 22 points. Mines were helped a little by better copper sales, notably Newmont and Roan Antelope.

Goldman Sachs closed off a fraction at 19½, although the June 30 statement, issued after the close, placed asset value per share at $30.16.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

Price of Corn Tops Wheat on Chicago Mart

CHICAGO, July 29.—(AP)—For the first time since 1919 corn in Chicago today was worth more money per bushel than wheat. It is rare that any delivery of corn commands a premium over a similar delivery of wheat, but July corn closed 1c over July wheat, whereas July wheat finished 2 1/2@3c under July corn.

Influenced by big supplies, wheat values have been under more level this season or two years back, with corn advancing on account of drought news until the last by reports of recent rains.

A sharp finish was witnessed both in wheat and corn, with wheat 1 1/8@1 1/4c and corn more than twenty-four hours premium, closed at 4@5 1/2c net adv. Provisions managed to 1/4c off and provisions closed 5@25c up.

Sudden weather shifted the trend of wheat and forward between both and buying the early deliveries in the final hour, the course of the wheat market had depressing effect on that but most of the time the upward swing of quotations had a rallying influence on corn.

Coming from the outset as the most important depressing factor on wheat were reports that the United States visible supply was more than three times the amount of a year ago, indicating the total promises to increase for three weeks.

Another cause of the Federal Farm Board's action in declaring corn crop was the report since the corn crop report of July 1, when production of corn for the country as a whole amounted to 2,707,000,000 bushels, is the smallest crop known.

Corn closed lower with wheat.

NEWS OF OIL FIELDS

BY PORTER FLINT

The Barnsdall-Cypress combination completed its first well in the Venice field yesterday when Burks No. 1 came in for 2000 barrels of 24-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6280 feet. Pending arrangements for pipe-line facilities to handle its production, the operators are storing the new production and plan to eventually hook up with the Del Rey Oil and Refining Company's pipe line.

Completion of Barnsdall-Cypress' Burks No. 1 is the fourteenth producer in the Venice field since its discovery last December by the Ohio Oil Company. The operator's latest project effected a water shut-off at 6055 feet. It is a short distance west of Ohio's discovery well and due northwest of Burks No. 3 which recently effected a water shut-off at 5894 feet and may be brought in soon.

To offset completions brought in by the Superior Oil Company and the Union Oil Company at the southerly end of the Venice field, Barnsdall-Cypress is preparing to drill No. 13 to protect its holdings. In this portion of the field, Superior's Moses No. 1 came in from a depth of 5640 feet, having found production shallower than any of the other operators.

Nearing Completion

The Richfield Oil Company's Coffin No. 1 in the Potrero townlot area started coming in recently with bottom of the hole at 6258 feet. A delay in operations resulted when accumulated gas in the cellar caught fire in some undetermined manner. Gas pressure in Coffin No. 1 has been strong and indications are that Richfield may complete the deepest producer at Potrero. It recently effected a water shut-off at 6116 feet.

George F. Getty, Inc., is running water witch into Parker No. 4 in the Potrero townlot area as the project came in wet recently with bottom at 5328 feet. The belief is that water may be coming in from the bottom or in around the shoe.

Making Progress

The General Petroleum Corporation is making progress in Moco No. 218 in the Midway district. This project is to be a deep test and will go at least 2500 feet. Shallow production has been obtained at about 1500 feet. The Moco No. 218 is drilling below 1730 feet.

In the Sealiff field General is pulling five-and-three-quarter-inch tubing from Ferguson No. 2, and endeavoring to restore this project to steady production. In the same general vicinity the Richfield Oil Company's Hobson State No. 3 is drilling below 700 feet and the company's Miley-Hobson No. 4 is making progress below 2290 feet.

Meets at Long Beach

The fact-finding committee headed by W. E. Dunlap, chairman, meets at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Pacific Coast Beach Club at Long Beach to set new allowables and potentials for the various producing fields throughout the State.

Indications are that the allowable for the State will be raised, due to the number of excellent producers brought in at Signal Hill, Elwood and in the new Venice

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth between Broadway and Hill—"The Flirting Widow." Dorothy Mackaill does the sporting thing.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"On the Level." A modicum of rough humor, to those who enjoy Victor McLaglen.

California, Main near Eighth—"A Lady to Love," capable, though censored, transcription of They Knew What They Wanted. Good performances by Vilma Banky and Edward G. Robinson.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"So This Is London." Will Rogers goes abroad again, and finds London as funny as Paris.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 667 South Grand—"Romance." Garbo, more glamorous than ever in a picture not equal to the play.

Egyptian, Hollywood Boulevard—"The Border Legion." One of the best of westerns is made funny and exciting by Richard Arlen and Jack Holt.

Francia Celebra el Aniversario de la Abdicación de Carlos X

PARIS, Julio 29.—Ha celebrado hoy el gobierno el centenario de 1830, año en el que París obligó a abdicar al rey Carlos X, y restauró la bandera tricolor. En conmemoración de este suceso histórico, la ceremonia principal de la fiesta que hubo frente al Ayuntamiento fue el acto del presidente Doumergue de izar los colores franceses.

Las Naciones Norte-europeas Se Coaligan

COPENHAGUE, Julio 29.—Dinamarca, Holanda, Suecia y Noruega han formado por su cuenta una especie de Estados Unidos de Europa. Se reunieron hoy en Copenhague delegados de los ministerios de Estado de esos países para discutir los intereses comunes de sus respectivas naciones. El punto principal a discusión fue la reciente modificación del arancel alemán, cuyo aumento de cuotas afecta marcadamente el bienestar de los cuatro estado referidos.

Se Descubre en Méjico una Ciudad Preazteca

TOLUCA (Méjico), Julio 29.—Se ha anunciado hoy uno de los hallazgos arqueológicos más importantes hechos en Méjico de muchos años a esta parte. Se trata del descubrimiento de la ciudad preazteca de Calixtiahuaca, a corta distancia al norte de Toluca. Se han encontrado allí once templos, cierto número de pirámides, y muchos ejemplares valiosos.

Habla Ortiz Rubio Sobre las Casas de Juego

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Julio 29.—En entrevista de hoy con los periodistas, dijo el presidente Ortiz Rubio que había habido "confusión" en la noticia que circuló hace varios meses relativa a que iban a cerrarse todas las casas de juego de la Baja California.

Manifestó que había en dicha península ciertas concesiones que el gobierno tiene por ley que respetar, y que las órdenes libradas se referían tan solo al cierre de aquellos establecimientos de juego que no tenían concesiones.

Es el propósito del gobierno no permitir la apertura de nuevas casas de juego, según dijo el presidente, y no ha mucho se dio orden de cerrar varios establecimientos de esa índol en diversos lugares fronterizos. Empero, con todo, que serían respetadas las concesiones ya otorgadas.

Record de Bajo Costo de Campaña Electoral

WASHINGTON, Julio 29.—Los gastos más pequeños en campaña electoral, de que tenga noticia el senado hasta la fecha, son los erogados por Matthew M. Neely, candidato demócrata para la postulación a senador por Virginia Occidental. Ascienden a 14 centavos, según informe rendido al senado por el candidato, y esa suma fue lo que costó el franqueo postal de la notificación relativa dirigida al ministro de Estado.

Muere en Accidente el Aviador "Sano y Salvo"

YOUNGSTOWN (Ohio), Julio 29. M. D. Smith, que tenía trece años de volar sin novedad, y a quien por tal motivo se le puso por mote "Smith el sano y salvo", se mató aquí anoche al caer de una altura de 300 pies el avión en que iba como pasajero. Llevaba los mandos del aparato un estudiante, a quien de pronto se le paró el motor y se le fue el avión de narices.

El estudiante y aviador, Robert Shugart, de 25 años de edad, se halla en crítica condición con ambas piernas fracturadas.

Las Fregonas de Chicago Suben de Categoría

CHICAGO, Julio 29.—La antigua y noble profesión de fregatriz se está intelectualizando.

Hasta aquí, los principales requisitos de una limpiadora de suelos eran brazos y espalda potentes, y un par de encallecidas rodillas. La ciudad de Chicago, sin embargo, ha dictaminado que eso de aljoffar pisos tiene sus bemoles, y que las que los aljoffan tienen que saber leer, escribir y contestar a un cuestionario.

De 1776 mujeres que sustentaron examen especial en la materia, sólo 771 fueron aprobadas.

Muchas mujeres cuya velocidad y habilidad para fregar con el tosco cepillo nunca han sido puestas en tela de juicio, obtuvieron redondas calabazas en el examen mental, pues muchas no pudieron siquiera leer las preguntas, cuando menos contestar a ellas.

NOTAS LOCALES

Una Promotora de Estaciones de Recreo Acusada de Demencia

La señora Flora A. Carter, quien ha declarado haber gastado $200,000 tratando de establecer una estación de descanso y recreo, como la de Palm Springs, en la región de White Horse (Valle de Coachella), se quedó ayer verdaderamente azorada cuando fueron a arrestarla en su casa, sita en el 2433 de la calle Flower Sur, en obediencia a un exhorto de San Bernardino, donde la citada señora ha sido acusada de demencia.

Dice la señora Carter que ella construyó la Posada del Morrongo en el citado valle, y que está interesada en otros grandes proyectos, incluso el desarrollo de algunas propiedades mineras.

Llevada a la Casa de Socorro de la calle de Georgia, dijo vivir en el 1060 de la calle de Newport, en Long Beach, y declaró que el cargo de demencia ha de haber sido lanzado por algún enemigo, o por algún rival en negocios, que le quiere mermar a ella su crédito comercial.

Los tenientes sheriffs salieron con ella para San Bernardino, donde, dice la señora Carter, no tendrá dificultad en comprobar que está en su cabal juicio.

COURT BARS LAKE TAHOE DITCH PLAN

Injunction Granted After Sheriff and Prosecutor Hold All-Night Vigil

TAHOE CITY, July 29. (AP)—An all-night vigil by the Sheriff and District Attorney of Placer county and Lake Tahoe residents to prevent attempts to divert the lake's water by dynamiting or digging of a ditch was followed today by a court injunction to restrain all attempts to interfere with the lake's rim.

Superior Judge Landis granted the injunction, returnable next Tuesday. It was directed against the Sierra-Pacific Power Company, J. Latourrette and the Latourrette-Pical Company, the Truckee Meadows and Newlands irrigation project and its engineer, Thomas King, the Washoe County Conservation Association, the cities of Reno and Sparks, and forty "John Does."

The injunction was obtained by the Tahoe-Sierra Association and the Tahoe property owners, who contend lowering the lake would irreparably damage their property.

PASADENA VALUES TOP LONG BEACH

Assessor's Figures Place Crown City Above Rival in Annual Seesaw

Pasadena tops Long Beach in this year's total of assessed valuation by more than $10,000,000, it was announced yesterday by County Assessor Hopkins.

In 1929 the beach city led its northern rival by approximately $24,000,000. This year's figures fix the total assessed valuation for Pasadena at $222,126,425, with a total of $212,024,615 for Long Beach. Last year's totals were: Pasadena, $177,673,800; Long Beach, $201,657,250.

Much of Pasadena's gain, Hopkins said, is due to the advance recorded under the items of personal property, securities and solvent credits. Land valuations at Long Beach declined more than $7,000,000, with real estate valuations in Pasadena approximately $10,000,000 below the 1929 figures. This reduction, the assessor said, was general throughout the county.

Los Angeles leads the assessment rolls with a total of $2,538,254,490, which is more than half the aggregate valuation for the entire county.

Figures on other cities and towns throughout the county follow: Beverly Hills, $97,274,545; Glendale, $81,975,855; Santa Monica, $73,353,290; Vernon, $63,437,460; Signal Hill, $34,267,115; Alhambra, $34,028,685; Burbank, $27,363,630; Huntington Park, $24,668,340; Culver City, $16,190,545; El Segundo, $16,186,785; San Marino, $22,412,790; Torrance, $24,594,825; South Pasadena, $20,545,945; South Gate, $16,275,810; Whittier, $15,144,540.

DRIVE WILL BE AIMED AT FIRE PERILS

County Agencies to Aid in Campaign Against Autoists Who Throw Out "Smokes"

Los Angeles county authorities, including the forestry department and the county patrol, will take part in the State-wide drive which will be launched Saturday against violators of the law forbidding the throwing of lighted cigar stumps, cigarette butts and pipe ashes from automobiles on the public highways.

Every law-enforcing agency of each county in the State will be enlisted in the campaign, which will last throughout the summer under the direction of State Fire Marshal Stevens and State Forester Pratt.

According to a communication from the State officers, sent to County Fire Warden Turner the fire hazard will be increased during the next few months because of more travel. Everybody is asked to take part in the campaign by using extra precautions to prevent forest fires.

PIGMY GOLF CURBS ASKED

Strict Supervision of Miniature Courses Urged on Council by Police and Fire Committee

Rigid supervision of miniature golf courses, with a general closing hour of midnight, is contained in a report of the Police and Fire Committee, submitted to the City Council and adopted yesterday.

The City Attorney was instructed to draft and present an ordinance requiring that the courses be closed between midnight and 7 a.m. that all lights be extinguished at that hour, that all work cease in these hours, that the lights be shaded, that noise-making machines be eliminated and that signs be posted asking patrons to refrain from loud and unnecessary noise.

The report also suggests that the health department survey the courses with a view to demanding sanitary arrangements.

The report declares that the preponderance of evidence adduced at the hearing last week is that action must be taken "to curb rowdyism."

The report was signed by Councilmen Martin, Ingram and Williams, members of the committee. The action was inspired by a resolution introduced a few weeks ago by Councilman Webster, pointing out that some ordinance must be drafted to govern the small courses which have sprung up all over the city in the last few months.

A mass meeting of miniature golf-course owners to consider the proposed midnight-closing ordinance has been called for 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Washington and Hill Building, P. B. Wand, representing L. J. Key, president of the Miniature Golf Owners' Association yesterday announced.

"The city has a right to regulate miniature golf courses," said Mr. Wand, "but just now when everybody is crying hard times these miniature courses are putting

CHIEF SAYS SALARY CUT NOT NEEDED

Steckel Tells Commission Department History Shows Funds Will Be Available

Despite the decrease of $30,000 in the Police Department's salary account in this year's budget, Chief of Police Steckel does not think it will be necessary to make any reductions either in salary or personnel of the department, he informed the Police Commission in a communication yesterday. In view of this statement, the commission decided not to take any action toward making such reductions, as is being done in some other city departments.

The confidence of the Chief that no reductions will be necessary is due to the fact that it has been the case for some years that at the end of the year there has always been an unexpended balance in the salary account. The average of the unexpended balance during the past five years has been $80,000.

The economy program of the city administration prevented the Police Commission yesterday from voting to approve a request of Chief Steckel for $1200 to pay the expenses of a pistol team to represent the local department at the annual national championships at Camp Perry, O. For several years past teams representing the local police have won high honors at the championships, but President Thorpe of the commission, in announcing his opposition to sencing the team, asserted that this year "we just haven't got the money."

SUIT HITS RICH PASADENANS

Divorced Daughter-in-Law Files $85,000 Action Against Stillman B. Jamieson, Wife and Son

Charging that she is the victim of a conspiracy in the acceptance of a predivorce property agreement and settlement, Mrs. Hazel Kendall Jamieson yesterday instituted legal proceedings against her former husband, Hamer Herschel Jamieson, his parents, Stillman B. Jamieson and Maurine Jamieson, wealthy Pasadena family, to regain custody of her two children.

In addition to seeking to regain her two young girls, whom she claims are being kept from her in violation of a divorce decree, the mother asks damages of $50,000, as well as the holding of property valued at $35,000 in trust for the use of her children, and that her divorced husband be ordered to pay for her support and costs of the action.

RE-ECHOES DIVORCE ACTION

The complaint, filed in Superior Court by Attorney Keith Carlin for the plaintiff, is an aftermath of a divorce action brought by the wife in which she was granted a decree in Reno, Nev., on February, 10, last.

In bringing her court battle Mrs. Jamieson asserts she entered into a predivorce agreement about December 18, 1929, and that the agreement was the result of a conspiracy between the parents of her husband and Attorney Ivan G. McDaniel, their legal counsel, to destroy the marriage relations that had existed between herself and Jamieson since January 28, 1922. Also, she charges, the conspiracy was brought about to deprive her of the custody of her two children, Maurine Patricia, 6, and Barbara Ann, 1 year of age, and to place them with the elder Jamieson until they were 25 years of age or had married.

The divorced wife also sets out that while her former husband was made a party to the agreement, that he is an insane person, confined in a private institution, and incapable of knowing what he signs and not responsible for his acts. She

SECRETARY WILBUR SCOUTS DELAY TO BOULDER DAM

Construction Start Assured Before End of Fiscal Year, He Says; Legal Attacks Held Futile

Actual construction work on Boulder Dam is expected to be under way before the end of the fiscal year, June 30, next, according to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, who was guest of honor and principal speaker at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday.

"Preliminary surveys are being carried forward by crews now in the field and the first actual work on the dam—the driving of the tunnels to by-pass the river—is expected to begin before the end of the fiscal year," he said in a brief interview following the luncheon. He pointed out that a tremendous amount of engineering work is first to be done and that all engineering data will have to be checked three times before finally approved.

SUITS MINIMIZED

As to the likelihood of the work on the dam being held up by the threatened suit from Arizona, Dr. Wilbur does not fear much from that direction. He said in the course of his talk at the luncheon: "There is no doubt but that some legal obstacles will be put in the way of this project, but it is my belief that when two congresses and two Presidents have put their approval upon a project it will be pretty hard to stay the hand of the administrator of such project with any judicial action."

The noonday luncheon brought together one of the most impressive gatherings of leading men of the community, representatives of many organizations and cities all over the Southland being present. Representatives, mayors from many of the cities and towns, Gov. Young, industrial and financial leaders and engineers were included in the long list of those who sat at the speakers' table.

WILBUR PICTURED

Dr. Wilbur, tall, quiet of demeanor, very much at ease, handling his subject with the assurance of the man of affairs and with interesting forays into history and classics familiar to the scholar, talked on Boulder Dam in its relation to the entire Southwest and the tremendous growth of population. He talked in terms of the West.

"The West," he said at the outset of his talk, "is a place where you have to stretch your vision."

He recalled the story of the traveler from the East who said that whenever he crossed Texas he merely looked out in the morning across the great plains and that look lasted for the rest of the day. And there were many people, the speaker thought, who probably look upon the West from that viewpoint.

HISTORIC MIGRATION

"And yet," he continued, "the future of the great United States of America lies in exactly that kind of country. For thirty years now one of the great migrations of the world has been going on—the movement of the people into the West, and it is now in full course. This migration came into this part of the country when the water first began coming down from Owens Valley. Without the water this migration would not have occurred at all. I doubt that we fully realize the significance of water."

Here he pointed out that many people seem to think that all you have to do is to drill a well into the ground and you can pump water out of it from now on. He likened the pumping to the act of draining a lake and said that unless the underground lake which the pump taps is replenished it goes dry. It takes many years to replenish the underground lake. And so man then turns to the sky and flowing streams for his water supply.

"And when he does that, then

MALIBU ANTICS 'GROUND' FLYER

Pilot Deming to Aid Police as Radio Adviser

Acceptance of Board Made While He Faces Charge

Film Group Files Protest on Menace at Beach

While the Police Commission was accepting his offer to serve as radio technical adviser without charge, Wilford Deming, Jr., 25 years of age, sound engineer and aviator, of 1404 Magnolia avenue, yesterday was "grounded" for a period of thirty days by the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce. The disciplinary action was taken at a hearing of charges preferred by prominent film folk that he had menaced lives last Sunday by swooping his plane perilously close to the sands of Malibu Beach.

Deming's offer, made in his capacity as sound engineer of the Fox studios, is in connection with the commission's proposed establishment of a police broadcasting station for the dissemination of crime information to cruising police cars. He will draft a set of specifications for all necessary equipment.

MAY BE FINED

In addition to being "grounded" Deming will be fined, the amount to be determined by departmental officials at Washington on their receipt of the local inspectors' report, which was forwarded after the hearing yesterday. In the language of the department, the pilot was charged with performing acrobatics at an altitude of less than 1500 feet and with flying at an altitude of less than 500 feet over a populated district, in violation of air commerce regulations. He was present at the hearing and admitted the charges, according to the inspectors, but gave no explanation of them.

FILM GROUP PROTESTS

The petition asking for an investigation was filed with the department Monday by twenty-five residents of the Malibu district, most of whom are prominent in motion-picture circles. It set forth that Deming maneuvered his plane into a power dive while scores of persons, including children, were on the sands, and did not level out and zoom upward again until within eighteen inches of the beach. All those in the path of the plane, it charged, were forced to flee for their lives.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED FOR WALTER MEYERS

Funeral services for Walter Russell Meyers, general manager of the California Industrial Art Company, who died at the Angelus Hospital Monday following an operation for appendicitis, were conducted yesterday at the Ruppe Mortuary, 950 West Washington street. Interment was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mr. Meyers was a major in the Army during the World War and was a former varsity football player at Columbia and Cornell universities. He was 38 years of age. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Norma Katherine Meyers, 250 South Alexandria avenue.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

WE HAVE been having all kinds of excitement down here in San Pedro.

First, it was the student officer young gentlemen firing the big guns at Fort MacArthur. Part of their training for reserve commissions in the Coast Artillery.

THE SCARLET TARGET

There was a thick blanket of fog Saturday morning. Out of this gray curtain of mystery came a navy tug towing a red target—a little scarlet dome that looked like a Liberty Cap swimming through the soup-like sea. It dragged back against the tow line and made a gash in the oily sea as though it were bleeding white foam.

GOOD SHOOTING

From up on the hill behind the park there came a sharp, cracking noise; then a long noise as though some one were tearing silk. That was the shell on the way to the target.

An interval that seemed very long; then a splash out in the water, the first shot went high and to the left. Two more shots high and to the left. Then the student young gentlemen got the range. After that their shots kicked up the water over the bobbing scarlet buoy as it seemed to be trying to escape through the sea.

THE ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS

Later in the day they opened up with the antiaircraft guns. These were heavier and larger guns. They made a noise that was quite terrifying. After each crack a little puff of white smoke would unfold itself in the air like a wad of blowing cotton.

When they opened up both antiaircraft guns of that battery in a rattle of rapid fire our Scottie crawled under the bed and the Persian cat departed for parts unknown.

FLAG OF THE RISING SUN

Just before sundown on Sunday we had another thrill which seemed in a way the retort to the other.

Out of the gray sea came a big freighter, standing high out of the water. At the stern floated the flag with the rising sun surrounded by a white field—the banner of Imperial Japan.

It was the Kinai Maru—the first silk ship ever to enter this harbor. Its arrival marked an epoch in the history of Los Angeles. It was the first big chapter of our new life—our career as a partner of the Orient.

The reception showed that the commercial men of our city recognize in which direction our future lies.

A TOUCH OF SYMBOLISM

The freighter rounded the breakwater; circled the gray battleships and drifted to a full stop.

Out from the harbor came a fire-engine ship, excited almost beyond human endurance. She had to do something to relieve her feelings, so she turned loose all the fire hoses, sending great streams

"Footprinting" of New-Born Babies Balks Any Scrambled Identities

This Certifies that Maribeth Chealander

Kate Neuffield

So There Can't Possibly Be Any Mix-Up

Infant being "footprinted" at Maternity Cottage and (right) the birth certificate with prints.

New-born babies who arrive in Los Angeles hospitals need have no concern over the possibility of scrambled identities such as have recently stirred Chicago, for though the methods vary somewhat, the systems of identification used in our best institutions are considered foolproof. And the fact that no parallel of the Bamberger-Watkins controversy ever has developed in any of our hospitals would seem to justify this faith.

Among the methods in use, a comparatively new one is that of taking footprints of the infant and already several of the hospitals of the city have put this system into practice. The first one to adopt the method was the Maternity Cottage, 127 South Utah street, and it is regarded by those in charge as an infallible means of identification.

Following observations made in eastern hospitals where the footprint system had been installed, officers of the Maternity Cottage two years ago started it there. Mrs. Kate Duffield, superintendent, went to the fingerprinting bureau of the Los Angeles Police Department and learned the correct method of taking the prints and she herself takes the impression of the feet of every child who arrives there.

It is but the work of a moment. As soon as the child is born and before it is allowed to be taken from the delivery room, the feet are pressed upon a smooth glass slab covered with printer's ink and then the impression transferred to the hospital records and on the birth certificate, which is given to the mother. In addition to this identification tags of adhesive tape are put on the back and wrist of the child.

Other hospitals which have adopted the footprint system in conjunction with adhesive labels of various kinds are the California Lutheran, the White Memorial and St. Vincent's. In some of these institutions the adhesive tape is the principal means of identification and the footprints taken later just

YOUNG GETS GOOD REPORTS

Increased Savings, Bright Crop Prospects and Other Facts Given at State Council Session

Financial conditions, crops, pay rolls and earnings, public construction and many phases of human activities are discussed in nine State department reports submitted to Gov. Young yesterday at his July council meeting. Four more departments are to report today, beginning at 2 p.m. The reports, which so far have covered 139 closely typed pages, were delivered by department officials to the Governor in an open session at the City Hall.

The State Department of Investment reported that since January 1, last, individual savings in California State banks alone increased more than $27,000,000. Building and loan associations increased their assets $35,000,000 in the first six months of the year. The department announced that it has opened war on sharp-practice brokers.

Nearly all California crops show indications of large production, the Department of Agriculture reported. It said that the harvest season has passed for nearly all nonirrigated crops and that there is enough water to take care of the rest. The department announced that its weights and measures division is about to continue in Southern California its campaign begun in the north "against chain stores for short weight delivery."

California industries are reported by the Industrial Relations Department to have suffered some from the general depression but the average June weekly earning of a factory worker this year was given as $30.27, against $30.17 a year ago. The department warned miniature golf courses that where one employee is maintained the employer

Kin Urges Hunt in Canyons for Missing Pair

She Had Often Objected to Wooer's Persistence

The coincidental disappearance of Mrs. Emma Simpson, 37-year-old dressmaker, and Fred Carter, middle-aged salesman, led police yesterday to suspect that both have either been the victims of foul play or met with a fatal accident. Both were last seen on the 23rd inst.

Mrs. Simpson lived at the El Cortes Hotel at Santa Monica Boulevard and Wilton Place. Carter resided at 1717 North Alexandria avenue. Search of both these places yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Cowart and Gillette of the Hollywood division revealed that their personal belongings are intact. The only thing missing, the detectives say, is a revolver which Carter is known to have kept in his apartment.

TWO ACQUAINTED

Carter, the detectives report, was an acquaintance of Mrs. Simpson's and recently visited her many times against her wishes. A. H. Seeley, manager of the hotel, said that Mrs. Simpson had complained of Carter's visits, according to the detectives.

This information was corroborated by Mrs. J. Bailey, cousin of Mrs. Simpson, of 427 North Normandie avenue, who reported the dressmaker missing.

"After visiting Mrs. Simpson's apartment several times and finding her absent I became alarmed," she said. "I found that she had visited her son, Sterling Simpson, at 4582 Willowbrook avenue, on the morning of the 23rd inst. and left without stating her destination. She had complained that Mr. Carter was annoying her with his persistent offers of marriage."

CANYON SEARCH URGED

The detectives checking up on the case learned that Mrs. Simpson had returned to her hotel from her son's apartment and that Carter had called and asked for her. From then on nothing has been seen or heard of either man or woman. It is suspected that Mrs. Simpson drove away with Carter in his automobile.

From Powell Carter, stepson of the missing man, the detectives yesterday learned that Carter was in the habit of taking long drives through Santa Susana, Bouquet and Mint Canyons and suggested that squads of officers search these places for the missing pair.

DIRECTOR MUST PAY ALIMONY OR GO TO JAIL

Harry Young, who identified himself as a motion-picture director when he appeared in Superior Judge Archbald's court yesterday, will spend three days in jail unless he pays some back alimony, the judge told him yesterday. Young is under orders to pay Mrs. Margaret Young $150 a month for the support of his three children. In the past year he has paid a total of $479. He said that during that period he had earned $2100.

Cudahy Shows Gains in Fight on Paralysis

Marked improvement was noted yesterday in the condition of Michael Cudahy, 22-year-old scion of the millionaire meat-packing family, who has been in Hollywood Hospital Saturday with his legs paralyzed from the effects of poisonous liquor. Dr. William A. Branch of 6308 Yucca street, his attending physician, reported Cudahy has regained partial control of his legs and probably will be able to leave the institution in a few days.

RULING TO BE MADE FRIDAY ON EPSTEIN

Decision as to whether Harry Epstein, former president of the now defunct Beverly Hills Investment and Loan Corporation, must stand trial by Superior Court on grand-theft charges will be handed down by Municipal Judge Turney Friday. Following presentation of the State's case the court took under submission a motion by John Cooper, defense attorney, to dismiss the charges on the ground of insufficient evidence. David Spiegel of 128 North Ridgewood Place, testified that he gave Epstein $6000 to invest in a trust deed and received neither the deed nor his money. Mrs. Louise Klein of 3506 West Pico street, declared she lost $10,000 in a similar manner. Cooper contends that the transactions of Spiegel and Mrs. Klein were with the corporation and not with Epstein as an individual.

come the difficulties of engineering, of political problems and the natural selfishness of communities. People like the West—not only California, but the entire West. They come west to live. They will continue to come.

"The greatest difficulty of an arid or semiarid country such as this is water. We must have water. Here in this semiarid country in order to get water we must have peace, for the forces of war can quickly destroy the water supply. Further, we must present a united front in our efforts to secure a water supply. We found out here that in our efforts to secure a water supply we must unite to fight the desert."

Dr. Wilbur touched upon some of the background leading up to the Boulder Dam legislation, through the hopes and desires of the States involved and the seven State—now the six-State—compact as conceived by Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce.

INTERESTS IDENTICAL

In this connection he said that "Arizona is just as important to California as California is to Arizona. Except for political subdivision Arizona and California are one piece."

He felt that Boulder Dam will bring Arizona and California closer together eventually.

"We fight Dame Nature and she plays the game according to her own rules. We cannot have the water unless we pay the price—which is peace, economic unity and co-operation."

As to the actual consummation of the legislative and contractural phases of the Boulder Dam project, nothing could have been accomplished, he said, if those interested had not all put their interests into one pot, as it were, and worked together. He said that Congress would not have approved the contracts had it not been that it felt that the municipal Power Bureau was a going concern upon which responsibilities could be placed. He thanked Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood, Chief Counsel Mathews and their associates for their co-operation in putting the project over.

COUNT ON LOS ANGELES

Then he reminded his listeners that Congress is counting upon Los Angeles and associated communities in the Metropolitan Water District "to see this thing through." He touched upon the necessity of educating the voters and particularly the newcomer to the Southwest to be water-minded, to gain an appreciation of the tremendous necessity of water to the future of this part of the country. In a sense, all of us out here involved in this problem of adequate water supply must become visionary, he thought.

"We are, after all, children of the sun," he said in conclusion. "For it is the sun, shining upon green coloring matter, clorophyl, that makes life possible to us. The sun, plants, and water—these are the things that make life for the human being possible. The sun shines bright in the great Southwest. We have the soil, we can get the water and with these we can build one of the great civilizations of human history."

In opening the program of speaking, President Austin of the Chamber of Commerce devoted some time to an effective discussion of the significance of the great population growth of Southern California and its relation to adequate representation in Congress and fair treatment in State affairs. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause as he served notice that Southern California expects fair treatment in these matters and proposes to take adequate steps immediately to secure her just dues in these directions.

The raids on Southern California's rightful heritage must stop, he said.

Mayor Porter spoke a word of welcome to the gathering, and then Mr. Austin introduced Gov. Young to present Dr. Wilbur.

In his talk, Gov. Young touched upon the remarkable growth of California, saying that practically entire growth of the State had occurred during the past thirty years, when it had a population of about 1,500,000 and grew to be one of the six largest States in the Union.

He presented Dr. Wilbur as one of the two California men—President Hoover being the other—so largely responsible for the successful culmination of the Boulder Dam negotiations.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

Among others introduced were Northcutt Ely, executive assistant to Secretary Wilbur, who handled the negotiations on the power and water contracts; William Mulholland, Representatives Crail, Evans and Swing; W. B. Mathews and W. P. Whitsett.

A delegation from Mohave county, Arizona, called upon Secretary Wilbur to discuss with him the possibility of obtaining Federal aid on the proposed highway from Kingman to the dam site. This will afford tourists a wonderful sightseeing trip by the dam site on their way west. Eventually the road will cross the river on top of the dam, but until it is built will cross by ferry.

Dr. Wilbur will leave for Palo Alto tonight. He is accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur.

SECRETARY GUEST OF OIL CONSERVATIONISTS

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur is to be the guest this noon at the Biltmore of the Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee, headed by William Reinhardt of the Shell Oil Company.

An informal discussion of the unit plan of development of the north dome at Kettleman Hills is scheduled. Dr. George Otis Smith, chief of the United States Geological Survey, is to attend, together with members of the committee who have worked out a plan for the orderly development of the Kettleman Hills oil field.

The problem of gas wastage in the Kettleman Hills field will be thoroughly discussed, as it is understood that Secretary Wilbur's visit here is primarily for the purpose of determining what course to follow in the case of operators who desire to protect government permits and yet are unable to start operations because of the enforcement of an agreement that does not expire until July 31, 1931.

Action Delayed on Pico Project

After spending nearly all day listening to arguments, the City Council oil yesterday continued until tomorrow morning consideration of the matter of abandoning the widening project in Pico street from Alvarado street to Santa Fe avenue. The postponement was taken in order to study some legal points brought up by opponents of the improvement.

The condemnation suits have been filed and will be set for trial soon if the project is pressed. Rev. R. P. Shuler spoke at some length in opposition to the improvement on behalf of Trinity Methodist Church.

BABY'S BODY DEPOSITED IN STORM DRAIN

Newborn Infant's Corpse Recovered from Sewer and Autopsy Ordered

The body of a boy baby less than a day old was found yesterday in a storm drain near Palm View Drive and La Brea avenue, according to a police report. It was wrapped in newspapers dated the 6th inst. and 28th inst., and tied with twine. The body bears no marks of violence. The discovery was made by A. Diamond, 4961 West Adams street, a grocer.

Detective Lieutenants Bane and Craig of Wilshire division, canvassed the neighborhood and learned from Mrs. B. Abraham, 2509 Westview Drive, that two men and a woman had driven up to the spot Monday night and that the woman had alighted from the roadster and dropped a package into the drain. She was unable to get the license number of the car.

The body has been turned over to the Coroner for autopsy.

charges that the parents knew that their son was insane at the time and knew that he was confined in a private institution under the care of specialists, but that at no time has he been adjudged insane by legal action.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

It is further set out in the complaint by Mrs. Jamieson that she would not have signed the agreement in writing which transferred practically all property of her husband to his parents and was a part of the connivance for a divorce except for intimidations.

Attached to the complaint is a copy of the signed agreements and it reveals that two parcels of property were awarded to the senior Jamieson, along with custody of the children, a large portion of the household furniture and equipment, two expensive automobiles and all life insurance policies of the husband. In return the divorced wife was given some household pictures, books, furniture, $800 as cost of the divorce proceedings, $500 attorneys' fees and debts paid to the amount of $3660.

In asserting that the provisions of the decree with reference to custody of the children have been violated, Mrs. Jamieson charges that the husband's parents have refused her permission to see her girls, and that they are now in some secret place, the address of which had been kept from her. She further sets out that she has never been allowed to visit the children, as provided in the decree, except in the presence of nurses, and that when she does see them, other persons are always present.

The mother asks $25,000 actual damages for deprivation of the children, $25,000 as punitive damages, and their custody.

The Jamiesons reside at 160 South Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena.

by way of additional precaution, but in any case permanent records of them are kept in the hospital archives where they could be compared with those on the birth certificate should controversy ever arise.

According to Lieut. H. L. Barlow, in charge of fingerprinting for the Los Angeles Police Department, and an authority on fingerpirnts, if a careful impression of a child's feet is made so that the characteristics show up clearly, it may be considered infallible as a means of identification.

NECKLACES USED

Another popular means of tagging a new-born child so that there can be no possibility of a mix-up is that of the name necklace. Always before the child leaves the delivery room a string of beads with the child's surname worked into it, is put around its neck and sealed with a leaden bead, so that only by cutting can it be removed. This necklace is left on the child until after it is taken home.

At the Good Samaritan Hospital, where this system is used, another requirement also is that some member of the family be present to have a good look at the child before it leaves the delivery room. Necklaces also are considered the surest means of identification at the Queen of the Angels Hospital and at the Angelus Hospital.

An uncalculated touch was that the streams fell in three great plumes exactly like the crest of the Prince of Wales; and you will remember that the motto that goes with that crest is "I Serve."

THRILLS OF COMMERCE

The whistles blew and the sirens screamed as the Japanese steamer slowly and majestically made her way down the narrow lane of the inner harbor to her berth. On the way she passed another big Japanese ship going out—headed for the Orient.

Docked, the longshoremen whipped out raw silk valued at $1,064,000. The bales were transferred to a waiting train on the Union Pacific tracks—waiting with steam up. As the last bale was settled in its car the train lit out like a scared jackrabbit. By the contract that silk must be delivered in New York in eighty-five hours.

Kipling says you can't hustle the East; but the opening of our life as an oriental port had more hustle than the ride to the rescue in a movie thriller.

RED "DEFENSE" UNITS DEFINED

Radical Leader Testifies on Purpose of Squads

They're Revolution's Prelude He Asserts at Trial

Judge Forced to Interfere in Radicals' "Forum"

Communist "self-defense" squads are organized against the American Legion and police, Carl Sklar, Red leader now serving a sentence in Folsom prison for criminal syndicalism, testified yesterday in Municipal Judge Willis's court after taking the stand in his own behalf as the first of thirty defense witnesses summoned by sixteen Communists now on trial for their parts in the Plaza rioting on February 26, last.

"The squads are for defense only at present," Sklar said. "We recognize, of course, that a revolution will be necessary in time, but first we want to win the working class and farmers to our program of revolution against the government."

JUDGE FORCED TO ACT

Judge Willis was forced to interfere constantly with questions by Sklar, by Frank Spector, also serving a term in State's prison for the same offense, and by Leo Gallagher, attorney for the remaining fourteen defendants whose questions the court declared "wandered far afield." At one time the court was forced to rebuke Gallagher, who said he wanted to establish that all Communist meetings were broken up by the police, and to declare that the case on trial is not that of the Communist party, but of acts of the defendants on the Plaza.

"You cannot convert this courtroom into a forum for the exposition of your peculiar beliefs," Judge Willis told Gallagher. "We are not interested in what Communists believe or advocate, but in what these defendants did and said at the time and place specified."

OFFICERS TESTIFY

Police Officer Hayes during the morning session testified that he was knocked down and kicked by Spector and Frank Waldron when he asked the crowd at the Plaza to move on.

"Rose Becker tried to poke my eyes out with an umbrella, and if Officer Pfeiffer hadn't drawn his gun and protected me I might have been mauled to death," Hayes said.

Other officers called as witnesses by Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday corroborated Hayes's story and said that when the attack of their "defense squads" was met with tear bombs the Communist leaders fled, only to be arrested later.

Additional defense witnesses will be placed on the stand when the trial is resumed this morning.

REPORTS MADE TO GOV. YOUNG

comes under the workmen's compensation law.

Selection of a site for the new $1,000,000 mental hospital in Southern California and simultaneous beginning of construction will come within thirty days, the Department of Institutions report says. The department announced a move to parole more and more of the patients in State mental hospitals, saying that one-fourth of them can be paroled.

The Department of Public Works pointed out that bids for the new State Building in Los Angeles are to be opened here next Tuesday at 10 a.m. and that construction may begin thereunder by August 20. Another part of that department's report states that "80 per cent of the State's highway program for the present biennium (with eleven months of the biennium yet to come) is either completed, under contract or being advertised for bids." It is recommended by the department that something be done about 321,000 acre feet of Southern California river waters that annually are being wasted into the sea.

The Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs reported that 7503 former service men in the State have benefited by the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act to the extent of the purchase of 7213 homes and 290 farms costing $36,000,000. Of the total, 2800 veterans are in Los Angeles county, the report states, and they used $11,965,000, or 35 per cent, of the available money. To date 36,000 applications have been received. The report says that the $20,000,000 proposed increase in the fund, to be voted on in November, would care for 5000 more.

Much material in support of greatly increasing the numbers of convicted persons turned loose on probation is contained in a report submitted by the Social Welfare Department.

One of the most important works of the Department of Education, it is declared in its report, is the one it has undertaken to improve the quality of school trustees.

Reports are due today from the departments of Natural Resources, Penology, Professional and Vocational Standards and Public Health.

Yesterday's sessions were attended by many State employees and others totaling at times seventy-five.

SYNOD TO ECHO ASSEMBLY BID

Presbyterians Seek General Session for City

Mooney-Billings Action to be Decided Today

Phoenix Minister Dissents on Objector Stand

Indorsing the invitation of Immanuel Presbyterian Church to the General Assembly to conduct its sessions at that church in 1932, the Presbytery of Los Angeles, at a special meeting at Immanuel yesterday called attention to the fact that the local Presbytery is one of the largest and most influential in the country and Immanuel one of the largest, in membership and seating capacity and well equipped to accommodate the thousands of delegates who would visit Los Angeles two years hence.

The invitation issued by the Presbytery will be indorsed today at a session of the 2000 delegates to the Synod of California, meeting at Immanuel Church.

PEACE STAND FAVORED

Reiteration of the resolutions in favor of international peace, passed at the last General Assembly, an agreement to postpone action until today on a resolution regarding the Synod's attitude on the Mooney Billings case, addresses by prominent Presbyterian ministers and harp solos by Miss Esther Rhodes featured the synodical sessions yesterday.

ESTHER RHODES

Dr. Victor A. Rule, pastor of a large church at Phoenix, Ariz., and lieutenant-colonel of the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Regiment, National Guard of Arizona, expressed himself as not in complete harmony with the adoption of the Synod's peace resolutions, which included the statement that "readiness and ability to bear arms, regardless of conscience, should not be looked upon as essential to citizenship."

SHOULD AID DEFENSE

"While the moral forces of America should always be active in the interest of peace, I believe that it is not incompatible with that spirit but rather in harmony with it to make certain preparations for national defense," said Dr. Rule. "In time of actual warfare, when the safety of the people is at stake, every able-bodied citizen should be compelled to bear arms. In such an issue, it should not be left to the individual to decide whether or not he will help defend the republic of which he is a citizen and under the Constitution and laws of which he and his family are protected. In regard to Quakers, whose religion and traditions commit them to nonviolence, they should, in war time, be appointed to noncombatant service as, for instance, making shells, but they should not be allowed to evade patriotic duty."

CREEDS IN UNITY

Among speakers yesterday was Rev. Nathan M. Fiske, pastor of Davis College Community Church at Davis, Cal., who said that the church of which he is head is supported by Baptists, Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists.

"We have a Methodist minister as associate pastor and we have installed a baptistry in the church, so that those who believe in baptism by immersion can be baptized according to their faith," said Mr. Fiske. "Our church is actually doing what many other churches are only talking about, demonstrating the possibility of Christians of various creeds living harmoniously together under one roof and one organization."

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to a visit of the delegates to the Huntington Library and other points of interest. Sessions will be resumed at 8:30 a.m. today.

Papa Has Right to Rave Against 2:30 a.m. Visits

Entertaining boy friends at 2:30 a.m. might agitate a girl's father to harshness, Superior Judge Guerin commented yesterday while trying Mrs. Pearl E. Loop's suit for divorce from Clarence E. Loop, real estate and insurance man. Mrs. Loop had testified that her husband arrived home intoxicated one night while her "little girl" was entertaining boy friends. The wife said Loop became so abusive that she remonstrated, and he struck her and threw the girl against a wall. Mary E. Loop, 16 years of age, the daughter, corroborated her mother.

"Father came home when I was entertaining some boy friends and a girl friend at 2:30 one morning," she began.

"What time?" exclaimed Judge Guerin. "I don't know but that a father has a right to be upset by his little girl entertaining boy friends at 2:30 a.m."

However, the judge granted Mrs. Loop a decree and ordered the husband to pay $40 a month for his child's support. Attorneys Kelby and Lawson represented Mrs. Loop.

—The very first minute of "The One Sale of the Year" in 1930—Significant as have been all Bullock's August Clearances, growing steadily and more deeply into the hearts and confidence of more and more friends as the years have gone by—Holding to Ideals—Measuring to standards of merchandise, values and service—Keeping the Faith.

—Not an ordinary Sale in any sense of the word—but an Annual Event that partakes of the nature of an Institution—founded twenty-three years ago—for the purpose of clearing Bullock's own stocks—which is still its first and fundamental purpose.

—Growing each year since that first Clearance in August 1907 to extend the limits and the privileges of its opportunity—to many Bullock Resources who are also working to ideals and standards and who value the outlet of Bullock's August Clearance for their clearances too.

—This year the exigencies of the circumstances have provided a presentation of merchandise of fascinating proportions—at prices so attractive as to arouse the admiration of Every Bullock August Clearance that has gone before.

—In a regular way Everyone is buying better merchandise at the same prices of a year ago—or paying less for the same merchandise—Time has been working out its readjustment—so that it will be the lower regular prices of Today that will be still lower through the inspiration and direction of Bullock's August Clearance—guided carefully and guarded zealously according to the principles of The Bullock Ideal.

OF COURSE there will be Dresses and Suits—and Coats—For Women—For Misses, For Collegiennes and Juniors—

—There will be Silks to conjure with—fine quality, rightly styled silks that bear honored names and that are causing home store folks to rub their eyes in wonder and look again—They seem so impossible!

—Velvets too! Rich Imported Velvets—from foremost Velveticians of the Continent—bent on startling while delighting those who love Velvets—in their Vogue for Winter as for Fall—And these velvets knew a thing or too, as Velvets are suposed to do—they slipped in just in advance of the Tariff increase—to become even more magnitudinous.

—Then there are Cottons! Seemingly world without end, Style as well as Price-Radiant—and Linens! to add to the fame of Bullock's August Clearance of Linens, Sheets! Pillow Cases! Comfortables! Blankets! Draperies! Rugs! Furniture!

—Shoes! Stockings! Children's Wear, Boys' Suits, Girls' Dresses (and School plans to open September 2)

—Handbags! Toiletries! Gloves! Jewelry! Books! Stationery!

—Men's Suits!—Yes, indeed—and those men who hear of Bullock's August Clearance for the first time—should eagerly follow the example of those men who are waiting.

—We could go on—and on—and on—It's hard to stop talking and writing about This Bullock's August Clearance—so different—distinctive—and inspirational—all the way through—

—Storewide, remember, and its first day, Friday, August 1!

Today's Bible Text

Put on, therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long suffering, forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.—Col. iii, 12-13.

PLACE IN SUN

One reason why so many celebrities come to Hollywood is to get a place in the sun. They have been accommodated with plenty of the actinic the last few weeks.

DEADBEATS

A professional bill collector parked his car, labeled "Deadbeats Advertised" and "Bad Bills Collected," in front of one of his clients. The delinquent coughed up. It pays to advertise!

TWO CHUTES

Stunt jumpers now have to wear two parachutes. This is a new regulation in air commerce. Stunt jumping will soon be as tame as sitting on your back porch. About the only place left with a sporting chance is crossing the street at an intersection or getting married.

JONES AND SMITH

The other day at the Interlachen Club in Minneapolis, Minn., Bobby Jones and J. Horton Smith carried off about all the bacon there was loose in the golf tournament. What chance does the rest of the world have when the Joneses decide to take a hand? They get most of the space even in the telephone book.

THE MACHINE AGE

Olives are so plentiful in Southern Europe that the oil has been tested successfully for motor lubrication. The fruit was going to waste because the middleman wouldn't buy up the crops and dispose of them by lowering the price to consumers. So one of man's finest forms of nourishment is to be fed to machines.

AN OLD-TIMER

Zaro Agha, the venerable immigrant from Kurdistan, who arrived in this country the other day, tells the reporters of Providence that he is 156 years old and grew a third set of teeth when he was 105. He has had thirty-six children—the last born when he was 96. He seems to be pretty well preserved for a Kurd.

THE BABY INDUSTRY

Miniature golf has given employment to many thousands throughout the country. And many side lines are looming for the manufacture of fairway materials and other accessories. Many ugly spots are being beautified and much idle property is now returning an income. And the doctors say it is aiding health by keeping people out of doors.

JURY'S WISHES IGNORED

A trial judge is not bound by the recommendation of a jury except in murder cases and has nothing to do with fixing sentences. So rules the Supreme Court of California in affirming the judgment of a Merced Superior Court judge who sentenced a man convicted of driving while drunk to the county jail for one year. The jury had recommended that sentence be suspended. The convicted man had appealed on the ground that the court had ignored the jury's wishes.

In this case the jury seems to have gone outside the usual practice where persons have been convicted of driving a car while intoxicated. Generally the judge is left unhampered and may deal as severely as he will with "drunk" drivers.

While in this country judges are denied the right to express their opinions as to the value of evidence, English judges have that right. But in neither country is a jury encouraged to make suggestions and if it does so its wishes may be ignored, as in the Merced county case.

There was moral as well as legal justification for the act of the judge in disregarding the recommendation of the jury that the sentence imposed upon the "drunk" driver be suspended. Most sober citizens will agree that the judge was right in sending the man to jail for a year, and they will applaud the ruling of the Supreme Court that the judge was not bound by the ill-advised recommendation of the jury.

RUSSIAN TRADE

The Russian trade situation is one that needs to be handled with a good deal of caution. There is on the one hand no reason for the United States to permit itself to be used as a dumping ground for the products of forced or convict labor, in competition with American free labor; on the other, no reason for industries to deny themselves raw materials they have been using for years and in which a regular trade has long been established, simply because other products are being dumped. Anthracite, lumber and pulpwood appear to be in the class of dumped materials. There is, however, considerable question about manganese, which is a necessity in steel production and in the mining of which the Russian operators seem to have a legitimate advantage. Russian manganese is no novelty in the American market.

Threats of retaliation against American manufacturers, if the American antidumping and anticonvict-labor laws are enforced, need not be taken very seriously. The soviet government buys where it can to advantage. It has repeatedly threatened this and that country with withdrawal of trade if political or other concessions were not granted, but such threats have never materialized. The British have learned to laugh at them. The present Russian autocracy is not so plentifully supplied with money that it can afford to carry out punitive measures to its own disadvantage. Its only reason for purchasing American goods at all is that they are better and cheaper. It may be argued, of course, that if Russia cannot dispose of what she has for sale, she cannot pay for what she has to purchase, and in such argument there is some force. But unfair competition with American industry will in the long run be more harmful to this country than an possible loss of trade.

Whether competition is actually unfair and harmful is something to be decided not off-hand, but after careful consideration of all the factors and careful weighing of all the elements. In the case of pulpwood, the Treasury Department has already made such an investigation and declared an embargo, following the law. The action in this case would seem to be a safe guide for other cases, where similar facts are established. But there is no reason for placing an embargo on all Russian trade merely because an embargo is justified on certain items. Each case must be considered on its merits and decided without reference to others, the general good of all American producers and consumers being taken into account.

It should be remembered that, as a general principle, it is advantageous to a nation to import exhaustible raw materials, such as the product of mines, rather than to exploit its own natural resources. This is the fundamental reason why a tariff on mineral oil, for example, is uneconomic. The remedy for oil overproduction is to stop domestic drilling, which means the conservation of irreplaceable domestic supplies; it is not wise to stop importation so that these domestic supplies will be more rapidly exhausted, for that means the conservation of foreign irreplaceable resources. It is possible this principle applies to manganese; the United States may need its manganese supply badly at some future time when foreign supplies, for one reason or another, are not available. The principle will hold, in the long run, in all such cases, but there are times when its application will cause undue hardship; it needs to be used temperately. Again all the facts should be considered before a decision is reached.

Russian trade and recognition of the Russian government are unrelated things, as Secretary Hughes pointed out years ago. The fact seems at last to have penetrated and there is now little or no agitation for the resumption of diplomatic relations on commercial grounds. The question of recognition is not being considered in the present discussion.

CANADIAN ELECTIONS

What changes in Canadian-American relations will follow the victory of the Conservative party in Monday's elections time alone, of course, will tell. The Conservative campaign was made in part on a demand for higher Canadian duties against American products and the assertion that the Liberal government of Premier King had made insufficient retaliation against the Hawley-Smoot tariff. Premier-elect Bennett's government may thus be expected to be somewhat less friendly to the United States in that particular regard than that of his predecessor. But the two nations are so closely bound by commercial ties that discrimination is unlikely. Premier-elect Bennett and his party are against the "Empire preference' scheme favored by the Liberals.

In the election the largely French-speaking Province of Quebec returns to its old Conservative allegiance. Quebec, which opposed conscription, turned to the Liberty party at the close of the war largely because it was the Conservative government which put conscription into effect. It had been for years a Conservative stronghold.

The victory is a rather striking overturn, since the Liberals have held the government for twelve years and had a substantial majority in the last Parliament, with the aid of the Liberal-Progressives, who voted with them consistently. The Canadian business depression, which the Conservatives ascribed to Liberal rule, was a considerable factor in the polling.

THE TAXPAYER

The financial expert once more informs us that the American people are now paying more than $9,000,000,000 a year for taxes. Of this vast sum practically 75 per cent goes for local, State and county taxes. The rest belongs to Uncle Sam. Paying taxes must be about the most violent exercise in which we indulge.

HELPING AUSTRIA

We are to be permitted to lend Austria $25,000,000 more. The country is floating a new loan of $60,000,000 and this is supposed to be our share. Austria may be considered a bad risk, but the country is worth saving and this will help.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

THIS is a true story about people you probably know, by reputation, at least. Though we here and now serve notice that we shall reveal no names. If you ask us if it's the Soandsos we're talking about we shall positively deny it. Oh, yes, it's a very difficult task for us to lie, but we can do it when it's absolutely necessary. And in this case we rather think it is, for Soandso, who has become a powerful man physically, might want to punch our head for telling this. And as for Mrs. Soandso—well, there mightn't be any "if" about it—it might be a case in which looks could kill.

So we hope the Soandsos are off vacationing somewhere and won't see this colyum at all—or hear about it.

For we just have to tell the story. It's such a typical Southern California story.

Ssh! Wife Plots Against Husband

He was an h.-p. exec. of some sort of manufacturing business back East, working himself to success—and ill health. Just as everything was looking pretty the doctors stepped in and told him if he didn't get out of harness and that climate he'd have a fine chance to collect on his life insurance. They not only told him, but told his wife—knowing who really runs most of the h.-p. execs., once they get away from the office.

He replied to the doctors he could not possibly retire for another year or two. And while he was arguing the matter his wife backed out the car and called to him to hurry—that she had everything packed and they'd just have time to catch the next train for California.

Husband Doesn't Know

They lazed around Southern California for a few months. But he was a man of action and could not stand that and began to snap and snarl at absolutely perfect hotel waiters. Then they decided to buy a place which was very restful, super-restful. They bought twenty acres of canyon, with a winding path leading up to a house hidden like a bird's nest. No rumor of the busy boulevards reached there. The far-off honking of motor horns was no more nerve-racking than the honking of geese in the dim zenith. Even peddlers and solicitors couldn't find that sequestered spot.

The husband probably doesn't yet know why he bought that house. He bought it because one day a doctor said to Mrs. Soandso:

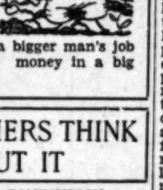
"What your husband really needs, Mrs. Soandso, is a major interest in life. He has had his business, which absorbed him. Now if he could get greatly interested in making hedges grow. I won't say grass, because sometimes that's too discouraging. But hedges and flowers—fad flowers—cactus gardens—something like that. Your husband is the kind of man who would get quite a kick out of having the most unique and distinctive patch of this or that, or the finest specimen of tother."

So Soandso, not knowing just why, bought the sequestered estate and hired the most highly recommended gardener he could find.

Woman's Deception Bared

But he didn't really give a darn about it. His wife would drive him outdoors to watch the gardener and he'd go to sleep in an easy chair. Or he watched the gardener, but asked no questions. He didn't evince much interest.

So the deceitful wife began to find fault with the gardener. She couldn't find fault with his work, so she grouched about his personality. She groaned that she couldn't stand the sight of the man. And one day she came in with the announcement:



Well, I've done it—fired the gardener."

"Indeed," murmured Soandso, without more interest than politeness demanded. "What are you going to do now?"

"I'll do the work myself rather than have anyone like that around."

Having got away with it, she slipped out, handed the gardener his bonus and his letter to the friends she had prevailed on to offer him a better job.

Heartless Knavery Exposed

Most of that twenty acres was woods and canyon. It was only around the house and down the drive that gardening was needed. Mrs. Soandso got out there with hedge clippers and garden tools and gave an exhibition. It was an awful exhibition. "Good heavens!" exclaimed Soandso, watching her. "I thought from the way she manages a house that my wife had some ideas, some perceptions. But the way she takes hold of those hedge clippers—"

He strode out into the garden. It was the first time he "strode" since coming West.

"Here," he said, "give me those things. I'll be gardener till we get somebody else."

That was about ten years ago. Yesterday we saw Soandso, working in his garden. He was trimming a hedge and we only wish we could trim one as well. We walked over thick turf to a vine-bowered veranda surrounded by some very fine roses. In all those years, he's never been able to find a gardener suitable to Mrs. Soandso, and Soandso has kept doing the work. He has got to be an expert. He has gotten so rugged that he could plunge back into business if he wanted to. And sometimes he does sigh for the old struggle and thrill of the game. But he just can't give up his garden. So many worthy but needy groups are dependent on him for flowers. So many people would miss his efforts if he should give them up. And, besides, he has come to the conviction that the creation of beauty there is a bigger man's job than just making money in a big factory, anyway.

THE FAMILY TABLE

According to some of the experts of the American Research Foundation the average family of four persons in the United States can set the table nicely and comfortably on $13.72 a week. It is believed that the 2 cents is for onions. The estimate provides for a daily ration of meat. Families who think they can make it are at liberty to try.

SHOCKING

A wire fence was built around his yard by John Kilczak and then charged with juice from an electric socket. This is said to have been exceedingly shocking to the neighbors.

HOPE

By James J. Montague

I'd like to have a farmstead,
A tiny, tiny farmstead,
Beneath a hill
And near a bit of wood;
And live on very little
By way of drink and victual,
And lead a life
Of rugged strife
As simple farmers should.

I'd like to sit and pity
The people of the city,
Who always wear
An air of care,
And lose their precious health
In vain and useless hurry
And soul-consuming worry,
And die before
The bolted door
That bars the way to wealth—

But ere I buy my farmstead,
My elm-tree-shaded farmstead,
Where simple joy
Which cannot cloy
Shall fill my brimming cup,
I'll have to scrap my labor,
And many long years labor,
For I shall need
Vast wealth, indeed,
To keep the blamed thing up.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

PRIMARY VS. CONVENTION

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Among the bills for amending the election law that are likely to appear at the next session of the Pennsylvania Legislature may be one looking for nominating candidates for State offices. This idea, which has been in the back of the politicians' minds for a long time, has been revived by the controversies over the recent primary, and especially by the enormous sums of money involved in primary elections.

It is said that little improvement has been effected by the direct primary in the methods by which candidates are slated by the bosses and nominated. Of course, the primary affords an opportunity to smash an unpopular slate, and thus to overturn the selections made by party leaders. But the same may be said of the convention system when the chosen delegates can be defeated at the polls. Candidates are set up in the same old way by the party machine, whether the actual nominations are made directly by the voters or by delegates at a convention. The primary has brought about evils quite as serious as those which attended the convention system; and while money was used to buy delegates, it may also be used under the primary plan to buy nominations. If it is only a question of success to the aspirant with the longest purse, it might be as well to weigh the advantages of both methods and decide whether another change would be wise.

TWENTY-SIX MILES TOO CLOSE

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

That loud speaker described by The Chronicle's Berlin correspondent as so powerful that it megaphones an orchestra concert to a distance of twenty-five miles may be regarded as either a threat or a promise, according to one's temperament.

The contraption produces a volume, so says the dispatch, equal to an orchestra of 2500 pieces. Now there are persons who may rate their music mathematically and conclude that an orchestra of 2500 pieces must necessarily be twenty-five times as good as one of 100 pieces. And then there are those who may feel that the place to hear a concert with a twenty-five-mile radius is twenty-five miles from the center, if at all.

The Berlin broadcasters plan to take their loud speaker up in a balloon and to pour its music from the sky on the whole city. Having experienced some sky broadcasting from the common or garden variety of loud speakers—not to speak of certain sidewalk contraptions—we are inclined to doubt that the Berlin experiment will inspire a German Shelley to write a new version of "The Skylark."

UNDER ARIZONA SKIES

BY FRED HOGUE

When the rose dawn peers through the pinnacles of Superstition Mountain and the Salt River plain, with the purple peaks beyond silhouetted against the southern horizon, is a symphony of blue and gold; when the shadows of night still hover about the sage and the cactus, when the desert seems to awaken with a yawn and blink its brown eyes as it looks up to the luminous skies; when the breezes of the morning stir the web-like branches and the red blossoms of the ocotilla—it is then that Southern Arizona seems very close to heaven, and the pilgrim satiated with human comradeship turns in adoration to nature's deities.

Only in a brief, glorious moment between darkness and dawn does this scroll of the earth and the sky unfold. When the sun has once cleared the horizon, its pitiless rays scatter the pastel shades of the dawn and the desert shimmers under the heat of a July day.

One must have slept on that desert and wakened with the dawn to understand why the so-called "desert rats" will never leave these solitudes, will not exchange them for the seductions and the blandishments of our artificial modern life.

Who has slept for a season on the desert will only with reluctance seek elsewhere his bed.

When the good God made Southern Arizona he also created a breed of men with a sixth sense that enables them to express their adoration in line and color. They are the modern Joshuas, who command the sun to stand still; and it obeys them. Life is fleeting; but art is eternal; and this, perhaps, explains why I, at times, turn to art as a refuge from life.

Harry Wagoner, artist of the desert, chronicler of its romance and its mystery, possesses the rare genius to paint the deserts of the Southwest as they linger in my memory. He, too, is a refugee from life, from the chronic ills of a fetid civilization. Illness drove him to the desert—lungs too delicate to continuously inhale the fumes of smoke and gasoline. The desert healed him and fascinated him with her charms; and he now counts that day lost in which he has not seen a desert sunrise or sunset.

There are as many breeds of artists as of pups. Some are thoroughbreds who paint to give expression to their romantic impressions, who sing rhapsodies in color, without any afterthought of a purchaser; and others are mongrels, who deform nature, who paint hunchbacks because the symmetry of line and form is beyond them; who are garish in color and execution because their mongrel souls are not attuned to harmony; who frequent dives and morgues because their mongrel spirits are lacking in the appreciation of the beautiful.

Artists paint as they live; and an unclean canvas is a mute record of an unclean life.

Harry Wagoner is one of these rare spirits to whom life is beautiful and nature is harmony. Some of the so-called realists and modernists are simply nature fakers. Harry Wagoner is a nature lover.

"He liveth best who loveth best,
All things, both great and small."

And he painteth best who loveth best the creations of the God of the earth and the heavens.

I have known many artists and near-artists; but none in whose soul I found more music and color than in that of Harry Wagoner, and the color harmonies of his life are reflected in his canvases. I have known artists who have passed through the storms of life, on land and on the high seas; powerful in composition and execution, and their canvases are powerful, recalling Wagnerian music. They are masters, after their fashion. But Harry Wagoner is a child of the solitudes and the sunlight. He lives "far from the maddening crowds;" never "makes whoopee," but loves best to hold solitary communion with the mountains, where God planted them, on the deserts of Southern California and Arizona.

It was my privilege this summer to spend a brief season with Wagoner in the Arizona wonderland. We rode together in his sketching car, with a body made expressly for desert camping. We carried with us our bed rolls and cooking outfit, avoided the haunts of men and slept under the stars.

I stood beside him on the rim of the Grand Canyon, amidst the monuments in Oak Creek Canyon, which I have renamed the valley of the Vanishing Gods; slept with him in the moonlight on the banks of Canyon Lake and stood beside him in the rose dawn on the Apache Trail at the base of Superstition Mountain.

And I have been tonight to the exhibit of his desert canvases in the Stendahl Galleries at the Ambassador Hotel.

Earl Stendahl is away on his vacation, trout fishing in the high Sierras, and his assistant showed me how to turn out the lights and left me here alone to write. On the walls are the desert canvases of Harry Wagoner and the music of the orchestra playing in the Cocoanut Grove comes in to me over the transom.

What a contrast—the pulsating heart of Hollywood, of the Cocoanut Grove, where more sheiks and movie stars are dancing than ever appeared in a single movie production, and the solitude and mystery of the Grand Canyon and the desert mountains of Arizona!

In some parts of the earth that I have visited life is an unbroken monotony and nowhere more monotonous than in the villages of China south of the Great Wall. In other parts it is an unbroken succession of contrasts and nowhere more striking than in Los Angeles, where the desert has been sacrificed to build a modern metropolis.

Los Angeles is in itself an anomaly. Irrigation and indefatigable human industry have turned what was once a desert waste into a rose garden; have builded a dream city that is now reflected in the mirages of the desert skies as far east as Texas. This is not an exaggeration. Riding one morning less than a month ago from Deming to Globe, I saw on the desert horizon the white tower of the City Hall and a part of the skyline of Los Angeles. But above Los Angeles are still the desert skies, and the colorful, fantastic desert sunsets. Man can change the face of the earth, but not that of the heavens.

Harry Wagoner is a modern Joshua, who caught the rose dawn on the desert above Superstition Mountain and imprisoned it on canvas. At his command, the sun stands still and the rare hour of the dawn does not depart.

He imprisons with his brush the evanescent shades of the dawn, the sunset and the blue desert nights under a silver moon. The valley of the Salt River, in which Phoenix, is located, is to me the most romantic, the most colorful spot in Arizona. I prefer it to the Grand Canyon, to the Painted Desert; and nothing of its romance and mystery is lost in a Wagoner canvas.

His "Rose Purple Miles" depicts the rose dawn when one stands in the shadow of Superstition Mountain. Perhaps I love it best because I first stood there in the rose and purple dawn forty years ago. Farther south the valley has changed. Since the Roosevelt Dam was builded what were once desert canyons are now great artificial lakes. The brown sands have disappeared, to be replaced by green alfalfa and cotton. But, at the base of Superstition Mountain the desert still lingers; the vandals of civilization are still held at bay.

The battlements of Superstition Mountain were once the outposts of Geronimo and his crafty and pitiless Apaches. They fought for the desert, against the encroachment of the alien white race. They were patriots, after their fashion. Before the onslaughts of the cavalry of Crook and Miles, the Apaches are scattered or dead. But their mountain fortress still stands and the dead still speak through the living to one whose ear is attuned to listen.

Before the canvases, one forgets the artist. One does not discuss the colors he uses or the method by which he secures his romantic yet realistic effects. Just as "good wine knows no bush," a masterpiece does not require a signature to attest its genuineness.

Harry Wagoner studied in Paris, visited the museums and cathedrals of Italy; but he returned to his desert and his canvases will live when the canvases of those who are copyists, but deficient in originality, are forgotten.

To those who have never seen the dawn on the desert, who have never slept through the blue nights under the Arizona stars, his canvases will appear fantastic, unreal. It is a mediocre trait of humanity to doubt the existence of what one has not seen. The breed of doubting Thomases is not yet extinct.

The present exhibition is premature. The small color sketches he made of the Grand Canyon and the Valley of the Vanishing Gods should have been converted into larger canvases before exhibiting them. But Wagoner does not paint for the market. Most purchasers buy canvases by the yard and cannot understand why a thirty by fifty should not be worth many times a six by ten.

I encountered a similar opposition when I wrote that I preferred the exquisite color and the delicate, wind-chiseled monuments of the Valley of the Vanishing Gods to the cruder immensity of the Grand Canyon.

I would that I could have seen the canyon through Wagoner's eyes. There are two canvases of the "big ditch" in the present collection. Those who see them will insist that I was wrong, and I shall not challenge their opinion.

Perhaps it is not that I loved the canyon less, but that I loved Superstition Mountain on the Apache Trail and the Valley of the Vanishing Gods more.

I do not ask those who read my articles, not even the Governor of Arizona—although I suspect he was not elected to that high office by reason of his appreciation of art—to agree with me; I only ask them to visit the places I have visited and to form their judgments from their own observation and reflections, not by what some one else has written about them.

The strains of music from the orchestra in the Cocoanut Grove no longer come through the transom. The sheiks and the movie queens have departed; but, outside, the mocking birds are singing and they will sing the whole night through. Below are the white and rose lights of Hollywood, while above are the ever changing yet changeless skies of the desert. Back of the summit of Mt. San Gorgonio the desert gods are watching. Perhaps our present civilization is only transitory, like all that have preceded it, and over the debris left by its wreck the desert will again come back.

Priceless documents stolen recently from the Royal Army Medical Library at Millbank, Eng., include a fourteenth-century Sharagram Bible written in Armenian, and the only known copy in existence of Richard's book on surgery, written in 1672.

A man gets married when he has income enough to pay the bills; a woman gets married because she hasn't.

Oh, for the good old days when people did their day dreaming under the lawn tree instead of the steering wheel.

There was a national budget in the old days, too, but it didn't furnish any information except that husbands were chumps.

The unfairness of a tariff that authorizes Americ to build only twice as many ships as Congress will authorize!

The two States that relieve us of the income tax burden are the State of Florida and our present financial state.

GOOD FOR US

When a child my elders fed me castor oil, disease to fight, and I wished they would have fed me rather than prescribe that oil. "It will do you good," they told me, when I wept, in bitter mood, and they often used to scold me for my base ingratitude. Divers herbs they used in making an unholy, noxious stew, and when my insides were aching they would pour it into me. I'd consume some seven fluid ounces of that fierce and fatal brew, and the memory still lingers o' the rancid taste I knew. And my elders, they'd behold me sick at soul and shedding tears; "It will do you good," they told me, greeting all my sighs with jeers. When at school the dour old master often took a birchen staff, and he labored fast and faster, whaling me both fore and aft. When catastrophe befell me, in this harsh and drastic style, "It will do you good," he'd tell me, with a cold, Satanic smile. All my life I've been receiving clubs and slammers in the neck, but you would not see me grieving, and I would not be a wreck, if no people would assure me that such things will do me good, that such punishment will cure me of the ills o'er which I brood. I am wondering at present, as I softly knock on wood, why the thing that is unpleasant is the thing that does us good. Is my old and stale and drab age, with a brace of doctors nigh, condemned to prunes and cabbage, when I lust for cake and pie. I would spend the long day rocking underneath my greenwood tree, but I have to get out walking, for that stunt is good for me. By the arbiter supreme this ukase has been issued. Nothing nice is beneficial, all things punk are what we need.

Improvement of Flower Street May be Speeded

Expectation that improvement of Flower street south of Washington street will be started within six months was expressed yesterday by members of the Flower-street Improvement Association, following receipt of word from San Francisco that the Supreme Court has denied the petition of William and Kate Brill, owners of property in Flower street, for a rehearing in an action attacking the contemplated work.

The Brills questioned the juriadiction of the Superior Court in making an order directing the re-assessment of the area affected by the project.

G. F. Helliwell, assistant manager of the improvement association, said that the first steps to open and widen the street were taken in 1923 on a majority petition of property owners.

Husband Wins Divorce Decree

Los Angeles did not suit Mrs. Ethel E. Masters as a home, her husband, Frank A. Masters testified yesterday in getting a divorce in Superior Judge Collier's court. Masters is a promotion manager of a motor company, and his business holds him here, he testified. Mrs. Masters wanted to live on a ranch they own near Nevada City, where she was quoted as saying she could "salt down every dollar." She moved there, it was testified, and refuses to live here with Masters.

Judge Collier granted Masters a divorce on grounds of desertion, and approved a property settlement in which the husband agrees to pay Mrs. Masters $135 a month for life or until she remarries. The judge also ordered Masters to pay $30 a month for the support of his son, Milton, 16 years of age.

LIGHT OF CHRISTIANITY TO SHINE FROM PLANE

Brother George J. Feltes, S.J.

"Dogs have had their day in furthering the cause of religion in Alaska and from now on airplanes will take the place of 'huskies' in carrying Catholic missionaries above the snowy trails that separate the missions of the Far North."

That statement was made by Brother George J. Feltes, S. J., who, in company with his copilot, Capt. George Pickenpack, and Father Phillip Delon arrived yesterday at Grand Central Air Terminal, preparatory to departure, at 7 a.m. today, for the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Brother Feltes and his party were met at the Terminal by many Catholic dignitaries, including Mgr. William Hughes, director of the Bureau of Catholic Missions at Washington, D. C.

Capt. Pickenpack will go only as far as San Francisco, leaving Brother Feltes as sole pilot of the plane for the rest of the journey. From San Francisco, the plane will proceed to Fairbanks and thence to the Holy Cross Mission, 300 miles up the Yukon. The trip will require about four weeks.

The Bellanca amphibian plane, named the Marquette after the famous missionary of that name, was donated to the Jesuits by the Marquette League of New York City. The commission for the Alaskan missionary work was given by Rev. Joseph M. Piet, S. J., superior of the California province.

Father Delon, who, with Brother Feltes, boarded the Marquette at Long Island, after the plane had been blessed by Bishop Crimont, is superior of the Alaska missions, having served his church in the North for the last fifteen years. Brother Feltes, who is an experienced pilot, is a native of San Francisco and for the last five years has been stationed at St. Ignatius Church in that city.

"Los Angeles is a paradise and I do not relish leaving this city for the rigorous northland but I must play my small part in spreading the light among the 8000 Indians and Esquimaux, members of the Catholic Church," said Brother Feltes.

The plane which will be used for communication between the chain of Jesuit missions extending from Behring Strait to Anchorage and inland to Fairbanks is equipped with radio and other conveniences.

ACTION IN FUNDS CASE SET ASIDE

Charges Against Culver City Five Off Calendar

Move Taken as Step to New Grand Jury Inquiry

Officials Accused as Result of Asserted Plot

Suspending court action against Reve Houck, Earl Bobier, Dave Clark, Josiah Coombs and Milt Gardner, former Culver City officials, Superior Judge Fulkerth yesterday ordered charges of misappropriation of public funds placed "off calendar" pending a reconsideration of the case by the county grand jury.

A week ago Superior Judge Wilson sustained demurrers to the indictment. When the case was called for trial yesterday, it became necessary either to dismiss the action or to hold it in abeyance pending further grand-jury inquiry.

The five men were accused of misusing Culver City funds in an asserted plot to purchase transient votes to swing an annexation election. Although it is charged that the money was spent in the scheme, the actual purchase of votes was never carried out, according to investigating officers.

PATERNITY PERJURY DENIED

Mrs. Davis Affirms Truth of Affidavit Holding Pseudo Count to be Her Son's Father

Mrs. Myrtle Nisbett Davis, arrested Monday with Eugen Reique, pseudo Belgian count, yesterday denied that she committed perjury in swearing to an affidavit that Reique is the father of her 10-year-old son, and further declared that the boy was born on July 3, 1920, fifteen months before she married her present husband, John C. Davis, Sr., of Alhambra.

The woman was questioned yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Smith as to her relations with Reique, and the subsequent charges brought against the pair by the husband. Both were arrested Monday in Fresno, where they were traced by Davis, on warrants charging perjury and conspiracy to commit perjury, the asserted offense being a birth certificate filed on the parenthood of John C. Davis, Jr.

Mrs. Davis denied, according to the authorities, the charges of her husband, and declared Reique is the father of her son. He and Mrs. Davis, according to the husband, "eloped" in May of last year.

Reique and Mrs. Davis were arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday and their preliminary hearing set for next Tuesday at 10 a.m. They were unable to provide bail of $5000 and are confined in the County Jail.

Court Refuses to Kill Pay Plea

Demurrers to the mandamus petition of Samuel Knight, former Watts city marshal, appointed to the Los Angeles police force on the annexation of that city, and now asking that the Police Commission pay him $8137.50 back salary, were overruled by Superior Judge Hardy yesterday.

Knight declared, through his attorney, George Rochester, that he was dismissed August 16, 1926, without official notice, and has been waiting for that notice ever since. Finally, he declared, he learned he was entitled to almost four years of back salary and sued to compel city officials to pay it.

CHARGE OF GIRL JAILS MOTORIST

Battle on Street With Possible Kidnaper Told by High School Student

With fingernails and fists, Jane Bernstein, 15-year-old high-school girl, yesterday frustrated what police say may have been a kidnap attempt, or merely the desire of a motorist to compel her to accompany him on an automobile ride.

Mike J. Kelly, 37, giving his occupation as salesman and his address as 1032 West Thirty-third street, was pointed out by Jane as the motorist who had accosted her and he was arrested despite his vigorous denials.

Jane, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Clara Bernstein, at 256 South Kenmore street, told police she was walking along the sidewalk not far from her home when an automobile drove up to the curb, and the man at the wheel urged her to enter the car.

When she refused, Jane said, the man jumped out of the car and caught her by the shoulders. She fought him off and he drove off rapidly, apparently fearful of the pedestrians attracted by the girl's frightened cries.

Detectives from the Wilshire police station were summoned, and for twenty minutes Jane accompanied them in their automobile, seeking the man she charges had accosted her. She finally pointed out Kelly, who was sitting in his automobile at First street and New Hampshire avenue. Kelly, police say, jumped out of his car when he saw the detectives and Jane, and ran into the hallway of an apartment-house, where he was overtaken and submitted to arrest without a struggle.

'BUCKETING' CHARGE NOT SUSTAINED

Fleming & Co. Trio Held, However, to Face Court on Grand Theft Count

Demurrers to six counts of operating a bucket shop charged to E. K. Fleming, M. G. Phillips and Charles Glanz were sustained by Superior Judge McComb yesterday following argument by John S. Cooper, attorney for the defendants. Demurrers against four counts of grand theft set forth in the same indictment were denied, however.

Judge McComb then put the case off calendar temporarily that the matter may be referred back to the grand jury for reconsideration and an amended indictment drawn if deemed proper.

Fleming, Phillips and Glanz, officials of E. K. Fleming & Co., were indicted by the county grand jury shortly after the concern's license was suspended by the State Corporation Commissioner. It was charged that they defrauded investors in several instances, using bucket-shop methods.

Wilshire Area Lot Bought for New Building

Cash sale of a Wilshire Boulevard corner for $289,000 and the erection of a building within two months to cost approximately $150,000 was announced yesterday by R. E. Taylor, Wilshire Boulevard realty broker.

The corner was sold by Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich to a syndicate and is situated at San Vicente and Wilshire boulevards. It fronts 395 feet on Wilshire and 362 feet on San Vicente, ranging in depth from twenty-eight feet to 275 feet, being trianqular in shape.

Plans for the buildings, which will be two stories in height surmounted by a tower six stories above the main building, are being prepared by S. Charles Lee, architect. The structure will provide for stores on the ground floor and offices above.

A passing remark and promise of a reward if certain heights in efficiency were obtained by chefs at the Casa La Golondrina on Olvera street, was made by Senora Bonzo, hostess. It resulted in a very unusual dinner, held Monday evening and attended only by employees who as guests were served personally by the owners and managers of the three locations. HEALTHFUL COOKING

Broiling, grilling and roasting are much alike, and consist in cooking food by direct radiation in an unconfined atmosphere so that the steam is allowed to escape. Broiling and grilling are used for the small cuts of meat, and roasting for the large joints. These three processes aim at quickly coagulating the surface of the meat so that the interior juices are locked in, and those which do escape are used to baste the meat to prevent drying. Because of the high temperature on the surface of the meat, a particularly tasty substance is produced which gives the delightful flavor.

Salisbury steak when broiled has a peculiarly fine flavor. Overbroiling the meat should be avoided, or it will taste scorched, but if it is properly basted this can be avoided.

GRILLING

When grilling, the cuts are cooked quickly and it is necessary to use more tender and expensive meats. Fish, small steaks, chops and bacon may be done in this way. The food is put under the hot flame or over the hot coals and seared on both sides. It is frequently turned to insure even cooking, and a chop may be cooked in nine minutes in this way, while a steak takes no more than ten to fifteen minutes. This process of broiling or grilling is used for meat which is cut flat and not too thick.

STEAMING

Steaming is one of the most valuable methods of cooking that may be used for vegetables, for it retains their full flavor. The use of the heavy aluminum cooking vessels for this purpose is very satisfactory, as they distribute the heat evenly over the interior to prevent scorching. There are also regular steamers which may be used to prepare vegetables. This method preserves all of the flavors and juices as well as the mineral elements which may be partially destroyed by prolonged intensive heat.

Fireless cooking is a very fine method of preparing food which is not used as extensively as it might be. It is a process of very slow cooking at a moderate temperature and can be used for either meats or vegetables. Often very tough meat or chicken can be made very tender if it spends six or eight hours in the fireless cooker.

Cooks can avoid monotony in the preparation of their foods if they will learn to use these different methods.

The same foods when prepared by boiling, stewing, baking, frying or steaming may assume an entirely different flavor and appearance with each method. I am sure that there need be no monotony in preparing wholesome foods if a little thought is given to their preparation.

Cooks may be among the greatest helpers of mankind if they really learn the dietetic principles as well as the science and arts of cookery. I am pleased to know that cooks are taking more of an interest in the dietetic principles, and the time may yet come when cooks will serve properly prepared foods in wholesome combinations so that the average person may not need to worry so much about foods and their proper selection.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

LEMON PUDDING

One-half cupful of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of boiling water, one-half cupful of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of grated lemon rind, one-half cupful of orange juice, six eggs. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks, and gradually add to them while beating, the sugar. Place the water, fruit juices, and grated rind in a double boiler, gradually add the beaten egg yolks, and sugar, and simmer slowly until thick. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, cool the mixture, place in serving glasses, garnish with a spiral of whipped cream.

CARROT JAM

One quart of cold water, one and one-half pounds of carrots, one-half cupful of lemon juice, one-half cupful of chopped nut meats. Put the carrots through the fine knife of a meat grinder, add the four cupfuls of cold water, place on the fire, and when beginning to boil, cover tightly and reduce the flame so they would just simmer. Cook gently until tender add the lemon juice, add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, for each cupful of pulp, and mix until well blended. Stir and cook quickly, drop a spoonful of the mixture on a plate, and if it jells it is ready to place in glasses, add the chopped nuts, allow to cool, and cover with paraffin.

RICE MOLD WITH SALMON AND OLIVE SAUCE

One cupful of cooked rice, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, three eggs, a seasoning of salt, and white pepper, add the milk, and well-beaten eggs to the rice, season with salt and pepper, place in buttered custard cups, and bake in a moderate oven until firm.

SALMON AND OLIVE SAUCE

Two cupfuls of medium cream sauce, one and one-half cupfuls of drained cooked salmon, one-half cupful of chopped ripe olives, one-half teaspoonful of Worchestershire sauce, a seasoning of celery salt, paprika, add the salmon, chopped olives, and seasonings to the cream sauce, allow to heat unmold the rice. Pour the sauce over it, and garnish with parsley.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY FINDS THE CLOTHESPINS

The one who does a thing forbidden
Is wisest when he keeps well hidden.
—Jim Crow.

Farmer Brown's Boy looked first all about the house outside. Then all around the yard and finally out in the barn. But Jim Crow was not to be found. "The black rascal!" muttered Farmer Brown's Boy. "He knows well enough that in stealing those clothespins he was getting in mischief. Now, he's keeping out of sight. I suppose he has hidden those clothespins in his treasure house. I guess it's a good thing I know where that treasure house is."

Now, what Farmer Brown's Boy called Jim Crow's "treasure house" was merely Jim Crow's hiding place for various things that he might pick up from time to time. Jim Crow, like most other Crows, had a fondness for picking up and hiding all sorts of small articles, especially such as were shiny. These things he hid up in a corner of the haymow. He was always very secretive when hiding things. He would watch to see that no one was looking. He never took anything there openly. Farmer Brown's Boy had discovered Jim Crow's house quite by accident. He didn't let Jim Crow know that he had discovered it. When some small object that was wanted proved to be missing, Farmer Brown's Boy would visit that treasure house when Jim Crow was not about. Usually, he found the missing article. So now, Farmer Brown's Boy had no doubt at all that he would find the missing clothespins in that treasure house.

"I'll have those clothespins for you inside of five minutes," he promised Mother Brown, and at once went up in the haymow to Jim Crow's treasure house. There he found just one clothespin and that an old one that had been there some time. "Well, what do you know about this!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "If that black rascal really did take those clothespins, he must have put them in a new hiding place, and I haven't the remotest idea where such a place may be."

Farmer Brown's Boy went out into the yard and whistled a peculiar call. It was one he always used to call Jim Crow. A moment later Jim Crow appeared on the ridgepole of the barn. Then he flew down to the shoulder of Farmer Brown's Boy.

"So you were out behind the barn, were you?" said Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Caw!" replied Jim Crow, which might have meant anything.

"What have you done with those clothespins?" demanded Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Caw!" replied Jim Crow, and Farmer Brown's Boy was just as wise as before.

"You ought to be shut up for punishment," said Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Caw!" said Jim Crow, and it sounded as if he chuckled at the same time.

"I suppose I've got to trick you to find that new hiding place," said Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Caw!" said Jim Crow, quite as if he approved.

So Farmer Brown's Boy went into the house and got one of the few remaining clothespins. It was a nice new one. He pinned one of the sheets with it and then went back into the house, leaving Jim Crow outside. Then he peeped out the kitchen window. Jim Crow sat on a clothespost. It was plain to see that the black scamp was watching the house closely. Presently he flew over to the clothesline, pulled out the clothespin and away he went around behind the barn. Farmer Brown's Boy lost no time. He raced across to the barn and through the barn to where he could peek through a little window. He was just in time to see Jim Crow fly away from the top of a straw stack out in the barnyard. Farmer Brown's Boy grinned. He got a short ladder and climbed up to the top of the straw stack. There in a hollow in the straw were all of Mother Brown's clothespins.

"Caw!" replied Jim Crow, and Farmer Brown's Boy was just as wise as before

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers instruction on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stye and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SHALL CHILD BE TAUGHT TO DEFEND HIMSELF?

Hitting back when hit seems to be one of those natural responses which need not be taught, which develop of themselves when the opportune moment arrives. Usually one need not say to a child, "Take your own part, sonny, and hit him if he hits you," because the child does this spontaneously if he is struck.

The child who cannot take his own part may be cowed at home and dares not raise his hand in self-defense. We advocate unalterably no slapping on the part of the parent, but rather allowing the child to learn by experience how to take his own part when playing with other children. The adult is an unfair opponent, but few children, even if uncoached by the parent, will stand being hit by another child. The child who flies to his mother, crying for protection, invites the slaps and bullying of the whole neighborhood. Give your child a feeling of courage and self-reliance by not taking unfair advantage of his weakness, and he'll take care of himself outside the home.

NEVER CONSTIPATED

Mrs. F. N. says her babies are Eldred-reared ones. She asks: "Am I intolerant to say that no child be the victim of chronic constipation? My 5-year-old and 20-months-old have never had a physic, though the baby was constipated when first put on a bottle, a matter which was regulated by changes in the formula. In one breath people say: 'What do you feed such healthy children?' and in the next 'Oh, it is is just natural for them to be fat, for I give mine everything and see how thin he is.' You'd be as proud of my babies as I am, Mrs. Eldred, for your column and leaflets helped me rear them.

"The big problem now is to slap or not to slap! I have been recently confirmed in the idea that if a child is taught to slap back he forgets the 'back' and just slaps. I have never been quarrelsome and do not regret it, while my friends who won't take anything seem to have to live up to their reputation and have something to resent all the time."

QUARRELING TEACHES PEACE

Just one word more about the quarreling. Don't you think you confuse the question by comparing adults and children? Children are in a primitive stage of development and quarrel to learn how to keep peace. By the time a person is grown he should have learned how to keep peace without quarreling. If he hasn't, he is still a child.

Constipation is a bad habit induced by too-frequent use of laxatives and physics. Children who are really constipated, from failure of muscles to act or poor diet, need a better diet to build up all muscles, mechanical irritants to stimulate action, sometimes enemas for a too-small rectum, sometimes adhesive band strappings to give firmness to a flabby, fat abdomen, but always a readjustment of the diet to give the child something to concrete. It is useless and criminal to keep dosing a baby, thus destroying daily movements when the natural materials for such movements are absent from the diet.

He says as his losses through abandonment of the picture Stewart previously had paid McPherson for expenses having claimed a personal probable income of $75,000.

Freedom for Sports
every day in summer with this sanitary protection

Kotex stays light, cool and delicate for hours... giving unique summer comfort.

MODERN living demands so much of us. Freedom and perfect poise... every day of every month ... for sports or business or some other interest.

This constant activity would be very difficult, particularly in summer, without the wonderful comfort provided by Kotex. Kotex... with its light, cool construction... its careful shaping... its safe deodorizing... its easy disposability.

Used in hospitals

Many of the unusual comforts of Kotex are due to its unusual filler, Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This material is used by 85% of America's leading hospitals, because of its comfort, absorbency, and hygienic safety.

Cellucotton absorbs five times as much as an equal weight of cotton, or any cotton material. This means your Kotex pad can be five times lighter than ordinary pads, yet have the same absorbency.

And Cellucotton absorbs away from the surface. It is made in sheer layers, laid lengthwise. These layers permit free circulation of air, and they carry moisture quickly away from the surface. Thus Kotex remains soft and delicate.

Kotex deodorizes. And it is never conspicuous. The corners are rounded and tapered to eliminate bulging, awkward corners. You dispose of Kotex just as you would a piece of tissue. No washing, no embarrassment. All drug and department stores sell Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness that soon packs into uncomfortable hardness. But a delightfully lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

WIFE LOSES BALM SUIT FOR $100,000

Mrs. Rosenberg Fails in Action Against Couple; Ring Theft Also Charged

Denying the $100,000 sought as damages by Mrs. Clara Rosenberg, a jury yesterday reported to Superior Judge Gans a verdict for the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koratzky, sued for asserted alienation of the affections of their nephew, Aaron Rosenberg.

Mrs. Rosenberg had asserted that the Koratzkys lured away her husband by telling him he should woo a rich widow. Rosenberg testified for his uncle and aunt, and said that his love cooled when he tore his trousers while climbing a fence to pick a flower at his wife's insistence.

Attorneys Max Lewis and Armand Emanuel represented the defendants. Koratzky is a wealthy jeweler.

As an aftermath to the damage suit, Rosenberg went to trial in Superior Judge Tuttle's court on a charge of stealing his wife's engagement ring, asserted by her to be worth $1000.

Represented by the same attorneys who defended his uncle, Rosenberg said he lost the ring through a hole in his pocket, after he had picked it up from a washstand.

Mrs. Rosenberg said she took the ring off while she was washing dishes and when she returned to looked for it, it had disappeared.

NEW FIGHT ON HORTONS' WILLS BEGUN

Nephews and Nieces Start Second Contest, Charging Undue Influence

Two contests to the wills of Wade Albert Horton and his brother, George B. Horton, were on file in Probate Court yesterday, as a second action by nephews and nieces of the two aged men was begun to determine the ownership of the $125,000 estate, including seventy acres of land near Saugus.

Wade Horton was mysteriously murdered May 18, last, and his brother, George, died five weeks later. Each left a will bequeathing the property to his brother, with a provision in the will of the surviving brother that in case of predecease a nephew and niece, Walter A. Hewitt and Mrs. Dalla A. Berryman should inherit.

In the first contest, filed before George Horton's death, it was contended that the property was held in trust for the mother of the two decedents. In the contest to George Horton's will, it was asserted he was unduly influenced by Hewitt and Mrs. Berryman.

The contestants, who include Wade M. Horton, Elizabeth Diehl, Jasper Horton and Amanda McCleary, assert the property was held in trust for their grandmother, Portina Horton, whose estate, it is argued, never had been probated.

LARGE BUILDING PROGRAM TOLD

Income Trust Will Finance $4,500,000 Project

Structures Planned in City and Santa Monica

Tatum Concern Backing New Profit-Sharing System

Organization of a new type of profit-sharing income trust for the purpose of erecting three height-limit structures in Los Angeles and a fourteen-story building in Santa Monica at a combined cost of more than $4,500,000 was announced yesterday by Cecil B. Barker, general manager and member of C. C. C. Tatum Realtors, managers of the trust.

Known as the C. C. C. Tatum Building Income Trust, it will have a capitalization of $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 certificates of ownership in the four projects. The trust department, Bank of America of California, is trustee, and the trust is for a period of thirteen years.

BUILDINGS PLANNED

The program of the new building income trust calls for purchase of four sites at a cost of $960,000 and the construction of a height-limit office building, hotel building, apartment hotel and the fourteen-story theater, office and apartment building. Work is scheduled to be started in October on the hotel building, and the other structures will be erected soon thereafter, it was stated.

The downtown office building site is at the southwest corner of Second and Hill streets, with a frontage of 120 feet on Hill, 168 feet on Second and 120 feet on Clay street. It is to be of Class A steel-frame construction, twelve stories in height, with a terra cotta exterior. It will contain 300 offices and a 200-car garage. A seventy-five-foot ornamental tower will surmount the structure, preliminary plans for which already have been completed. Cost of the building will be approximately $1,500,000.

SITE FOR HOTEL

The hotel building, to cost $800,000, is to rise at 1521-23-25 West Seventh street, between Valencia and Union streets, directly opposite the site of the proposed Los Angeles Garden.

Site for the proposed height-limit apartment hotel is a close-in corner in the vicinity of Tenth and Alvarado streets. The structure is to be twelve stories high, of Class A reinforced concrete, and is to cost $500,000. Furnishings will cost about $100,000. The building will contain 118 apartments, three stores on the ground floor and a sixty-car garage in the basement.

The Santa Monica project, to rise on a site with 150-feet frontage on a major thoroughfare in the heart of the business district of the beach community, will cost $425,000 to build and $125,000 to furnish. It will be fourteen stories in height, with two ornamental towers, and will contain a 1500- seat theater with full stage, 168 offices, twelve stores on the ground floor, and 168 apartments. The theater is to be operated by one of the three large chain-theater organizations.

LAND DEAL SUITS WON BY FARMER

Elderly Utahan Granted $7783 Damages for Loss of Traded Property

A jury in Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday returned four verdicts in favor of Ephraim Jensen, 70-year-old retired Utah farmer, who sued two real-estate men and their sureties for the value of property in Orange county he testified he lost by trading with the defendant realty men at Oceanside.

The four verdicts won by Jensen totaled $7783, and were returned against Charles A. Turner, Ed Bartee, the Detroit Fidelity and Surety Company and the Pacific Indemnity Company.

According to California law, real-estate dealers are bonded and damages verdicts against them in a real-estate transaction, except exemplary damages, run against their sureties as well. Exemplary damages against Turner were $400, and against Bartee, $600.

Testimony by witnesses for the plaintiff showed that the defendant agents promised to "turn" property purchased by Jensen at a profit, promising that if they did not do so they would give him his money back with 8 per cent interest. Jensen, unable to keep up his payments, asked for a return of his money, and when he failed to get it employed Attorney Clyde Triplett to bring suit.

SALVAGE SALES REGULATED

Police Commission to Require Permits from All Organizations Selling Discarded Material

All charitable organizations conducting sales of discarded clothing other second-hand material, either at permanently established shops or special bazaars lasting longer than one day, will in the future be required to obtain permits from the Police Commission, it was decided by that body yesterday. This action was taken after it was disclosed during the meeting that the ordinance covering the regulation of second-hand dealers does not specifically except charitable organizations or churches from the necessity of obtaining permits.

This belated discovery of the pro-section of the second-hand ordinance is that this section also makes it necessary for all sellers of second-hand material to make voluminous and exact reports covering all material which is taken to them for sale and concerning the persons who take the material to them, these reports to contain a full description of the donors of the material. In the opinion of the Deputy City Attorney, it is as much incumbent on the commission to enforce this provision of the ordinance as the provision for the $10 permit fee.

ONE OF MANY

She was surprised by this notification, she said, inasmuch as her organization is a member of the Community Chest, is approved by the City Social Service Commission, and the shop it conducts is run on the same plan as similar shops conducted by other agencies, such as the Assistance League, Salvation Army, Children's Hospital and Good Will Industries.

None of the other organizations, she pointed out, has so far been required to take out a second-hand dealer's license and she asked the commission to adopt a definite policy toward all of them. A second-hand dealer's license may cost as high as several hundred dollars, the cost being based on the amount of business done.

NO LICENSE NEEDED

Deputy City Attorney Kitsmiller was asked by the commission whether the charitable organizations are excepted from the provisions of the second-hand dealer ordinance and he replied they are exempted from the necessity of obtaining the dealer license but are not exempted from obtaining permits. The permit costs $10.

Another fact which came out later was unknown to the commission at the time it moved to notify the charitable organizations that they are amenable to the permit fee.

TAX AFFIDAVIT RIDICULED

County Assessor Hopkins Declares Charges Made by Husband to Supervisors "Politics"

"Politics," was the way Edward W. Hopkins, County Assessor, characterized the assertions made against him yesterday to the effect that he had failed to collect $200,000 in taxes for the taxpayers of Los Angeles county, from three Los Angeles brokerage concerns.

The charges were made in an affidavit filed with the Board of Supervisors. It was sworn to by Charles J. Husband, ex-deputy assessor in Hopkins's office, on Monday.

In his letter accompanying his affidavit, Husband asks that the Supervisors proceed as prescribed by Section 3661 of the revenue law of California, to recover the $200,000 which he avers was lost during 1929 and 1930 because of the failure of the Assessor to make a levy against the solvent credits of the three companies.

The companies named are the local branch offices of E. F. Hutton & Co., Logan & Bryan and E. A. Pierce & Co. Other companies of the same nature, Husband asserts, were taxed.

"Nothing but politics that this same person has been directing toward this office for personal reasons," said Hopkins.

The Assessor declared that the principal place of business of the three companies named is at San Francisco. The offices here are only branch offices, he said.

"Relative to the taxes on stocks and other personal property under the control of the three companies, E. F. Hutton & Co. paid Los Angeles county in excess of $34,000 this year, while Logan & Bryan paid us more than $18,000 and E. A. Pierce & Co. more than $7682," Hopkins said.

Chief Clerk Beatty of the Board of Supervisors referred the affidavit to the County Counsel for an opinion.

PEOPLE said..."there is nothing new under the sun"...but astronomers discovered a new planet. It is protected from infringement by full patent rights. By this method certain desirable elements, lost in the ordinary processes of refining, are retained.

TWO HOODLUMS HOLD UP WOMEN

Pair Make Bold Entry Into Apartment-house

One of Victims Gives Up Large Diamond

Other Saves $5000 in Gems by Hiding Them

Two terrified women faced two armed hoodlums late yesterday in an apartment-house at 1029 South Corning street. One of the women was cowed into giving the intruders her jewelry, but the other duped them into believing she had none, and saved articles she values at $5000.

The woman robbed is Mrs. T. H. McGoskey, wife of a salesman. Her neighbor in the apartment-house, whose social call was interrupted by the two bandits, who burt into the apartment, revolvers in hand, is Mrs. H. Swane. She told police she had hidden her jewelry in her hand and thus managed to save it.

The women told Detective Lieutenants Perry and Fuller they had noticed the two men loitering in the neighborhood for several days. They were young, well dressed, and seemingly had been attracted by the jewels they had seen Mrs. McGoskey and Mrs. Swane wearing.

They apparently awaited a time when no men were about, and late in the afternoon rang Mrs. McGoskey's doorbell with an inquiry concerning the whereabouts of her husband.

"We're process servers and he's wanted in a lawsuit," the two told the woman, and when she explained her husband was out they at once drew revolvers and forced their way into the apartment.

Mrs. McGoskey was wearing a two-carat diamond ring which she was compelled to turn over to the hoodlums. Mrs. Swane, meanwhile, had cupped such gems as she had in her hand, and when accosted by the pair displayed the backs of her bare hands and they accepted this as proof she owned no jewels.

THREE HOLD-UPS REPORTED TO POLICE

Three hold-ups were reported to police last night, two filling stations and a drug store.

At the Associated service station at 3852 West Slauson two bandits robbed Frank Strauff of $15. He fired twice at them as they disappeared. At Frank's Service Station, 4700 West Jefferson Boulevard, robbers got $12.

The Delando Pharmacy, 5800 West Pico street, lost $25.

NEW SCHOOL ERA SIGHTED BY LINDSEY

Veteran Denver Jurist in Address at Tea Given in Colleen Moore's Home

Judge Ben Lindsey, veteran of the juvenile bench in Denver yesterday declared in an address at an educational tea given at the home of Coleen Moore in Bel-Air, that the methods of child training are changing rapidly and that in a few years the ways of the little red school will be archaic.

"The greatest of all crimes against children," Judge Lindsey said, "is to deprive them of the right to think."

He said he had watched educational experiments, including those made by Thomas Edison, where small children were lead to find interest in their studies and thus forget the idea of work.

The program was sponsored by the Progressive School of Los Angeles and a motion picture was shown detailing the courses given small children at the institution.

Augustus Legg, Retired Railway Man, Succumbs

Augustus M. Legg, native of Missouri, died early yesterday morning at St. Vincent's Hospital of a complication of diseases. He would have been 80 years of age on December 1, next.

Mr. Legg retired three years ago, after forty years of service with the Wabash Railway, with headquarters in St. Louis, his home. He moved to California at that time. He had not been well in recent months, but was in the hospital only two weeks before death.

He leaves his widow, who was at the bedside; three sons, Chester A., and Sidney C., of Chicago, and Morris of Los Angeles, who is ill in the hospital; two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Bunting of Decatur, Ill., and Mrs. F. L. Horr of St. Louis.

Funeral services will be conducted in St. Louis, and arrangements await the arrival here of the son, Chester A., of Chicago, who is expected tomorrow by air.

FOUR ARRESTED FOR GUN TOTING

Suspects Taken After Chase in Auto by Police

Prisoners Claim Connection with Gambling Ship

Permits to Carry Weapons Declared too Old

Activities of four men, James Russo of 5533 Hollywood Boulevard, John Rosselli of 1043 West Sixth street, John Canzoneri of 1402 East Twelfth street and Jack I. Dragna of 3662 Mettler street, taken into custody at an early hour yesterday morning with four revolvers and one shotgun in their possession, are being carefully checked by Detective Lieutenants Mailheau and Gibson of the police robbery detail.

The guns are being held as evidence at the City Jail. All four were individually questioned by the detectives and by Inspector of Detectives Longuevan but none changed his original statement that they carried the weapons for their own protection and for no other purpose.

CHECK ON GAMBLING SHIP

The detectives left late in the afternoon for Los Angeles Harbor to check Dragna's story that he is part owner of the gambling ship Monfalcone and that he and his companions had been aboard the vessel on the night before their arrest. Russo asserted he was employed on the boat, the detectives said.

If unable to identify any of the suspects as bandits or gunmen the detectives declared they will file complaints against them charging them with violation of the California gun law. Dragna and Canzoneri declared when taken into custody that they had permits to carry guns. The detectives stated they found these were issued in 1918 and are no good now.

ARREST FOLLOWS CHASE

The quartette were arrested when they failed to make a boulevard stop at Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont avenue, by Officers Regur and Wolfer, and after the officers had chased them for half a dozen blocks.

A possible shooting was averted, the officers reported, when Regur knocked the shotgun from the hands of Canzoneri and jammed his own revolver into the ribs of the suspect, forcing his surrender.

Naval Treaty Signing Shown by Newsreel

Signing of the London naval pact by President Hoover, following its ratification by the Senate, is among the highlights of the current issue of The Times-Universal Newsreel now on view at Southern California theaters. The Chief Executive is shown affixing his signature to the document in the presence of British delegates and other officials. Graham McNamee, talking reporter, identifies those present.

The all-American air derby, a melon-eating contest in Harlem, a children's festival in Iceland, the dynamiting of a tunnel in England, a mountain-climbing contest by motorcyclists at Franklin Canyon, Cal., and the spraying of swamps in Virginia to exterminate crop pests are among the other current events shown.

The schedule may be obtained by phoning Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and inquiring about Newsreel No. 60.

Mr. Lissner, a native of California, received his legal education in this city and was for many years active in civic affairs, was one of the organizers of the Los Angeles City Club and prominent in affairs of the Municipal League. Steckel Increases Patrols in Robbery Details

Officers in Plain Clothes to Make Round-up

Chicago Gangster Influx Blamed for Crimes

One hundred and fifty plain-clothes detectives, a majority from the vice division, were drafted into the burglary and robbery details by Chief of Police Steckel last night in a drive on crime in Los Angeles.

Either because of the influx of hoodlums from Chicago, or other reasons, this city has recently experienced a sharp increase in robberies, burglaries and crimes of violence, figures recently issued disclose.

ROUND-UP ORDERED

With the enlistment of the additional forces last night, orders were issued for a general round-up of all suspicious characters.

Equipped with sawed-off shotguns, and tear bombs, motor patrols began a close supervision of the residential and business districts during the hours when most of the crimes recently have been committed, and this supervision will be rigorously maintained, Chief Steckel said.

Loiterers on the streets at late hours will be questioned, and must be prepared to convince the authorities they are law abiding if they desire to avoid a trip to the police station.

CRIMES INCREASE

Uniformed men on patrol duty throughout the city received orders to co-operate closely with the motor patrols in the burglary and robbery details, and to give every aid possible in cleaning up the city.

So far this month there have been 105 robberies in Los Angeles, and Chief Steckel is convinced hoodlums recently arrived from Chicago and living on the outskirts of the city, are patiently awaiting any further opportunities that may arise to prey upon the residents.

"We mustn't give them this opportunity, and must take vigorous steps to reduce the number of robberies and major crimes occurring in this city," said the Chief.

FILM CHIEF LANDS NEW ASSIGNMENT

Von Stroheim to Direct Making of Talk Picture of His First Success

Erich Von Stroheim, one of Hollywood's most successful but reputedly most costly motion-picture directors, is going to be given the opportunity to show the world what he can do as a director on a talking picture. According to announcement made yesterday by Carl Laemmle, Sr., Von Stroheim has been signed to a contract to direct the dialogue version of "Blind Husbands," which was his first and most successful screen story.

It was in 1917 that Laemmle gave Von Stroheim his first big chance. The latter was working as a technical director at that time when he submitted the story of "Blind Husbands" and was given the lead as well as the directorial assignment.

The silent version of this picture proved one of Universal's outstanding hits of the time.

Von Stroheim is now en route to New York where he will sail for his first visit in fifteen years to Vienna. He will return to the studio later to commence preparations for the picture.

Frances Dee and Relic

An axle hewn from an oaken timber by pioneers in the days of '49 was added yesterday to the collection of relics cherished by Frances Dee, film actress and amateur archeologist. It was found in Death Valley by a party of "location scouts."

Miss Dee, who is under contract at Paramount studios, started her archeological collection with some arrowheads brought back from the wilderness some time ago. It now numbers numerous and various items, most of which were found on California soil.

VAN LOAN TO FACE MORE ACCUSERS

Short Story Writer and Playwright Rearrested as Fugitive Case Gets Delay

H. H. Van Loan, short-story writer and playwright, gained a delay in fugitive proceedings against him yesterday in Municipal Judge Ballard's court, only to be rearrested by Deputy Marshal O'Connell and taken before another court on additional charges.

Van Loan was arrested following his failure to appear before Referee Nod Mulville for examination as a judgment debtor in three civil actions. O'Connor conducted the writer to Judge Mulville's court, where he was arraigned on three warrants charging contempt of court for his failure to appear and was ordered to return Monday at 10 a.m. for examination as to his assets. He was released without bail until that time by Judge Mulville.

The fugitive extradition hearing, which charges the writer with abandoning his minor child in New York, was continued by Judge Ballard until August 5, next, when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman reported New York officers had not yet arrived with the necessary papers.

Health Officer Gives Warning on Paralysis

A warning to the public not to relax vigilance against infection from infantile paralysis because the malady is reported to be on the decline, was issued yesterday by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer.

"It is up to the public to continue its fine co-operation to stamp out this disease entirely, long before school opens in the fall," Dr. Pomeroy said.

Figures compiled by the county health department indicate a decline of 50 per cent in the county within the last week. Complete figures for the same period reveal a total of twenty-five cases in county territory.

This decrease, while hopeful, Dr. Pomeroy says, does not mean that all danger is past.

WOMAN PEDESTRIAN KILLED ON CROSSING

Mrs. Laura Scott, 58 years of age, 2243 Terrace Heights avenue, was fatally injured last night when struck by an auto while crossing the street at Terrace Heights avenue and Soto street. She was rushed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where it was found she was suffering from a crushed chest and a basal skull fracture. She died shortly after her arrival. Police say the machine was driven by Frank Stallings, 245 South Montebello Boulevard, Montebello. He was not held.

BERMAN FACES PROBABLE WRIT

Federal Order Asked to Get Grider Case Evidence

Plea Sent Attorney-General by Deputy Prosecutor

Bribery of Juror in First Julian Trial Charged

Attempting to insure the testimony of Jacob Berman at the trial of Frank C. Grider in Superior Judge Wilson's court on August 4 a telegram was sent yesterday to United States Attorney-General Mitchell by Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart requesting a writ of ad testificandum to permit his appearance as a witness.

This move was made despite the fact that Berman already has stated that he will not testify against Grider because he believes that he is innocent. Stewart incorporated Berman's assertion in his dispatch to Mitchell.

Grider faces trial on a charge of accepting a bribe indirectly from Berman during the original Julian trial to vote "not guilty" when the jury, of which he was a member, began its deliberations.

At the same time Harold Jones, deputy District Attorney aiding in preparing the prosecution's case, appeared in Superior Judge Wilson's court and requested that the indictment against Grider be amended to exclude the name of Louis Krause, asserted go-be ween. This move, it is understood, is being made so that Berman may testify legally if authorization from Federal authorities can be obtained. Should permission to amend the indictment be granted it will be so worded that Berman cannot be termed an accomplice. Under the California law an accomplice cannot testify against a defendant.

William Berne, attorney for Grider, filed a counter-affidavit opposing the request of the District Attorney's office contending that such an amendment is not proper in this case.

Judge Wilson took the matter under submission until Friday.

Berman, who at present is a Federal prisoner under sentence to a seven-year term at McNeil's Island prison, is scheduled to appear today before Superior Judge Schauer for sentence on three counts of forgery of which he was convicted last week.

The forgeries were asserted to have been executed on Julian stock certificates shortly before the Julian Petroleum Corporation collapsed.

MUSIC AT CAMPS HATH CHARMS FOR RATTLERS

Hereafter when you go on a camping trip to the mountains and have a radio set as part of your equipment, be sure to also have along some of the time-honored antidote for snake bite, for rattlers are attracted by radio music, according to some of the Los Angeles county forest rangers. Recently eight of the reptiles were captured in one night at a camp at Pine Flats after the rangers in camp spent the evening listening to music over the air.

"Funny thing about it, there was not the sign of a rattler near the camp during the day, not until after the radio was turned on in the evening," said C. O. Gerhardy, assistant forester in charge of reforestration, while relating the experience.

Each snake was captured alive and placed in a box, Gerhardy said. The next morning all were dead. The largest one was dead after having half swallowed the body of the smallest. The others had died peacefully and quietly, probably from confinement, or too much music, the rangers declared.

Judge Sproul recently spent a night at a camp at Lake Arrowhead. A radio was part of the evening entertainment. That night the judge awoke to find a large rattlesnake alongside of him, outside of his blankets.

And, not so long ago, a family living at the outskirts of Los Angeles came into their living room after dinner one evening to find a rattlesnake coiled up on a rug in front of the radio set which had been playing during the meal. The snake seemed charmed by the music and was easily killed.

POISON THEORY DISPROVED

Belief that the sudden death of Mrs. Adelaide E. Show, 36 years of age, on the 18th inst., might have been the result of poison, self-administered, was dispelled by Coroner Nance yesterday following a post-mortem examination of the body. Death was pronounced due to a heart attack.

Mrs. Show, who lived at 2956 Edgehill Drive, was dining with her estranged husband, E. M. Show, in a downtown cafe when she became violently ill and died a few minutes later. Police were called and the case first was believed to have been suicide.

No trace of poison was found.

DOOM WILLED FOR PETS HELD HUMANE BY SOCIETY

A resolution wherein it was stated that any interference with the will of Mrs. Nellie Winterman, regarding the humane disposition of her five pet animals by having them put to sleep by a veterinarian, would be a violation of the constitutional rights of a citizen, was passed yesterday by the Anti-Vivisection Society at a meeting held at their headquarters, room 501, Bryson Building.

Arguments advanced by the society were that the animals are old and that they have been surrounded with unusual comfort and care which they could not receive if sold. Placing animals in so-called good homes was said to prove impractical and inhuman in 90 per cent of the cases in which it was tried.

Interference with Mrs. Winterman's will would be unwarranted and illegal, the society declares. Representatives present at the meeting were Inglewood Humane Society, La Crescenta Valley Humane Society, San Gabriel Valley Humane Society, Hollywood Valley Band of Mercy, Mercedes Club, California Anti-Vivisection Society and Los Angeles Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

A temporary restraining order returnable the 31st inst. against the proposed execution has been signed by Judge Hazlett and filed by Attorney Griffith Jones.

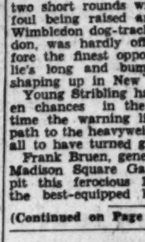
NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—Young Bill Stribling, for years the "king of the canebrakes," is headed back to the main highways of fistiana under a head of steam that whistles menacingly for Victorio Campolo, Jack Sharkey and lastly, Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion at the moment.



YOUNG STRIBLING

The satisfying news the Macon aviator had crumpled Phil Scott, the gangling Briton, in two short rounds without a cry of foul being raised anywhere in the Wimbledon dog-track arena in London, was hardly off the wires before the finest opportunity of Willie's long and bumpy career was shaping up in New York.

Young Stribling has muffed golden chances in the past, but this time the warning lights along the path to the heavyweight crown seem all to have turned green for him.

COUNTY COURT PLAY TO START

Men's Singles Wide Open as Stars Absent

With Ellsworth Vines, Keith Gledhill, Sydney Wood, Jerry Bartosh, Jack Tidball and other local tennis stars playing in the East, the Los Angeles county championships, which open tomorrow on the courts of the Palomar Tennis Club, are wide-open affairs, and consequently something of a record entry list will compete for the titles, it was announced yesterday by Bill Ackerman, who is managing the affair.

GLADYS PATZ

Wood, defending champion, is playing at Seabright, leaving the men's division open for the survivor of a fast field that includes Dolf Muelheisen and Bob Muench of San Diego.

Gladys Patz returns to defend her women's singles crown, and with "Midge" Gladman and Mary Greef away, is favored to repeat. Violet Doeg will defend her junior girls' title.

Last year Muelheisen and Easton won the men's doubles title, and

ALEXANDER SIGNED UP BY TOLEDO BALL CLUB

TOLEDO (O.) July 29. (AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran with a score of years of major-league experience, was signed today by the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association, club officials announced tonight.

GROVER ALEXANDER

Alexander signed with Dallas of the Texas League after being released by the Philadelphia Nationals. Failure to keep in condition is said to have prompted his release from Dallas. He is a free agent, and will report here immediately, it was said.

HOUSE OF DAVID TEAM BOSS MAKES OFFER

MINNEAPOLIS, July 29. (AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, former veteran major-league hurler, tentatively has accepted terms to play independent baseball under Ray Doan, manager of the House of David team, it was announced here today.

Although Alexander definitely accepted his terms of $1000 for three independent games today in a telegram from Dallas, Tex., Doan said, the veteran hurler told the House of David manager over the phone tonight he will leave Dallas tomorrow for Chicago to discuss an offer supposedly made by the Toledo team of the American Association.

PETE MEYERS BEATEN

SAN JOSE (Cal.) July 29. (AP)—Johnny Benedetti, San Jose middleweight, won a gruelling ten-round decision from Pete Meyers, former San Francisco fighter, in the main event here tonight. Meyers cut Benedetti's nose in the first round, but the local Italian stuck it out and won on frequent exchanges.

Turnout of 4083 Fans Sees Seraphs Cop Struggle

BY BOB RAY

Jack Lelivelt's Angels got revenge in copious quantities out at Wrigley Field last night when they humbled Bill Henderson, the hurler, who twice let them down with three hits up at Oakland a couple of weeks ago, and downed Magician Zamloch's Oaks, 6 to 3.

JOHNNY MOORE

Henderson made the Angels look like a lot of garden gates waving in the breeze in the two games he worked against them at Oakland and the Cherubs have been hankering for another shot at him ever since. The Oakland right-hander, who was recently turned over to the Oaks by the Yankees in exchange for Lou McEvoy, was breezing along with but one run scored against him until the seventh, when he lost control and the Cherubs followed up two walks with a pair of timely hits to score three times and go out in front, 4 to 3. Just to make the victory a bit more certain the Seraphs pounded Henderson for two more runs in the eighth by way of showing him that his spell over them was ended.

Some 4083 fans saw the contest, which is a right sizeable turnout considering that ordinary Tuesday games played during the afternoons generally attract less than half that number, and the Angel officials are still just as confident as ever that night baseball is what the customers want here. The weather was perfect for night ball, but the crowd was probably lessened because of the opposition given by the Olympic fights. Tonight is ladies' night and Secretary Boots Weber is predicting another crowd of more than 8000 customers.

VICTORY FOR BAECHT

Ed Baecht, who lost two tough decisions to Henderson up at Oakland, started on the mound for Los Angeles. He didn't finish, being

CHICAGO, July 29. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs retained the same standing today, dropping a hotly contested game to the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3, while the Braves wrested a ten-inning game from Brooklyn by the same score.

Hack Wilson's thirty-third home run in the sixth brought the score up to 4 and 2, but an eighth-inning rally fell short, when Cuyler scored on Danny Taylor's single, after Wilson had walked and Grimm sacrificed. Score:

PITTSBURGH, July 29. The score was 6 to 5. In the third Paul Waner hit for the circuit with brother Lloyd on base. SPORTS SKETCH BY FEG MURRAY and Pennock had a hard time getting started, the younger and less famous George Pipgras went right on, winning seven out of his first ten games and taking a big lead off Manager Bob Shawkey's mind.

Far from being a melancholy Dane, Pip is quite a happy person, especially when he is getting his base hits. Now that double he got in beating Boston on May 19, pleased him much more than his fine twirling. Pitching is his profession, batting his passion, just as in the case of that great National League right-hander, Dazzy Vance. Well, here's hoping they each get some hits in the next world series, but I doubt if both of them are in it, anyway. George's fourth victory of the season, by the way, the one in which he smashed the aforementioned two-base hit, was his third shut-out in a month, and also the second three-hit game for him in 1930. Some of these days you're going to read of George Pipgras turning in a no-hit, no-run game. Paste that in your hat!

Pipgras has proved more than once this year that he is the star of the Yankees' hurling staff. He narrowly missed shutting out the Athletics on Thursday, May 22, beating Mahaffey, Ehmke and Rommel, 10 to 1. The A's beat him the following Sunday, Pip having one of his few wild days.

George Pipgras was born in Alameda, Cal., December 20, 1899. He did a little pitching for the Yankees in 1923 and '24, and came back as a regular in 1927, to win ten games and lose three. His big season was in 1928, with twenty-four wins against thirteen losses, while last season he won eighteen and lost twelve. His world series record is 1.000 per cent perfect, for Pip won a game from the Pirates in 1927 and one from the Cards in 1928, while losing none. You can be sure that Shawkey won't let the Great Dane escape from his kennels!

BETTY NUTHALL MAY ENTER TITLE EVENT

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—Betty Nuthall, 19-year-old English tennis star, expects to compete in the national women's championship, beginning August 18, at Forest Hills, says Louis B. Dailey, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, who has just returned from Europe.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

A FISTIC BOBBLE

THE Olympic let a fistic plum slip through its fingers when it failed to sign Young Stribling after his one-round knockout of Otto Von Porat last month.

"Pa" Stribling asked a guarantee of $15,000 for sonny to fight an opponent of the Olympic's selection.

Vittorio Campolo, massive mauler from the Argentine, was available and agreeable to the trip west.

But while the Olympic dallied Young Stribling steamed to London and stopped Phainting Phil Scott in two rounds.

Frank Bruen of the Madison Square Garden Corporation immediately spent $100 on a long distance call to London to seal the Stribling-Campolo bout just as soon as the returns from the Scott fight were in.

And the Olympic now has about as much chance of getting Stribling out this way as a one-legged man has of beating Frank Wykoff in a 100-yard dash.

Quick action would have brought the first big-time bout of the year to this city.

A portion of the $25,000 expended by the Olympic on a heavyweight show featuring Maloney, Emanuel, Campbell and Kennedy which didn't bring a "gate" to equal the output might very well have been saved for a good fight.

But the Olympic debated, and New York gets the gravy.

THE MIGHTY DO FALL

ROY (FATHER) LUMPKIN, once a good football player, has come upon evil days in the fistic racket.

In a small town in North Carolina the other night "Father" Lumpkin was knocked out in one round by an inconsequential opponent.

"Father" Lumpkin is an example of the college boy who lets the delusion of the almighty dollar warp his vision.

"Father" Lumpkin was the backbone of the attack with which Georgia Tech beat California, 8 to 7, in the annual holiday game at Pasadena, January 1, 1929.

It is true that Roy Riegels's famous reverse spin helped Georgia Tech to two points, but on the run of the play the southerners deserved to win the game, and "Father" Lumpkin was one of the decisive cogs.

He was a sophomore with two more years of play for Georgia Tech.

But "Father" Lumpkin was penny-wise and pound-foolish. He heeded the lure of a fat contract to play pro football—a contract that was never as fat in poke as it was on paper.

Then "Father" Lumkin turned to the ring. He was knocked out in 45 seconds the other night.

The coming fall would have been "Father" Lumpkin's last season on the gridiron.

He passed this up along with last year's play and a full college education for the pro racket.

The racket got him. He hit bottom at a tender age.

A REAL GRID STAR

THE death of John R. DeWitt of Princeton marks the passing of a real football star—a star from the era when the hero worshipers were not quite so plentiful but the athletes were just as marvelous as the more widely cheered current stars.

John DeWitt captained the Princeton team of 1903, and two feats in the annual game with Yale that year stand out in the minds of those who have followed football since the start of the present century.

In this particular Yale struggle DeWitt captured a blocked punt and ran sixty yards for a touchdown.

Still later in the game he dispatched a 43-yard drop kick between the uprights for the winning points.

DeWitt was an All-American guard in his senior year—1903—and he was one of the best field-goal kickers, place or drop, that ever tramped a field.

The record book is full of his kicking achievements, his best ranging up in the high fifties.

Wilde Takes Championship

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) July 29. (AP)—Bert Wilde, Bellingham pro, and Pacific Northwest open champion, won the State open golf championship today with a 283 score for seventy-two holes. Second place was cinched by Phil Taylor, Victoria (B. C.) professional, who finished four strokes behind Wilde.

Amateur honors were won by Fred Wood, Vancouver, B. C., who finished third with 289. Frank Rodia, Seattle professional and defending champion; Curley Hueston, Seattle, and A. L. Zimmerman, Portland, all professionals, tied for third, fourth and fifth money, each with 290. Wilde, the new champion, covered the par-seventy-one course with scores of 70, 68, 74 and 71, for the two days.

To Establish Eleven-City Dirt-Track Circuit

More money for the drivers and car owners and greater interest all around in the open-throttle sport was predicted for this fall and winter by local officials following the announcement by A. C. Pillsbury of the American Automobile Association that an eleven-city dirt-track auto racing circuit will soon be in operation in the West.

The loop, one of the largest of its kind in the country, will include Salt Lake City, San Jose, Fresno, Bakersfield, Ventura, Los Angeles, El Centro, Phoenix, Flagstaff, Douglas and Albuquerque.

Pillsbury stated yesterday that most of the plants will be in operation from September on throughout this year.

Quinn, Sharp and other intrepid drivers are scheduled to race Saturday night at the local Legion Ascot plant when the third six-event nocturnal program of the season will be held.

FAVOR EMANUEL AT HOLLYWOOD

San Francisco Boxer Picked to Trim Morro

Armand Emanuel, lawyer-fighter, should be and will be rated favorite over Al Morro when the two heavyweights battle at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night. Emanuel has had the greater experience and is supposed to be more matured in every way than the Burbank heavyweight Jim Jeffries is tutoring. Morro is still a mystery to local fight fans. They saw him beat Tony Stabineau in the only main event he has had here, but Emanuel is tougher game than Stabineau.

Reports have come from Burbank that Morro is showing plenty of ability. Jeff has had him working with Tom Patrick for several weeks and everyone knows Patrick is a socker and a very good boxer. According to Mike Gorman, who manages Patrick, Morro can take a punch and Gorman thinks that Morro is going to beat Emanuel.

The Emanuel-Morro fight will be supported by some good preliminaries. Tom Patrick meets Fred Cullen in the semi-wind-up. Patrick should beat Cullen. He is younger and has plenty on the ball. Patrick lacks aggressiveness for a fellow of his ability.

Pete Petecho fights Ora Smith in the six-round special. The four-rounders will be Morris Eagleson and Jack Tremaine, middleweights, in the second spot, and Al Hamilton and George Akis in the curtain raiser.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. (AP)—Coming from behind with a five-run rally in the eighth, the San Francisco Seals defeated the Sacramento Senators, 7-4, here today.

Errors by Ward and McLaughlin, a wild pitch by Thomas and five Seal hits, put the locals in the lead in the eighth for the first time, and they coasted through.

Osborn and Koehler of the Senators, each hit homers. It was a free-hitting affair, with Thomas yielding fourteen hits and Turpin of the Seals, thirteen. The score:

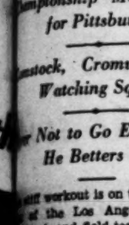
stiff workout is on tap for mem- of the Los Angeles Athletic track-and-field team at Bovard Field this afternoon. It is only a few short weeks before the local athletes leave for Pittsburgh to compete in the national championships August 23 and plenty of hard work remains to be done.



Boyd Comstock and Dean Cromwell, who are preparing Mercury forces for the Americ- championships as well as for international meet at Chicago gust 21, intend to put the watch some of their men this after- The chances are that after more work will be prescribed the team is not yet in shape to America's best at Pittsburgh to mention the combined Brit- Empire squad at Chicago.

Hester Dyer, sprinter, will be through a couple of dashes against Vic Williams, quarter- er, and Bob Maxwell, low dler. Williams is now in good shape seems to be running equally as if not better than he did in fast in May and June, when finished a bang-up second at Coolidge and Chidago in the col- ate championships. He beat 50 m a slow track last week.

Maxwell is training harder now than he ever did before and Com- stock plans to let him try his flat foot against Dyer today before he sends him over the 220-yard hurdle grind.

Fred Sturdy, pole vaulter and defending champion, has been handicapped by lack of practice but is regaining his strength by trying at the weights in the L.A.A.C. gymnasium. He faces real opposition at Pittsburgh in Tommy Warne of Northwestern, but should be clearing 13ft. 10in. in a few weeks' time.

Comstock feels sure that Herman Brix will better the world record of 52ft. 7 1-4in. in the shotput either at Pittsburgh or Chicago. Herm did 52ft. 7in. in his last meet, July 4 at Vancouver.

Griffith Bout With Heeney Postponed

NEW YORK, July 29. (AP)—A heavy rainstorm forced postponement of the Queensboro Stadium's boxing show, scheduled for tonight, until tomorrow night. Gerald (Tuffy) Griffith, Sioux City, Iowa, meets Tom Heeney.

Forecaster in Border Triumph

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) July 29. The last twenty yards of the mile and one-sixteenth journey saw Forecaster, 8-year-old gelding, flash to victory in the Miramar Claiming Handicap, featured number of the race program here. Forecaster was back in fourth position at the head of the stretch and went wide when rounding into the lane for home, but he came with a rush and under severe punishment caught Golden Glory in the last twenty yards to win by a length, drawing away.

Golden Glory, which set all the early pace, lasted to hold the place with the show going to Conciliation. Time for the distance was 1:47 2-5.

Apprentice Robert Bertachy was seriously injured in a spill which marked the first race of the afternoon. Bertachy was astride Hilo, the favorite. His mount, in fifth place, went down as the field rounded into the home stretch. Bertachy attempted to scramble toward the rail in safety, but a following horse knocked him to the track. He was removed to the track hospital and then to San Diego. He is reported suffering a crushed chest and other possible internal injuries.

Results:

GEORGE IN TEST WITH PLESTINA

Young Mat Star Faces Real Opponent in Marin

Dor. George, the Michigan mat wolverine, who will face his biggest test as a first-rater in the heavyweight division when he clashes with Marin Piestina, the 240-pound Jugo-Slav mat giant, in one of the matches of the all-star wrestling card scheduled for the Olympic next Wednesday night, is considered the greatest exponent of the split holds to be seen in action here.

George is rated as proficient with the leg-spreading grips as Ed Lewis is with the headlocks; Joe Stecher with the body scissors; Joe Malcewicz with the backward slam, and Everett Marshall with the airplane spin.

Although the flying head-scissors is known to be George's winning hold, he has begun using the splits, with various arm hold combinations, to pin his foes lately. His ability to hook his opponent from behind with the splits, has made this grip almost unbreakable after he has clamped it on. It accounted for his victory over Malcewicz here last week, and it paved the way for his wins over Dan Koloff, Stan Stasiak and Nick Lutze.

Nick Lutze will clash with "Wild Bill" Shaw, the fiery redhead from Salt Lake City, in the other finish bout, while Lee Wycoff, the toe-hold expert, clashes with Pietro Bacini, Italian champion, in the opener.

BY SOL METZGER

Here is Sweetser at the top of his backswing for the little plopped approach over a high bunker that makes the ball stop so quickly, even on a slight down slope. Note how he has pushed his arms well out from him, how straight is the left. Also note that his wrists are cocked a bit.

He is now in position to start the club down. No overswing is apparent, yet from this position one can swing with a great deal of force. His object here is to bring his club down and across the ball from outside the line of flight.

KAYO VICTORIES RAISE STANDING

the business against Victorio Campolo, the mauler of the Arfentine, in one of the big ball parks here this September.

Once past Campolo, a feat that should be ordinary for the youngster who knocked out Otto Von Porat and Scott in six minutes of fighting, Stribling can have the leading role in the third annual battle of the balmy breezes at Miami this winter, perhaps with Jack Sharkey again his opponent.

The third match promised him is against Schmeling in a title tilt for which the German already has signed with Madison Square Garden for the summer of 1931. "Pa" Stribling discussed the situation with Bruen over the trans-Atlantic phone from London last night.

The possibility of Stribling again tackling Sharkey seems remote, however, for rather knowing information at the Garden indicates the Boston sailor man, who outpointed Willie in the first struggle at Miami two years ago, has about decided he will retire unless given a return engagement with Schmeling.

Sharkey already has set a price of $100,000 on his services for a Campolo match this fall.

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

Stribling Again

IT would not surprise a large number of fight followers, especially those living in Macon, Chicago and London, if Stribling was the next challenger sent against Max Schmeling.

The Georgian has been one of the enigmas of sport. He looked to be on his way to a championship several years ago when he was barely 21. Then he slipped back about thirty kilometers after the Berlenbach affair. He came along once more two years ago and dropped a close decision to Jack Sharkey in a slow-going contest. That setback seemed to be the end.

But here he is back again in the front rank with two quick knockouts over Von Porat and Scott. Not that Von Porat and Scott are to be listed among the mighty of the world. But the former was well rated and it took an expert marksman to stop Scott without some mention of a foul.

Stribling, Campolo and Sharkey are now the three leading candidates for the Schmeling coronet. In one way or another they will be led into action and the survivor will get the next championship date. This will take care of a September show as well as another Florida winter party. And the promoting side has discovered that the presence of Stribling makes a big difference in Florida gat. receipts.

In his last few starts Stribling seems to have found the aggressiveness he needed to be a champion. If he can carry this element with him up the road, he will be the best man in the field. He has developed a smacking left hand and this linked to a dangerous right uppercut leaves him equipped with two guns. He has been a long time on the way, but there is a chance now that he has arrived. He has the stuff if he will only shoot it.

One of the Best

John DeWitt, one of Princeton's all-America members, who died on Monday, must be listed as one of the greatest of Nassau's football men. He was not only a fine guard but an able kicker and an able leader. It was his long place kick that beat Yale many years ago where the Blue looked to be an easy winner with only a few seconds left.

DeWitt was big, fast and aggressive. He could do more than a few things on a football field and do them well. The list of former gridiron notables is dwindling rapidly: Eckersall, Brinck Thorne—and now John DeWitt, all in a few months.

Another Notable

Reference to old-time football stars recalls a vast shadow that fell across the typewriter at Interlachen during the recent open golf championship. I looked up and there was Pudge Heffelfinger, still looking as if he could step into hard action tomorrow on any field. Pudge is still the first nominee for all-time, all-America guard. He was on Walter Camp's teams of '89, '90 and '91.

At the age of 50 he was still able to wreck a big Yale line, taking one side at a time, when he was brought back to coach. At the age of 51 he was still playing football and even then he was a little more than most of the professional talent could handle.

When Heff was 45, coaching the Yale line, he could come out from his guard position at much greater speed than any of the undergraduate stars could show. He was as quick as a big cat, with terrific strength in his arms and his legs.

He could have led the interference from a guard position on almost any team when he was 50 years of age. Those who used to wonder whether the old-timers had been overplayed admitted that if Pudge Heffelfinger was as good at 20 or 21 as he was at 45 that he belonged on top.

Truxton Hare of Pennsylvania is the other all-time guard linked up with Heffelfinger, which recalls the fact that Adam Walsh, coaching the Yale line, thinks young Hare is one of the greatest guards he has ever seen on a football field. He was not physically fit last fall, but he was a tornado as long as he could step around.

They Gave a New Thrill

THAT'S WHY THEY GOT THERE . . SO QUICKLY

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES

[NUMBER EIGHT]
RAMON NOVARRO

His Spanish forebears conquered Mexico . . . won the country in ten brief years. But Ramon alone conquered America, conquered Europe, and all points east . . . in scarcely more than a camera's flicker.

For Ramon gave the world a thrill!

And that's the tale of another young conqueror, OLD GOLD cigarettes. New England surrendered in just two months. "You win, OLD GOLD!" said the Middle West. From coast-to-coast the victory spread. And OLD GOLD in just one year became the country's fastest growing cigarette.

Because OLD GOLD, like Novarro, offered the world a brand new thrill. Finer tobaccos gave a mellower taste. Better tobaccos ended throat-scratch.

A MEXICAN REVOLUTION LEFT HIM BROKE. JUST A FEW YEARS LATER HE HAD A SIX-FIGURE SALARY AS ONE OF THE LEADING MOVIE STARS.

NATURE IS KIND TO NOVARROS AND OLD GOLDS THAT'S WHY THEY WIN... AND WIN SO EASILY

IN QUAINT SAN ANTONIO OLD GOLD APPEARED DECEMBER 1927. JUST TWO MONTHS LATER OLD GOLD WAS ONE OF THE FOUR BEST SELLERS THROUGHOUT THE LONE STAR STATE.

Deer Season will be Opened Next Friday

LOS ANGELES STAYS CLOSED

Hunters Plan Journeys to Ventura County

Local District Will Open Later in Year

Many Prizes Are Offered to Fast Nimrods

That local deer hunters are looking forward with as much enthusiasm as ever to the opening of the initial hunting season in California—the deer season in Districts 2, 2½, 3, next Friday morning, is the opinion of Pete Peterson, hunting authority for the B. H. Dyas Company Stores.

The sections to open take in a vast territory, extending south to include Ventura county, a part of Kern and Santa Barbara county and going north to take in Mendocino and Glenn. The districts extend eastward to about midway of the State.

For hunters to be sure they are hunting on open ground, it is advised to secure a card with the hunting laws and a map of the game districts from any sporting goods store or from the office of the State Fish and Game Commission.

The fact that the season opening will include the neighboring counties Santa Barbara and Ventura will no doubt appeal to locals. One thing they will have to remember, Los Angeles is in a closed district and should deer be bagged in Ventura or Santa Barbara or any other counties of the open district and the deer is to be removed to Los Angeles the deer tag, which all deer hunters must first purchase before going hunting, must be countersigned by an officer, notarized or sworn to on oath. All hunters who go deer hunting must have a hunting license to be issued by the State. These are likewise to be had at any sporting goods store or the office of the State Fish and Game Commission.

Many of the hunters will prefer some over the Ridge Route for their venison. This way leads to Ojai Valley and other places ideal for deer hunting in former seasons. From this point such places as Frazier Tavern, Alamo Pines and Pine mountains are easy to reach.

The season on deer in Los Angeles county, as well as other counties in Southern California and the high Sierras, clear to the Oregon border will open on September 15. Four districts are known as Districts No. 1, 1½, 4, 4½ and 4½.

To create a little enthusiasm and competition on the side for the many deer hunters in the State, the Dyas company will place up a sporting type Savage rifle for the hunter who registers in person at Dyas downtown store the heaviest deer killed in the State, any district, this year.

Dyas' have placed up such trophies in former seasons and the competition has always been keen, some seasons finding as many as 500 hunters registering, hailing from any parts of the State.

To further boost the game, Dyas will have a merchandise trophy up for the first hunter to register a deer (any weight.) All registrations must be made at the Log Cabin information bureau at the downtown store.

There are two game refuges in District No. 3 where no hunting will be permitted during the open season. The boundary lines are easily located. Refuge No. 3-C is bounded principally by the Sespe and Manzana rivers. Refuge No. 3-D is comprised of the water shed at the Sespe River.

DEER HUNTERS WARNED

With the opening of the deer season Friday, August 1, sportsmen who plan to hunt on government land within the national forests are warned by Regional Forester S. B. Show of the United States Forest Service to use every precaution to prevent the starting of fires through carelessness with burning matches, cigarettes, cigars, pipe heels aned camp fires. National forest fire regulations require that each automobile or pack train party carry a shovel with a thirty-six-inch handle and blade eight inches wide, and an ax weighing two pounds or over with a twenty-six-inch handle. Camp fire permits are also required in all Federal forests, and smoking is prohibited except in camp, at places of habitation and in special areas posted with signs reading "Smoke Here." In most of the national forests hunters will be checked in by special Forest Service officers.

Diegel Faces Armour Today

ANCASHER (Ont.) July 29. (AP)—Tommy Armour of Detroit and Leo Diegel, pro at the Agua Caliente Club, play thirty-six holes of golf over the Mailton Country Club course tomorrow to decide which shall wear the Canadian open crown for the next year.

Armour and Diegel tied for the lead at 277 at the end of seventy - two-hole competition last Saturday and the play-off was set for Wednesday. It will be medal, or stroke play.

Diegel ruled the favorite to win the title for the second straight year and the fifth time since 1924. He played consistent golf through all four rounds of the championship proper last week while Armour needed an amazing 64 on his fourth round, two strokes under the course record and six under par, to tie the Agua Caliente pro for the lead.

CHAMP'S SPEED RUINS FILIPINO

a dazzling clip, but Dado managed to hold his own for a round.

He fought cooly and calmly, but in the second round he was unable to match Wolgast's terrific speed of hands and head and feet, and the boy from New York won with a barrage of lefts to body and face.

In the third Dado lost his collected air, and began to look worried after being stung with stiff left-hand smacks to the stomach. A ripping right to the chin also failed to engender any enthusiasm.

MACHINE GUNNERY

Dado landed about two blows in this round, while Wolgast was piling in shots like a machine gun. Every time he sent a left to the stomach he dispatched a blow to the head with the same hand.

His speed was almost unbelievable.

Jesus Cortez, handling Dado in his corner, walked over to Referee Jack Kennedy at the end of the third round, but, before he could deliver his message of an injured shoulder the bell rang for the next round.

The intermission brought Dr. Mace's examination and saw Dado slump to the floor in pain as his shoulder muscles were kneaded.

This is the second time that Dado has suffered a similar experience in local rings, two years ago he was forced to submit to a technical knockout at the hands of Newsboy Brown because of the same shoulder.

HUGE ATTENDANCE

The bout was witnessed by one of the largest crowds in weeks, approximately 6500 persons attending. The gallery was packed to the guards.

The semi-wind-up brought a victory for Rito Punay over Red Stephens in six rounds, Jimmy Mack defeated Charley Kaiser by a six-round rally in a fast bout, Billy Wagner and Stutts Houck fought to a four-round draw and Pete Darcy won from Art Williams by a technical knockout in the third round.

SERAPHS RALLY TO ANNEX TILT

Three Runs in Seventh, Two in Eighth Cinch Win

lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh, but he was credited with the victory, his fourteenth of the season. Win Ballou blanked the Acorns in the last two rounds, experiencing trouble in the eighth, but finishing in a blaze of glory by whiffing the side in the ninth.

Pete Daglia and Carroll Yerkes are expected to be the opposing pitchers in tonight's affair.

Johnny Moore and Ed Baecht led the Angel attack with two hits each. One of Moore's hits was a home run, his third of the night ball games at Wrigley Field, and the other a single that drove in a run that tied the score. It was a double by Wes Schulmerich, however, that scored Moore with what proved to be the winning run in the seventh.

Baecht experienced but one bad inning, the third, during which triples by Uhalt and Martin produced the two earned Oakland runs. The other Acorn tally resulted from an error by Jay Jacobs.

All of the Angel runs off Henderson were earned, the Oakland speed-ball chucker spoiling his performance of seven strikeouts by walking six and hitting two Angels.

Moore put the Angels off in front in the first, when he slapped Henderson's first pitch to him over the right-field screen for the circuit. The Oaks had threatened in their half of the first but a sensational shoe-string catch of Vergez's line drive by Dittmar resulted in a double-play that rather crippled the Oakland rally. At that the Acorns filled the bases after the twin killing but weren't able to score.

In the third inning the visitors pushed over two runs with the aid of a couple of triples and a single. Uhalt led off with a drive to center that went for three bases, when the ball hit a sprinkler and bounced over Stats's head. Martin followed with a triple down into the left-field corner, the ball eluding Moore, and Uhalt counted. After Verges had been thrown out, Arlett singled to right to bring Martin home.

SERAPHS SCORE THREE

Lelivelt lifted Hannah and Baecht in the Angel seventh to let George Harper and Art Parker bat for them. Both pinch hitters worked Henderson for walks to start a lot of excitement. Sigafoos bunted the runners along and then Henderson uncorked a wild pitch to score Harper and move Parker to third. Moore followed the wild pitch with a single to center and Parker trotted over the plate with the tying run. After Dittmar was down on strikes, Schulmerich blasted one off the top of the center field brick wall for a double and Moore beat the relay to the plate to put the Angels in front. Schulmerich went to third when Deviveros's throw home got by Read, but died there when Jacobs arched to Uhalt.

With Ballou pitching, the Oaks threatened in the eighth and managed to work the tying and winning runs to second and third after two were out, but Jacobs scooped up Pinch-Hitter Mellana's grounder and beat him to the bag for the third out.

Haney's double to center, Stats's triple to right center past Mellana's ear and Sigafoos's sacrifice fly to Arlett gave the Cherubs their other two runs in the eighth.

Ballou fanned Read, Pinch-Hitter Griffin and Uhalt in the ninth to end the contest. Score:
